TRY TO HALT FLOOD AID

Imperial Water Chiefs Confer

Irrigation District Directors Seek to Block Request in Congress for Levees

Action Comes as Prelude to Development Association Conference Today

EL CENTRO, Nov. 26. (Exclusive)—Directors of the Imperial Irrigation District will resist any effort on the part of the California Development Association to obtain a flood-control appropriation at the December session of Congress. This became apparent today when the irrigation board called a group of leading bankers and business men in Imperial Valley together at a hastily arranged meeting and told them that Imperial Valley does not need any additional levees and that a request to Congress for an emergency appropriation will delay favorable action on the Swing-Johnson bill.

Today's meeting was arranged, it was stated, by the irrigation district offices, because the directors believed they would not get a fair hearing before the development association board, which holds its monthly session in El Centro tomorrow and which has announced that it will discuss the matter of flood control for Imperial Valley.

COUNTER-MOVE

Frank McKee, manager of the Southern California district for the association, was in the valley early this week to arrange for the meeting here, and issued an invitation to the presidents of the valley chambers of commerce, the bankers' association and other local organizations to attend.

Directors of the irrigation district expressed resentment when only one of their number was invited to the meeting, and have threatened to attend in a body, accompanied by their attorney and engineer.

Today's meeting was interpreted locally as an effort on the part of the directors to forestall any move by Imperial Valley citizens to gain the development association's support for an emergency appropriation at tomorrow's session.

That this maneuver on the part of the irrigation district directors does not meet with the approval of property owners in Imperial Valley, was evident from the discussion following the presentation of the district's report today by M. J. Dowd, acting engineer.

As a result of breaks in the levee during the comparatively low flood stage last June, Imperial Valley is much disturbed over the river situation and according to C. W. Brockman and other prominent ranchers, will welcome any assistance given by the Development Association in procuring flood control measures.

Reports are expected at tomorrow's

Change in King's Title Will Not Affect Ulster

LONDON, Nov. 26. (AP)—Official assurance to Ulster that the change in the King's title proposed by the imperial conference will not affect the constitutional position of Northern Ireland was given in a statement yesterday by Sir William Joynson-Hicks, the Home Secretary.

He explained that the title was descriptive of the geographical and not the political lines of the territories of which His Majesty is King, and that the term "Ireland" is to be construed in that sense.

All suggestions that the proposed title gave the Irish Free State authority to act for the whole of Ireland were groundless, he added.

Coach Rockne Served With Notice of $50,000 Suit by Woman He Doesn't Know

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Knute Rockne, coach of the Notre Dame football team, in Chicago today to schedule games for next fall with teams in the Western Conference, was surprised with notice of a suit for $50,000, brought by Anna Brennan.

Declaring he had no knowledge of any basis for a suit, and never heard of the woman before, Rockne called on her lawyer, Francis J. Callahan, and later asserted that the suit had been withdrawn.

The action filed today was a praecipe, a formal notice of action in a suit, and the nature of it would not be disclosed by Mr. Callahan. Other than to say his client was a resident of Chicago, Mr. Callahan would not discuss the details of the action. He said he had talked with Rockne and was trying to get in touch with his client again.

Reports from South Bend, Rockne's home, said that the suit was a complete surprise and Anna Brennan was unknown there.

"I never heard of her before," said Rockne, "and I have no idea what it's all about."

Norway Favors Moderation in Curb on Liquor

OSLO (Norway) Nov. 26. (AP)—The governmental committee's report on the prohibition plebiscite states that the outcome of the plebiscite indicates the feeling among the people of Norway in favor of not too great restrictions on moderate liquor consumption. It finds that the Swedish restrictive system is not suitable for Norway, but recommends a card system, whereby cards for the purchase of liquor will be issued to all law-abiding citizens above the age of twenty-one.

It is understood that the government's new liquor-traffic bill will be introduced in the Storting in January.

Seas Full of Turtles Fill Path of Ship

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Reporting that the vessel literally had sailed through seas of turtles off the Lower California coast, the steamer Tuscaloosa City arrived here today from New York and Baltimore. Capt. Phelan said that as far as the eye could reach the sea was dotted with turtles.

"There were enough in that gigantic school," he said, "to keep a turtle-soup factory working to capacity for a year."

DAWES TERSE IN DEDICATION

Vice President's Address at Chicago Memorial Stadium Opening Brief But Eloquent

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—With an address shorter than Lincoln's at Gettysburg, Charles G. Dawes, Vice-President of the United States, today dedicated Soldiers' Field Stadium to the memory of Chicago's World War dead.

Containing only 301 words, the Vice-President's message was heard by 75,000 persons massed in the stands for the ceremonies of dedication.

While 3000 cadets and midshipmen stood ranked at attention in front of the reviewing stand, officials of city, State and nation participated in the formal commitment of the $10,000,000 edifice to the city of Chicago as a monument to its heroes.

The Vice-President said:

"We meet to dedicate this great stadium to the memory of the soldiers of our wars who made the supreme sacrifice for our country. No comment of mine can adequately translate into words our gratitude to them who have given us freedom and this government under law with its blessings of peace and happiness.

"When through the years the nation for its preservation was confronted with war, it asked and received the sacrifice of the flower of its youth for the common good. It was the young who fought its battles.

"Dedicated, when they entered the war, to silent and complete obedience to orders which meant certain death—inarticulate in their serried columns of battle, these young men—now dead—speak to us at last but one message upon this occasion: To preserve unsullied what they gave us—to think in these careless days of the awful cost of that liberty we so often abuse—to form within our own souls in this time of peace which has come to us the firm determination to maintain our Constitution and our constitutional institutions, that their blessings enjoyed by us may be transmitted to our children and our children's children."

COLD KILLS SOLDIER AT EXERCISES

Severe Weather Cause of Four Others Collapsing at Chicago Ceremony

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (Exclusive)—Pitiless weather — rain, sleet, snow, whipping winds and freezing temperatures—caused one fatality among military visitors who participated in the dedicatory exercises of Soldier's Field here today, and also caused the collapse of several midshipmen.

Maj. Deshler Whiting, U.S.A. retired, commander of the R.O.T.C., Dallas, Tex., died from heart disease said to have been superinduced by the extreme weather, while riding atop a Michigan-avenue bus from Soldier's Field to his hotel. Maj. Whiting was 46 years of age.

While standing in the huge stadium at attention during the dedicatory speech by Vice-President Dawes four midshipmen were rendered unconscious by the cold and were assisted off the field by their comrades and taken to their hotels.

FIND NEW CARMEL WITNESS

Hahn, at San Diego, Tells of Uncovering More Evidence for McPherson Trial

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 26. (Exclusive)—That he has in San Diego two important witnesses against Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, who with her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, and Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman Seifaff is awaiting trial on charges of conspiracy, and that one of these witnesses will testify that for nine days he was in constant communication at Carmel-by-the-Sea with Mrs. McPherson and Kenneth G. Ormiston, was announced last night by S. S. Hahn, attorney for Mrs. Seifaff, who is in San Diego for a few days on business connected with his office.

Attorney Hahn has brought suit for slander against Mrs. McPherson in sum of $1,000,000, which is asked as damages by Mrs. Virla Kimball, whom Mrs. McPherson is asserted to have named as Ormiston's companion at Carmel-by-the-Sea cottage and as attorney for Mrs. Seifaff he has been active in the case against Mrs. McPherson.

"This one witness whom I have called important," Hahn said last evening, "will remove any doubt that may exist concerning the presence of Mrs. McPherson and Ormiston at Carmel-by-the-Sea. Not only will he testify that he saw them both for nine days, but he will also state that he was brought from San Diego to Carmel by Ormiston on business matters, that he saw Mrs. McPherson there on a number of occasions, that Ormiston sent him from Carmel to Los Angeles on business and that when he returned to Carmel he saw Mrs. McPherson at the cottage again.

"While the prosecution, including myself, believes that the proofs of Mrs. McPherson's having been at Carmel are unassailable, my new witness from San Diego will place the stamp of positive identification upon the State's contentions.

"Mrs. McPherson will be in my office on December 4 to make certain depositions, and at that time, I will question her at length with regard to the testimony of my two witnesses from San Diego and especially with regard to the one who will swear that he went to Carmel at Ormiston's request and that he transacted business there with Ormiston and Mrs. McPherson."

Questioned concerning Mrs. Seifaff,

INCH OF RAIN VISITS CITY

Doubles Fall to Date of 1925

Torrential Downpour Turns to Snow in Mountains; Storm to Continue

Traffic Tied Up and Heavy Damage Done in Many Los Angeles Areas

Intermittent showers which grew in frequency and intensity after nightfall yesterday brought this season's total rainfall ahead of the normal total for this time of the year by a substantial margin. Yesterday's storm was featured by heavy downpours in the mountain district, which in places assumed torrential proportions.

In Los Angeles the precipitation up to midnight measured 1.07 inches, unofficial readings. This brought the season's total to 3.45 inches, as compared to 1.42 inches for this time last year. The normal precipitation for this season is only 2.09.

The rain turned to snow in the higher mountain altitudes. Kaiser Pass back of Huntington Lake was under four feet of snow yesterday afternoon.

Serious flood conditions existed intermittently yesterday afternoon and evening in the vicinity of Wilshire Boulevard and Mariposa street. Swirling waters broke through pavements to rush into an overfilled storm drain. Stores in the path of the muddy torrent were barricaded with sandbags. Dozens of automobiles were stalled in the course of the evening, while pedestrians found it impossible to progress on sidewalks, which had become veritable watercourses.

Flood waters gathering at Fifth and Catalina streets gained volume as they flowed south to Sixth street, turned and rushed with increasing impetus four blocks west to Sixth and Mariposa streets.

Here the flood waters turned again to flow south on Mariposa one block to Wilshire, where they rushed into a pit of increasing diameter which had broken through to a storm drain. Part of the torrent gathered at the intersection of Wilshire and Mariposa causing serious traffic congestion.

Various other districts of the city were flooded and traffic of all kinds impeded.

During the heaviest of the rain along the beaches a light pole at Del Rey below Venice broke off and fell, cutting the circuit. As a result about 4000 lights in Venice were out of commission for half an hour before repairs could be made.

EAGLE ROCK FLOODED

Reports that several families were marooned in their homes by a torrent of rushing water which came pouring down through Eagle Rock were investigated by police, but were found to be greatly exaggerated. A new storm drain is under construction in the 2700 block on Rock Glen street, Eagle Rock, and present facilities were inadequate to carry off the rush of water, but the rain subsided within scarcely an inch of the danger point. Panic-stricken residents, fearing that it would overflow, sent calls after call into police headquarters for assistance.

One call for help was found by police to have been sent in by Ward Stanford, an aged blind man, living at 5129 1-2 Alamaden Drive. It was found that the water had entered the rear of his home, but it was receding when the police reached the scene. He begged to be taken to a place of safety, but was calmed by their assurance that there was no danger.

REMAIN ON WATCH

Virtually every resident of these districts, however, remained on watch most of the night in fear of another cloudburst. A few had sandbags in readiness to protect their homes if it became necessary.

Southern California Edison Company officials stated also that their reports show a total rainfall two or three times larger than the average for the past ten years at this time.

Further rains may be forthcoming today, the Weather Bureau reported. The forecast is mostly cloudy and possible showers for today.

The storm centers off the Oregon coast and is moving gradually south, it was stated. San Diego received no rain yesterday but received its quota earlier in the storm period.

HEAVY IN MOUNTAINS

Reports to County Flood Control Engineer Reagan's office indicated the rainfall in the mountain districts was unusually heavy beginning late in the afternoon. Dillon's ranch, four miles up Pacoima Canyon, reported

ARMY-NAVY GAME BROADCAST TODAY

The annual football classic between Army and Navy to be played in Chicago today will be broadcast from The Times radio station, KHJ. Associated Press wires will bring the game play by play direct from the gridiron in Chicago, and there will not be an instant's delay in transmitting the action to listeners-in. The colorful service clash, which will be of particular interest to men of the battle fleet stationed in the harbor, is scheduled to start at 2 o'clock Central time, or 12 o'clock noon Pacific time.

RESCUERS DEFEATED BY STORM

Effort to Recover Victims in Oakland Tunnel Fails; Floods Peril Others

OAKLAND, Nov. 26. (AP)—A steam shovel which was being hauled to the Claremont tunnel in Contra Costa county, to aid in bringing out the bodies of ten men who were trapped by a flood in the tunnel yesterday, mired down in the mud near the scene today. It could not be moved after several hours of work.

Dynamiting of a hillock near the tunnel to aid in draining the water in the bore proved unsuccessful, and an embankment made of sacks of earth was being built to cut off the tunnel from San Pablo Creek, in which the flood originated. It is hoped to pump out the water through the shaft of the tunnel, and two powerful pumps were installed and put into operation as soon as the weather permitted.

There is no hope of bringing out the men alive, as there is no place in the tunnel where the men could have sought refuge, and the flood waters reach nearly to the top of the bore.

The threat of a second flood with the heavy rains of today caused the calling off the crew working in the Lafayette tunnel, across the creek from the Claremont tunnel. The waters had reached to within a few inches of the opening of the Lafayette bore, threatening a score or more of sappers within. The contractors, fearing a second disaster, removed the workers to safer jobs.

EIGHTY DEAD IN STORMS

Six States Feel Tornadoes

Arkansas Greatest Sufferer as Forty-six Perish in Sweep of Twisters

Red Cross, Other Agencies Rush to Rescue in South Following Disaster

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Nov. 26. (AP)—Eighty persons were known to be dead tonight from the violence of tornadoes which struck in six Southern and Southwestern States late yesterday and today.

Arkansas paid the gravest penalty with forty-six killed by the winds in twelve or more widely separated communities. Heber Springs lost twenty-one citizens when the twisting storm struck that Ozark foothills town early last night. Moscow, near Pine Bluff, counted ten dead and other fatalities were reported from remote settlements in seven counties.

Louisiana counted sixteen dead, eleven at Mer Rouge and five in or about Haynesville, Claiborne Parish.

Ten negroes died as a result of the gale's fury in Mississippi. Nine of the victims were killed outright on plantations around Marks, north of Clarksdale, while another died later today. The snow swooped down on the negro quarters shortly after midnight.

In Missouri tonight's fatalities stood at four, three having perished at Brandsville, Howell county, and one at Competition, Laclede county. Reports of the death of a schoolteacher at Big Piney proved erroneous.

The winds killed three today when they fell with twisting fury on a group of homes near Winfield, Ala. Another was believed fatally hurt by the tornado which demolished more than a score of homes and killed 100 cattle.

REACHES TEXAS

One died in West Texas when a sandstorm caused great property losses in Lubbock county.

Heber Springs suffered most. Half of the town was left in ruins, and about the town more than twenty persons were killed and fifty injured. Quitman, Greenbrier, Guy, Pearson, Wilburn, Enders, and Tyler, suburbs of Heber Springs, were among the villages which paid in life and property the storm's price.

Brandsville, Competition and Big Piney bore the brunt of the wind's whirl into Missouri, while in Arkansas, Conway, Grant, Cleburn, Jackson, Jefferson and Yell counties paid a death toll.

The oil and gas fields in Claiborne and Moorehouse parishes and farming sections about Mer Rouge and Haynesville were hardest hit in Louisiana. In Mississippi plantations were damaged near Marks, in Quitman county.

Early today the storm passed into Tennessee and disappeared after causing minor property damage about the town of Smyrna.

LIFE LOSS MOUNTS

Fifty were injured, some perhaps fatally, at Heber Springs, ten are dead and forty injured at Moscow in Jefferson county. Conway county reported eight dead at Oppelo, Choctaw and Macedonia. Two were killed in the vicinity of Newport, and one man was crushed to death at Sheridan. Other counties reported property damage and injuries but no loss of life. The dead and injured at Moscow mostly are negroes.

Relief measures have been undertaken by the American Red Cross and surveys were being made tonight to determine the amount of aid needed from State sources. C. W. Jackson was sent today from the St. Louis headquarters of the Red Cross to estab-

STATE TO GET MORE RAIN

Continuance of Widespread Storm Tomorrow Seen; Damage Extensive in Central Counties

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26. (AP)—As a part of a storm extending from Hawaii east to Nevada and Idaho and from the Aleutian Islands south to Southern California, rain swept most of California again today, carrying with it both benefit and destruction. The precipitation ranged from a heavy downpour in some sections to only a trace in others.

The Weather Bureau tonight forecast that the rain will continue through tomorrow and possibly Sunday. The storm centered tonight off the Washington-Oregon Coast.

Washed-out bridges and blocked roads, through landslides and washouts, were among the principal destructive features of the storm in the rural sections, while flooded streets and basements choked sewers, torn up pavements and disrupted vehicular traffic were the marks it left in the cities.

WATER HELD BY SNOW

One of the outstanding benefits of the generous rain, which has established new rainfall figures for November in many sections, is the prospect of an abundance of irrigation water next year. Heavy snows have fallen above the 5000 foot elevation in all mountains of Northern California. In Central California the streams have shown a large decrease in runoff, indicating that cold weather is holding back the water in a blanket of snow and sleet in the higher mountain ranges. Farmers of the San Joaquin Valley expressed a hope that the apparent heavy snow will result in a restoration of ground water levels, heavily depleted by pumping during the last three years.

San Luis Obispo, with 2.20 inches, registered the heaviest rainfall during the last twenty-four hours. The downpour brought the seasonal total there to 8.18 inches, which is 4.90 above normal.

The storm in San Francisco was followed tonight by a display of lightning. Precipitation here amounted to 1.08 inches.

LAND SWEPT BY OIL
FIRE NOW UNDER WATER

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Land which seven months ago was swept with a devastating flow of burning oil from the Union Oil Company tank farm, three and a half miles south of here, tonight was buried under a swift stream of muddy water roaring down off the mountains as a result of recent heavy rains. The black limbs of trees killed by the oil fire were the only objects that remained above the level of the murky deluge.

The effects of the storm was felt throughout the district. Stores were

OIL TRIAL HITS SNAG

Ruling on Vital Point Delayed

Admissibility of Testimony by Doheny Before Committee of Senate Argued

Lawyers in Heavy Barrage of Oratorical Broadsides; Decision Due Monday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—Heavy siege oratory on the Fall-Doheny oil conspiracy trial today tied the proceeding into a constitutional knot, the outcome of which still was in doubt when court recessed until Monday.

While witnesses waited, and with jury excluded, the opposing batteries of large-caliber legal talent poured an incessant fire of argument upon a constitutional salient regarded as vital by both sides. The focal point of the broadsides was the question of the admissibility in evidence of the testimony given before the Senate Oil Investigating Committee in 1923-24 by Edward L. Doheny. Included in this testimony is Doheny's own story of how he advanced $100,000 to Albert B. Fall, co-defendant, while the latter was Secretary of the Interior.

FIRST TIME UP

Before the day was over the hostilities had spread along the whole legal front, with defense attorneys accusing the prosecution of disregarding the rules of evidence and presenting its case in improper sequence. But the question of admitting Doheny's Senate committee testimony remained throughout the key salient. The question never before has been presented for adjudication in a Federal court.

Doheny and Fall are on trial for criminal conspiracy in connection with the leasing of the Elk Hills (California) naval oil reserves to Doheny's Pan American Petroleum and Transport Company, while Fall was Secretary of the Interior.

In their opening statements government counsel dwelt at length upon a $100,000 cash transaction between Doheny and Fall during the period of the asserted conspiracy, January 1, 1921, and December 11, 1922.

DOHENY'S STORY TOLD

Doheny appeared before the Senate committee January 24, 1924, and told freely of having arranged to transfer $100,000 to Fall in 1921.

The government wishes to incorporate this testimony into the trial record, but the defense objects on the ground that such procedure constitutes compulsory testimony of the defendant against himself, an action specifically prohibited by the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution.

The government presses for the admission because it has not the right, under the rules of evidence, to summon the defendants to the stand in the present trial.

Initial plans of the prosecutors contemplated placing the $100,000 transaction before the jury through a reading of the Senate testimony. This has been temporarily blocked and if they have other possible avenues of presenting this phase of the case they have not been revealed.

Justice Hoehling, in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, will rule on the point Monday.

APPEARED VOLUNTARILY

Owen J. Roberts, arguing for the government today, built its case for the admissibility of the Doheny testimony on these points:

That Doheny appeared before the Senate committee a second time voluntarily "to tell the whole world about his transaction with Fall," and that such action could in no sense be construed as testimony adduced by compulsion against the interest of the defendant.

That Doheny further waived constitutional exemption when he neglected to claim the privilege in his testimony before the Senate investigators.

That the Senate record constitutes a credible public document, which should be available for the consideration of the jury.

That constitutional exemption from self-damaging testimony extends only to testimony obtained by compulsion.

NOT COMPULSORY

That Doheny's action in requesting the right to appear before the committee the second time, after having appeared once in response to a summons, removed all suggestion of compulsion and branded the testimony regarding the $100,000 transaction as wholly voluntary.

The defense argument, presented by Frank J. Hogan, Wilton J. Lambert and Levi Cooke, were:

That the statutes covering testimony before Congressional committees specifically interdict the use of such testimony in subsequent criminal proceedings, save in action on asserted perjury in the testimony itself.

That testimony before such a committee is not evidence in the legal sense of the term, in that it is not adduced under the legal rules of evidence as set down for courts of law.

That to admit Doheny's testimony would be to tie the hands of all future Congressional investigating committees, since there then would be no question that constitutional exemption against compulsory testimony involving self-interest extended to such Congressional proceedings.

LINK APPEARANCES

That the Senate record covering Doheny's second appearance begins with the caption, "Mr. Doheny's testimony resumed," connecting the second appearance directly with the first, which was under summons, and making the whole of his Senate story one in the eyes of the law.

Previous efforts by the prosecution to introduce matter from the Senate investigation, through the testimony of members of the Senate committee, failed when the court ruled that the stenographic record of that proceeding the "best evidence" of what was there revealed. Monday's ruling will admit or exclude the stenographic record.

In reply to the claim of Mr. Hogan, that the prosecution sought to present circumstantial evidence of conspiracy before conspiracy itself had been established by testimony to at least one overt act in furtherance thereof, Roberts said government counsel planned so far as possible to present its material in strict chronological sequence, but that the bulk of the testimony and the long record behind the present trial made a simple logical presentation of facts on all points difficult if not at times impossible.

ATTACK REPORTS SCOUTED IN JAPAN

TOKIO, Nov. 26. (Exclusive)—"Astounding news for Newcastle if it were true," is the comment of a high official of the Japanese War Office upon lengthy Washington dispatches giving details of the Doheny oil lease defense in which it is asserted that Japan in December, 1921, ordered mobilization for attack upon Hawaii and the Philippines.

"There certainly is not a scintilla of truth in it as not only the War Department of Japan but the whole world knows," this official said.

Angeleno Visitor in Bay City Calls in Police on Fruitless Search

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Mrs. Joseph Ferguson, a visitor from Los Angeles at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Michael, telephoned the police yesterday that her jewels, valued at $5000, had been stolen during a Thanksgiving party in the Michael home. Two police detectives searched the house thoroughly.

An hour later Mrs. Ferguson telephoned the police that she had put the jewels away in a hiding-place herself, had "forgotten all about it" and had recovered them from the identical spot where she had hidden them.

OIL TRIAL JURY MAIL DELETED

Fear of Homesickness and Distraction, from Case Cause of Action

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. (AP) The jurors in the Fall-Doheny conspiracy trial have lost another contact with the outside world. They will not even know many intimate details of their homes and families, as the result of a censorship on their mail.

From the outset of the trial the jury has been under guard, sleeping and eating in a Courthouse dormitory, no one being allowed to visit or converse with them. The censorship now bans "sympathetic" letters from wives and relatives which might, court officials hold, distract their attention from the trial.

Expressions like "little Mary is crying for you" and "it is a darned shame to make you endure such hardships" will be deleted from the letters.

Virginia to Colon Trip Finished

Crew Cheered as PN-10 No. 2 Completes Hop After Delay at Isle of Pines

Shortage of Lubricating Oil Blamed for Single Halt in Navy Test Flight

COLON (Panama) Nov. 26. (AP)—The United States naval plane PN-10 No. 2 arrived at the Coco Solo station here about 5:30 o'clock this evening from the Isle of Pines. Lieutenant-Commander Bartlett, pilot, and the members of the crew were given an ovation when they landed.

Commander Bartlett announced that the flight proved the feasibility of getting planes from the United States to the Canal Zone quickly under all conditions. He said he would have made the destination without difficulty only for a shortage of lubricating oil while over the Isle of Pines, which compelled him to stop there. The plane was attempting a nonstop flight from Norfolk, Va., to Colon.

Commander Bartlett's crew was made up of Lieut. H. G. Rodd and C. H. Schildauer, and Machinist's Mate Charles J. Sutter.

OIL CONSUMPTION ASSERTED TOO HIGH

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—The PN-10 No. 2, piloted by Lieutenant-Commander H. T. Bartlett, arrived at Colon, Pan., at 5:30 p.m., today, completing a hop of 875 miles from Cape Francis, Isle of Pines.

Commander Bartlett reported to the Navy Department that "everything functioned well from Norfolk to Panama, except that lubricating oil consumption was too high," and that the radio was "exceptional."

This was the first official report on the behavior of the two PN-10 planes since they left Norfolk, Va., Tuesday afternoon on an attempted nonstop flight to Colon to try for a new distance record for this type of seaplane and to demonstrate its scouting ability. Both machines came to grief, however, the PN-10 No. 2 after exhausting its oil, and the PN-10 No. 1 after breaking a connecting rod on its starboard engine.

Upon request from Lieut. B. J. Connell, commander of the PN-10 No. 1, for a new motor to replace the one which broke down in the Caribbean, Admiral R. W. Eberle, chief of naval operations, directed today that an engine from the naval aircraft factory, Philadelphia, be shipped on the navy cargo carrier Vega to Connell at Guantanamo. The Vega will depart from Norfolk Monday, arriving at Guantanamo, December 2.

Admiral Eberle said the plane will be transported to San Diego, Cal.

The PN-10 No. 2 hopped off at 6:38 this morning from St. Francis, western tip of the Isle of Pines, on which it went down Wednesday morning, and completed the hop to the Coco Sola naval air station in Panama in ten hours and thirty-three minutes, averaging 73.6 knots an hour.

Admiral Eberle said tonight that he was "much gratified that the men showed so much nerve in desiring to continue the flight after having been down once." Other officials and officers of the Navy Department were liberal in their praise of the flyers.

It was pointed out tonight that Lieut. Connell, commander of the PN-10 No. 1, in flying 1448 miles before dropping into the Caribbean with a broken oil feed pipe established the second longest nonstop record for United States Navy seaplanes. The late Commander John Rodgers flew 1841 miles on his Hawaii flight, while Capt. Albert C. Reid traversed 1380 miles in the NC-4 on its trans-Atlantic jaunt in 1919.

PART OF SHORTAGE SPENT ON DIVORCEE

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (Exclusive)—Investigators from the State's Attorney's office announced last night that they had learned that a large part of a $200,000 shortage in the accounts of Albert J. Gallistel, former secretary of the Friendship Building and Loan Association, went to buy things that pleased a young woman with whom he is said to have conducted a love affair. Mrs. Dolly Imber, a divorcee, admitted that he had spent many thousands of dollars on her in the past few years.

VICTIM OF "MURDERERS" ALIVE AS TWO FACE TRIAL FOR "DEATH"

LONDON (Ont.) Nov. 26. (AP)—A supposedly murdered man is alive and well at the home of his parents in Chatham, while two men are on bail and awaiting trial for the killing at Pineville, Ky.

The man presumed to have been slain is James Eads. Dillar Wilson and Colsom Howard are under indictment.

Eads disappeared from Pineville shortly before Christmas, 1925, and later a skeleton, partially identified as his, was found in a near-by creek. While the father of Eads was aiding the police of Pineville in an endeavor to run down the asserted slayers, the son had made his way across the Atlantic in the crew of a Norwegian freight steamer and joined the Spanish Foreign Legion for the warfare in Morocco against Abd-el-Krim, the Riffian war lord.

Eads after leaving Morocco went to France and remained there some time before returning to Canada by way of New York. He said he knew nothing of his supposed murder and was much surprised to learn of his father's search for his body after he disappeared from Pineville.

CITY RAINFALL REACHES INCH

2 inches for the storm, making 4.50 inches for the season, with the rainfall increasing last night. Valley Forge, on the West Fork of the San Gabriel River reported 3.38 inches for the storm, 6.38 for the season, and raining very hard when the report was turned in. The San Gabriel River power house reported 1.50 inches for the storm, with sixty second feet flowing in the river.

Alta Canada had 1.70 inches for the storm, 4.66 inches for the season, compared to 2.91 last season to date.

At the Big Santa Anita flood control dam now under construction the water stood sixty feet deep and at 8 p.m. had just begun to pour through the twenty-inch outlet pipe. The top of the dam is 115 feet above the outlet pipe.

At Huntington Lake the Edison company reported 6.6 inches of rain had fallen by late afternoon. The storm gave no indication of abating. In that district 8.1 inches of rain have already fallen this season.

TORRENT AT AZUSA

From the Kern River district east of Bakersfield a rainfall of 3.5 inches was reported for the storm and 9.8 inches for the season to date, with no slackening in the downpour perceptible.

East of Visalia, in the Kaweah River territory, the downpour during the storm period set the fall for the season at 5.75 inches, and the station at Lytle Creek, near San Bernardino, reported 3.44 inches for the season.

Azusa reported a downpour in excess of 3 inches for the storm and a total rainfall of 3.38 inches for the season. The average rainfall so far this season in the high Sierras has been close to 7 inches, Edison company executives stated.

Bakersfield received .28 of an inch, bringing to season's total to .89 of an inch.

Torrential rains fell at Delano. There the season's total stood at 2.89 inches to set the highest record in the county for the year.

TRACKS TORN OUT

Cloudburst waters, sweeping down from the Jasmine foothills for the third time this year, tore out a portion of the Southern Pacific Company's main line to Porterville at a point approximately twelve miles from Famosa. Repair crews are at work to restore the line. Service is disconnected at this point.

Wires of the Kern County Land Company to the northern part of the county are down, company officials reported. Telephone service to Maricopa also was interrupted.

Ventura likewise enjoyed a good drenching, the gauge for the storm reading 2.57 inches. The total rainfall for the season to date is 3.47 inches. The storm total in the foothill sections back of Ventura is in excess of five inches. Storm waters swept away the San Antonio Creek bridge, isolating a schoolhouse and two families.

Both the normal and last year's rainfall figures at this date were broken by the downpour at Fresno. There 2.11 inches of rain fell during the storm, the season's total standing at 2.55 inches.

Streets were flooded in Fresno for several hours. However, no damage was done.

Hanford, Corcoran and West Haven, all in Kings county, also reported heavy downpours.

The storm was general over Santa Barbara county as well as Los Angeles county, though through these sections it fell more slowly, gaining intensity as the afternoon wore on. Alhambra, Pasadena, Glendale, San Pedro, Santa Monica and other adjacent communities reported generous showers.

Only two sections of the city suffered serious flood conditions as the result of the storm, stated Storm-Drain Design Engineer L. W. Armstrong last night after an inspection of storm-water conditions throughout the city. The sections inconvenienced were Eagle Rock and Cologne avenue, west of the end of Pico street. Armstrong reported all storm drains are working efficiently.

EAGLE ROCK FLOODED

A flooded condition prevailed at Eagle Rock, water entering houses in low areas. Eagle Rock is without storm drains, the City Council having postponed storm-drain construction for a year because of the protests of residents that there are already too many assessments. The Council plans to have temporary work done pending the construction of drains.

Cologne avenue also was badly flooded. There is a channel capable of carrying off storm waters, it is said, but this is choked. The Council recently appropriated $1175 to clear out this channel, but the storm came before the work could be carried out.

The Jefferson-street storm drain, completed last week at a cost of $2,550,000, is working well, Armstrong reported. Some manholes were choked, but this will be remedied when laterals are put in, it was said.

Twenty-four inspectors were out yesterday studying the working of the storm drains and gathering ideas for possible improvements in future construction.

RAIN HALTS WORK OF 2000 COTTON PICKERS

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 26.—More than 2000 cotton pickers throughout the county have been thrown out of work temporarily by the present rainstorm which has thoroughly drenched all cotton fields. The rain will delay the picking of approximately 10,000 bales of cotton still on the plant. To avoid discoloration the cotton will have to be allowed to dry in several days of sunshine, experts declare.

Some grapes, still on the vine, probably will be damaged by the rain, according to Whit C. Barber, Kern county horticultural commissioner. Hay still in the field will suffer, he says, though it is believed the greater part of the crop has been placed in shelter.

Generally speaking, the present storm will do more good than harm, it is said.

"The rains will be splendid for the cattle ranges," Commissioner Barber says, "and if conditions are proper, with continued showers and warm weather, there should be a showing of grass within a few days, orchards throughout the county should benefit from the rains as well as the open agricultural districts."

RAIN BREAKS ALL RECORDS FOR NOVEMBER

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 26.—With fifty telephone lines disabled, one gas main wrecked and traffic tied up in Gaviota Pass more than two hours by a landslide, all records for November rain in the Santa Barbara district went toppling today.

Southbound Coast Highway traffic has been diverted over San Leandro Lane because of deep water and a weakened bridge near Montecito. A cave-in which may hurl tons of earth upon houses and garages near Summerland on the Coast Highway also is feared hourly, while the reconstructed Rincon seawall on the same thoroughfare is reported dangerous for auto traffic.

The rainfall of the present storm for Santa Barbara is 3.55 inches, with the season's total at 6.85 inches as compared to 1.51 inches for last year. Other figures for the present storm follow:

Santa Maria, 2.58 inches; Montecito, 3.5; Lompoc, 2.51; Santa Ynez, 1.96; Orcutt, 1.83, Betteravia, 2.91.

Every town reporting chronicles the fact that precipitation figures are far in excess of rainfall recorded in November of last year.

meeting from engineers for the War tion Service, State Department of Public Works, Southern Pacific Railroad Company and possibly other interests.

If in view of the expert information laid before it, the meeting decides that the rich and developed valley is in immediate danger of disastrous floods, it may consider formulating a recommendation to Congress that at the coming short session there be appropriated a sum sufficient to make safe the levees and do other construction work necessary to keep the river in its bed.

Engineers who have been investigating for the association include State Public Works Engineer Bailey of Sacramento; Engineer Boachke of the Southern Pacific office in San Francisco; Col. Jackson of the War Department's office in San Francisco; Frank D. Adams, chief of the University of California Bureau of Water Rights at Berkeley, and R. M. Priest and Porter J. Preston of the Reclamation Service office at Yuma.

Reuben Hale of San Francisco, president of the association, will preside at the meeting.

SHORTRIDGE TO ASK COOLIDGE'S LEVEE AID

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. (Exclusive)—Senator Shortridge will call at the White House tomorrow to take up with the President the problem of flood control in Imperial Valley levees and a deep-draft channel to Stockton.

The Imperial Valley levees must be heightened and strengthened as an emergency measure for the protection of the thousands of inhabitants and millions of dollars worth of property in the valley, Senator Shortridge said today.

"If the waters of the Colorado River, fed by the snows of the upper basin States and swelled by the rains of the winter break over the levees into the Imperial Valley," he said, "it will mean the irredeemable loss of countless lives and millions of dollars of property. Once the waters break through the present flood protection the Imperial Valley will go back to its state of more than 600 years ago, a vast lake, which cannot be reclaimed."

Senator Shortridge went on to say that the strengthening of the levees is an emergency measure and has no connection with the Boulder Canyon dam fight.

"If work is begun on the dam tomorrow," said the Senator, "it will be six or seven years before it can be used to control the flood waters of the Colorado, and the inhabitants of Imperial Valley must remain in constant danger."

The Senator will ask the President's aid in obtaining legislation at the short session of Congress to enable the Federal government to buttress the levees sufficiently to safeguard the Imperial Valley until permanent means of flood control can be built, and other legislation for the deepening of the channel so that ocean-going ships can dock at Stockton, giving Central California a port of entry.

The sea is running high at Port San Luis, Avila and Pismo, but no serious damage has been reported.

The rainfall here during the last twenty-four hours was 2.20 inches.

IMMENSE LOSS IN SALMON EGGS REPORTED

REDDING, Nov. 26. (AP)—A rapid rise in the waters of Mill Creek and Battle Creek has caused a loss of at least 10,000,000 salmon eggs to the government fisheries. All of the racks and apparatus for catching salmon were washed out, and a pier was torn away.

TERRIFIC RAINS IN MODESTO COUNTY

MODESTO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Modesto and Stanislaus counties were swept by a terrific rainstorm shortly after 12 o'clock today, more than half an inch falling in this city alone, according to the Modesto Irrigation District rain gauge.

Sonora was hit by a cloudburst, nearly an inch of rain falling in an hour, according to word received by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company.

Modesto, this season to date, has received 3.85 inches of rain, compared with .85 of an inch to the same date last year.

IOWANS TO AID BANKS

Doors Closed by Nineteen

Success Foreseen as People Open Drive for Waiver of Deposits

Institutions Make Pact to Suspend in Effort to Halt Withdrawals

DES MOINES (Iowa) Nov. 26. (AP)—Business men and farmers of Palo Alto and Kossuth counties left their own affairs today and joined forces with officers and employees of nineteen banks in a canvass of depositors designed to bring forth enough time waivers on deposits to permit the institutions to reorganize and resume business. The banks were closed today by agreement in an effort to halt what was termed unwarranted withdrawal of funds that threatened disaster.

Throughout the two counties teams of waiver solicitors were organized to visit each depositor. Their operations were somewhat similar to the work of Liberty Loan campaigners of war days, and reports reaching State banking officials here tonight indicated the drive will be satisfactorily concluded within a few days.

BUSINESS MEN AID

Many business houses were closed while their proprietors joined the ranks of those working to save the banks and to reopen them on a reorganized basis at the earliest date.

The closed banks include twelve under State charter, six national and one private institution. Their directorates decided upon the simultaneous closing when a general anxiety on the part of the deposits developed over the recent closing of a string of banks in Clay county. By coincidence, the Clay county banks reopened for business today after obtaining sufficient waivers to permit reorganization.

The cashier of a national bank at Clarinda has no connection with the Palo Alto and Kossuth difficulties.

A meeting of the State Banking Board is to be held tomorrow. The Iowa Bankers' Association is ready to aid, if necessary, it was stated.

L. A. Andrew, State Banking Superintendent, declared today the Kossuth and Palo Alto difficulty is "purely local" adding that for the State as a whole, banking conditions are better than they have been for six years. Some of the banks will open Monday, the State Banking Department said.

CLARINDA BANK FAILS TO OPEN DOORS

CLARINDA (Iowa) Nov. 26. (AP)—The Clarinda National Bank failed to open its doors for business today, the directors announcing that the action was taken to conserve assets and facilitate reorganization. At one time the bank held deposits in excess of $1,000,000.

CLOSING CALLED TEMPORARY AFFAIR

ST. JAMES (Minn.) Nov. 26. (AP)—The First National Bank of St. James failed to open its doors for business today. The closing was said to be temporary. The bank had deposits of $300,000. Officials of the bank said today all depositors will be paid in full and that plans are under way to reorganize and reopen the bank.

Newspapers of the State made ready to act on petitions from citizens of Heber Springs to conduct campaigns for relief funds.

ST. LOUIS GETS REPORTS OF DEATHS

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 26. (AP)—Tornadoes which swept through the Missouri Ozarks last night killed at least four persons, injured between seventy-five and 100 persons and left a trail of property destruction.

Striking first at Brandsville, near the Arkansas line, a twister took three lives and destroyed about three-fourths of the buildings. Heavy damage also was caused at Rover and slight damage at Thomasville, near-by inland towns.

Apparently a different tornado struck at Competition, seventy-five miles northwest of Brandsville, and tore a destructive path in a northeasterly direction through Big Piney, Vida and Knobview, where it seemed to have spent most of its force. A sixty-mile wind, however, blew as far northeast as St. Louis.

Nearly all the buildings in Competition and Big Piney were demolished. One person was killed at Competition and two others were so seriously injured they were expected to die.

CARMEL WITNESS FOUND BY HAHN

Hahn said, "Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Sellaff will be arraigned soon and at that time Mrs. Sellaff will throw herself upon the mercy of the court and appear as the State's witness against Mrs. McPherson at the latter's trial. There is no question of the validity of Mrs. Sellaff's testimony nor of its damaging character."

When he was asked if Mrs. McPherson is able to pay a judgment of $1,000,000, Hahn said that an investigation of her affairs had shown that in two years the evangelist has accumulated $1,500,000, which is held solely by her.

Returning to the subject of his surprise witness, Hahn said that they have not appeared in the case heretofore and that they will be only a part of the new and unexpected testimony which the State will bring against Mrs. McPherson. He also said that he is assisting the State as attorney for Mrs. Sellaff, and that all evidence which comes to him will be used by the State when Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Sellaff go to trial.

SEMINOLES SUE FOR PEACE

Long Conflict With Sovereign Tribe Ends as Chief Asks Citizenship for His People

MIAMI (Fla.) Nov. 26. (AP)—A memorable conflict which ended the war with the Seminoles but left a flame of defiance smoldering in a vanishing redskin nation is fast drawing to a close.

Ever professing their own sovereignty, disclaiming always any allegiance to the United States government, though living within its borders, more than 300 Seminole tribesmen in council assembled today through their high chieftain, Tony Tommy, expressed a desire for American citizenship.

Not since the days of Osceola have the Seminoles taken more significant action as the rejection of the faith of their fathers—the lingering hatred of the whites.

Chief Tony Tommy recalled the attempts of the Federal government to remove the Seminoles to western reservations, and vigorously maintains that only upon condition that they be left unmolested will his people swear the oath of fealty.

In the communication to President Coolidge he expressed the sentiment of the tribe, saying:

"It is the sincere and earnest wish of 300 members of the Seminole nation in Florida to end a truce made for them by Chief with the United States government in 1837 and to become citizens of the United States of America, swearing allegiance and to take other legal action as will remove restrictions which have prevented them from enjoying the rights and privileges of other nations and people of the United States."

Several attempts have been made by the Federal government to induce the oath of allegiance from the Seminoles. A Congressional act to that effect, granted citizenship to Indians and the coincident rights to vote, all have been scorned until the present acknowledgment.

Chief Tony Tommy and his council of Seminole royalty planned to leave on an early trip to Washington to confer with President Coolidge.

than the woman of his choice. The act named his 5-year-old son, Prince Michael, born of Carol's marriage to Princess Helen of Greece, as heir apparent. A council of three regents then was named to rule in the event of Ferdinand's death, until Prince Michael should reach his majority.

These regents are Prince Nicolas, the head of the Rumanian church, and the president of the Supreme Court.

It now is generally reported that all Rumania is looking for early modification of the constitution with respect to the regency, and that it was this probability rather than the King's ill health that prompted the early return of Queen Marie.

From Vienna reports have come that the Rumanian government has sent Gen. Angelescu, marshal of the court, to Cherbourg to meet Marie and ask her not to stop at Paris, but to hurry to Bucharest.

MAY SEE CAROL

On the other hand, it is asserted freely that the Queen will stay in Paris at least long enough to interview Carol, with whom she effected reconciliation before her departure for America. At the time the Queen said politics was not mentioned; it was only a reconciliation between a mother and a son with whom she had broken because of the son's personal conduct.

The French surgeon and cancer specialist, Prof. Lecene, left for Bucharest tonight, having been summoned by Dr. Boggot, French radiologist, who arrived yesterday at the Rumanian capital. While the King is known to be a sufferer from cancer, his exact condition is unknown.

Official circles in Bucharest constantly have maintained the illness is serious; they have taken extraordinary precautions frequently to deny alarming reports disseminated from neighboring countries.

QUEEN MARIE GETS WORD KING IS BETTER

S. S. BERENGARIA, Nov. 26. Queen Marie, voyaging home from the United States, received reassuring personal message from her husband, King Ferdinand, it was saying he was feeling better.

Mme. Lahovary, of the queen's suite, made this known to reporters. Her attention of the royal party had been called to a radiogram in New York saying it was reported that Ferdinand was near death.

"We read the radiogram," said Lahovary, "and don't believe it is true in the least, as the queen last night received a radiogram from King himself, saying he was much better and wishing her a pleasant journey."

It was announced further that Marie plans to proceed to Paris after going to Bucharest. She will embark on a special train which a waiting for her at Cherbourg.

QUEEN MARIE GETS WORD KING IS BETTER

S. S. BERENGARIA, Nov. 26. (AP)—Queen Marie, voyaging homeward from the United States, received reassuring personal message from her husband, King Ferdinand, last night saying he was feeling better.

Mme. Lahovary, of the Queen's suite, made this known today after the attention of the royal party had been called to a radiogram in New York saying it was reported here that Ferdinand was near death.

"We read the radiogram," said Mme. Lahovary, "and don't believe it is at true in the least, as the Queen last night received a radiogram from the King himself, saying he was feeling better and wishing her a good evening."

It was announced further that Marie plans to proceed to Paris before going to Bucharest. She will rest on a special train which is to meet her at Cherbourg.

BAIL POSTED

After testifying this afternoon in denial of all allegations made against him by the State, the New York detective, through his attorney, accepted service of a warrant for his arrest and posted bail for his appearance. His lawyer argued for dismissal of the complaint after the adjournment of court, Judge Francis J. Cleary denying the motion as committing magistrate but promising another hearing tomorrow.

Justice Charles W. Parker, presiding, ruled today that Henry De La Bruyere Carpender, cousin of the defendants, and under indictment awaiting trial on the same charges, could not testify in denial of testimony of Mrs. Jane Gibson at a preliminary examination that he was present at or near the spot where the bodies of the minister and choir singer were found.

Mrs. Gibson at the present trial said Henry Stevens and "another man" were there but she was told by the State's Attorney not to identify the "other man." On cross-examination, it was brought out that the woman farmer had identified Henry Carpender as a man whom she had previously identified. It was held that there was no identification in so far as the present trial is concerned. His testimony was restricted to a denial that he had carried any packages from the Hall home.

NEIGHBORS ON STAND

The court session today was brought to a close as a dozen neighbors of Mrs. Jane Gibson went to the stand for brief examinations, testifying that her reputation for truth and veracity is bad in the community, in which she lives.

Cross-examination of three defense fingerprint experts was concluded, all repeating their testimony that a fingerprint on a calling card of Rev. Edward W. Hall, introduced in evidence, is not that of Willie Stevens.

A possible charge of inattention against several members of the jury was indicated tonight when Inspector John J. Underwood, chief of the State's investigators, said that he has four affidavits from newspaper reporters that several jurors have been seen "nodding and apparently asleep." Underwood did not say for what purpose the affidavits were procured, contenting himself with a statement that they were taken at the request of Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor.

DENIAL IN BRIBE

Di Martini testified that he had not offered a bribe of $2500 to Mrs. Mary Demarest, a State's witness, and in fact "did not know that such a person as Mrs. Demarest existed." He also said that he had not visited Mrs. Jane Gibson and declared that a former operative in his employ, Peter Sommer, was wrong when he said his instructions from the witness were to get information "offensive to Mrs. Hall." He told him, he said, to get all the information possible.

In addition to twelve witnesses used this afternoon to attack Mrs. Gibson's reputation, the defense announced it had two more. These witnesses were asked the stereotyped questions, if they knew Mrs. Gibson and her reputation for truth and veracity. All said "bad," or "very bad."

CARPENTER TESTIFIES

Henry Carpender testified today that he was in New York at work until about 1:20 p.m. on the day the bodies were found and that he never removed "paper boxes, drawers or packages containing letters or papers" from the Hall home.

Carpender said that on September 17 he went to Spring Lake with his wife and returned late in the afternoon.

"Were you at the home of Mrs. Hall that morning?" asked Case.

"No, sir," answered the witness.

"Did you that morning take any bundles, papers or boxes from Mrs. Hall's home?"

"I did not."

"Did you see anything that morning of Mrs. Bearman?"

"No, sir."

STATE WITNESS' STORY

A State's witness had said she saw Mrs. Anna Bearman, a relative of Mrs. Hall's, in the automobile in which the State's witness said they saw Carpender taking away papers.

"Did you take any letters out of the house?"

"None whatever."

Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor, in cross-examination, asked:

"When you went to Spring Lake was it a warm day?"

"Yes," answered Carpender.

"Do you remember whether a reporter came to your house there and said black smoke was coming from the chimney and asked if you were destroying letters?"

"No."

"Did you ever meet State Trooper Dickman in Prosecutor Beekman's office and have a conversation with him about a checkbook?"

"No, I never in my life was in Mr. Beekman's office."

TROOPER'S TESTIMONY

Henry L. Dickerman, former New Jersey State trooper, testifying for the prosecution, said that in 1923 he was given a $2500 bribe by the late Amariah Beekman, Somerset county prosecutor, to give up his investigation of the double slaying and leave the State.

The defense proved later that Dickman was a deserter from the Army and Navy, and it was brought out in court that he was a military prisoner when he testified for the State.

Carpender was followed by J. H. Taylor, fingerprint expert of the Navy Department, who this week testified that the fingerprint represented by the State as being that of Willie Stevens was not his fingerprint at all.

The asserted fingerprint of Willie Stevens was on a visiting card of Rev. Mr. Hall's, which the State contends was found at the scene of the slaying.

Taylor was recalled for cross-examination by Simpson. The witness told of taking a fingerprint from a metal box two months after the imprint had been made and after the box had been sent to him in Washington from an Asiatic station.

"What is the greatest length of time you have ever taken a fingerprint from a card of paper, after the fingerprint was made?" asked Simpson.

FINGERPRINT DATA

"I've never been able to get one from paper after over two or three days," answered the witness. He added it might be possible to make a photograph of a fingerprint on paper after two or three days, but it was improbable.

Frederick Sandberg, of Washington, the second defense expert to be cross-examined, testified that the enlargement of the fingerprint on the calling card was correct, and missed no detail to be found in the original print on the calling card.

"You made your whole demonstration to the jury on the enlargement, did you not?" Simpson asked.

"Yes."

"Then if the enlargement has missing ridges and ridge characteristics that would affect your opinion?" Sandberg did not understand the question at first but finally answered "Yes, absolutely."

Both Taylor and Sandberg agreed with Simpson that fingerprinting was an exact science, there was no room for difference of opinion and that a fingerprint either was or was not that of a particular person.

Sandberg thought a print on a dull white card might last for three or four days before development provided it were handled carefully.

PATENT OFFICE PACKED FULL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—The American penchant for "inventin', fixin' and improvin' " has the United States Patent Office packed to the wall.

The annual report for the last year, just made public, lifts the distress signal of this beehive of activity high above the National Capitol, and pleads for more help, larger quarters and augmented appropriations for the examining force.

Applications received during the year totaled over 110,000, or one for each 1000 of population in the country and some 6000 more than last year. The end of the year finds the office with 58,000 applications on hand, despite disposition of 35,000 cases from the arrears calendars during the past three years.

Mussolini Cites Similar Policies in Mediterranean As Basis of International Friendship

ROME, Nov. 26. (Exclusive)—A peaceful Italy, friendly with its neighbors; an Italy industrious and intent on its own development, where only those who produce have the benefits of citizenship; an Italy marching hand in hand with England in its Mediterranean policy, seeking an outlet for its surplus population through pacific means; thus was the Italy of Fascism sketched by Benito Mussolini.

Since the meeting of Premier Mussolini and Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, at Leghorn, there has been a great deal of talk of an Anglo-Italian alliance or understanding.

"What is the relation between the international policy of Italy and that of England," the Premier was asked.

CONVERGING POLICIES

The answer was given unequivocally, in words which mean more than a formal treaty: "Italy and England have converging policies in the Mediterranean. The Fascist government is a sincere friend of England, among other reasons because England has developed a concrete policy of friendship to Italy. All outstanding questions since the war have been settled, for instance, the Dodecanese, Jubaland and Jarabub questions, war debts and the Abyssinian accord. There is no need for special guarantees."

Relations with Turkey, which have received columns of space in the world press, were dismissed with a word. "The relations between Italy and Turkey are amiable. It is a necessary case that our policy toward Turkey be loyal and friendly," the Duce declared.

The most difficult problem of the Fascist government today is the ever-increasing population of Italy. Already the soil of continental Italy is overcrowded, and some solution for the problem of the ever-increasing population must be found. "How and where will Italy find an outlet for its emigration" was another question.

"In the first place the government is seeking to solve the problem of internal migration," the Premier replied. "Secondly, we have our present colonies, and we are seeking natural outlets there. Later we will develop an outlet into lands where immigration is not restricted and where our citizens will be welcomed."

NEED OF COLONIES

But Italy needs colonies where it can develop the natural resources and at the same time find a place for the surplus population.

The understood intention of the Italian government to present its claims for new colonies and mandates at Geneva suggested another question: "In that case can Italy rely on the friendly support of Great Britain?"

"It is possible we will bring up these questions, in which case I believe we can count on the support of Great Britain," Premier Mussolini replied. "It is, if possible, through the League and friendly assistance of other nations Italy hopes to solve the great problem of emigration, not through aggressive war. The government has every reason to believe a solution will be found."

Former Local Reporter Kills Self in Nevada

RENO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Harry H. Jones, city editor and political writer of the Reno Evening Gazette, shot himself at the City Hall today, dying an hour later in a hospital. He had been in poor health for several months, and a belief that he was breaking down was responsible for the act.

Jones was 42 years of age and a native of Indiana. Before coming to Nevada, five years ago, he was a reporter in Los Angeles, and later secretary to Thomas Lee Woolwine, District Attorney of Los Angeles county. For a short time he was publisher of a newspaper in Tulare, Cal. He leaves a widow and a stepdaughter.

'Count' Loses in Fight to Obtain Prison Release

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Albert Sichofsky, self-styled Polish count, reputed to be California's most wealthy convict, today lost another of a long series of efforts to obtain his liberty from Folsom prison, where he is under sentence for grand larceny, when Judge John F. Pullen denied his petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Sichofsky, through his counsel, announced that an appeal from Judge Pullen's decision will be taken.

The petition for the writ of habeas corpus was based on the point that the Superior Court of Los Angeles county erred in trying and sentencing Sichofsky on the grand larceny charge at a time when he was under sentence of the Federal Court.

Court of Appeal Reduces Award in Contract Suit

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 26. (AP)—The Third District Court of Appeal today reduced to $33,725 and trial-court costs the $75,000 judgment won by Emil Offman in the Superior Court of Los Angeles in a breach-of-contract suit he brought against Robertson-Cole Studios, Inc., after his discharge as general manager of the corporation.

In the decision handed down today the court held Offeman had not clearly established his claim that damages were due him for giving up his business in New York to accept employment in Los Angeles.

"There is no presumption," observed the court, "that one suffers a loss by changing his place of residence from New York to Los Angeles."

MOTHER DISAPPEARS IN CHICAGO MYSTERY

WAR DEBTS HELD PAID BY TOURIST

American Abroad Leaves Billion Dollars Annually, Says Ambassador

BERLIN, Nov. 26. (AP)—The American tourist, in the opinion of Jacob Gould Schurman, virtually pays Europe's war debt to the United States. Just returned from America to his post as Ambassador to Germany, Mr. Schurman was the chief speaker last night at the Thanksgiving dinner of Berlin's American colony.

The American tourist, he declared, leaves a billion dollars annually in Europe. Besides this, America was willing to accept 40 cents on the dollar on the amounts owed by foreign nations. As Europe began to realize this fact, the Ambassador added, it would adopt a different attitude on the debt question.

After emphasizing that the Federal government alone lost fifty billions for which America demanded no reparations and no territory, Mr. Schurman explained that this country's prosperity was due, among other things, chiefly to the fact that Americans worked harder than any people except the Chinese and Hindus.

WESTERN RAIL LINES RAISE PAY

Hundred Thousand Benefit by New Scale Inaugurated on Eleven Systems

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Wage increases estimated at $3,000,000 annually on eleven western railroads operating out of Chicago, affecting about 100,000 shopmen, have been granted by the roads, it was disclosed today. The advance ranged from one to three cents an hour, in most cases two cents an hour.

The roads involved are the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific; Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe; Chicago, Burlington and Quincy; Chicago and Eastern Illinois; Fort Worth and Denver; Union Pacific; Wabash; Illinois Central; Great Northern; Missouri-Pacific and Chicago and Alton.

Approximately 1200 shopmen of the Santa Fe and Union Pacific railroads in Los Angeles will be affected by the wage increases announced yesterday in Omaha, executives of those two lines said last night. The advance will affect almost 5500 men on the Pacific Coast, it was declared.

Fifteen hundred workers of the Union Pacific between here and Salt Lake City will be benefited, approximately 700 of whom are Los Angeles citizens. Nearly 4000 Santa Fe employees on the Coast will receive increased pay checks, about 500 of whom make their home in this city.

Food to be Sent Wild Squirrels Near Starvation

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 26. (AP) — The natural history museum of San Diego today started work of collecting public subscriptions to save the gray tree squirrels of the Laguna Mountains of San Diego county from starvation. Failure of the acorn crop has deprived the beautiful little animals of most of their usual winter food. Corn will be taken to them and scattered on the ground at various points in the Lagunas, where many people of Southern California spend their summer vacations.

J. E. Elliott, supervisor of the Cleveland National Forest, has promised to distribute the corn.

MYSTERY IN DROWNING

BRITISH ACCEPT MEXICAN TERMS

New Oil Law Requirements Met by Operators

Confirmation of Concessions Officially Asked For

Washington Told of Action Taken by English

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—Acceptance by all the British oil interests in Mexico of the provisions of that country's petroleum laws, which have been the subject of extended diplomatic correspondence between Mexico and the United States, was announced in telegrams received and made public today by the Mexican Embassy.

The telegrams, from Mexico City, were to the effect that Harry Hadfield Hallat, in behalf of the Compania Mexicana De Petrolo, which includes all the English oil interests in Mexico, had filed with the Department of Industry, Commerce and Labor a petition "asking the confirmatory concession of his oil rights, in accordance with Article 14th of the oil regulations and Articles 14 and 15 of the same law."

INCLUDES LARGE AREA

The number of lots on which confirmation was asked was placed at 401, representing an approximate area of 200,000,000 acres.

The telegrams also said that La Corona, an important Dutch company, as well as "some American and other corporations," already had complied with the requirements of the oil laws in the same form as the British interests.

The Embassy appended a statement declaring it was to be noted "that the opposition by some American oil companies to the aforementioned law and regulations has been a fundamental subject of recent diplomatic correspondence between the governments of Mexico and the United States."

State Department officials, declining to comment on the Embassy's announcement, preferred to let the recent notes made public by Secretary Kellogg speak for themselves.

RIGHTS SET FORTH

Regarding this particular phase of the diplomatic negotiations, the American government, in its note of July 31, declared Mexico claimed the right to convert unqualified ownerships into terms for years by the simple device of requiring the existing titles to be exchanged for concessions of limited duration.

"Owners of the soil who acquired their titles prior to May 1, 1917, are," the note said, "by the provisions of Article XIV of the petroleum law and regulations . . . under a penalty forfeiture, to apply within one year for 'confirmation' of their titles and to accept concessions for not more than fifty years from the time the exploitation works began.

"In these circumstances, American nationals who have made investments in Mexico in reliance upon unqualified titles should be obliged to file applications virtually surrendering these vested rights and to accept in lieu thereof concessions of manifestly less scope and value.

"The use of the word 'confirmation' in this relation is, to say the least, misleading. The operation would be nothing but a forced exchange of a greater for a less estate."

NOMINEE IN MAINE RACE EXONERATED

State Officer Dismisses Campaign Fund Charges Against A. R. Gould

AUGUSTA, (Me.) Nov. 26. (AP)—Charges of excessive primary campaign expenditures against Arthur R. Gould, Republican nominee for United States Senator, were dismissed by Secretary of State Frank W. Ball tonight, after two and a half hours deliberation of evidence introduced in the hearing today.

"This is not an investigation and the burden of proof rests on the complainant," said the Secretary of State in announcing his findings. "The proof introduced has fallen far short of the standards set by authorities in such cases. The fact that the respondent Mr. Gould, did not appear at the hearing cannot be considered evidence of guilt."

The charge that Mr. Gould exceeded the legal limit of $1500 in his primary campaign was made last Saturday by Rev. Arthur F. Leigh, Randolph minister, and admitted Ku Klux Klan leader. Thirty-one specifications were filed on Wednesday afternoon to support the complaint. Of these, twenty-one numerated advertisements placed in many newspapers, it was alleged, by Mr. Gould or with his knowledge and consent, and the remainder dealt with payments to individual workers, car hire, and purchase of buttons and other campaign material.

The return filed by Mr. Gould in compliance with the law showed an expenditure of $1300 as the total of the campaign.

George Young, Politician of Arizona, Dies

PHOENIX, Nov. 26. (Exclusive)—George U. Young, for many years prominent in Arizona politics, died last night at the Derby mine at Iron Springs, near Prescott.

Mr. Young, a native of Indiana, was 59 years of age. He leaves a widow, two daughters and a son.

He was at one time editor of a Williams newspaper and principal of the town school. He was one of the promoters of the Grand Canyon Mining district, as well as of a smelter at Williams, later operating a mine at Iron Springs. Since 1910 he had been at the head of the Young Mines Company, operating the Mammoth mines at Youngsberg, forty miles east of Phoenix.

Mr. Young was the last territorial secretary of Arizona, serving under Gov. R. E. Sloan, and was noted especially for the number of pardons issued by him as acting governor.

For several years he was Mayor of Phoenix, a position sought unsuccessfully by him in 1920.

RESPITE LOOMS IN CHURCH WAR

Mexican Deputies Pass Bill Favoring Protestants

Measure Adds Restrictions Aimed at Catholics

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 26. (Exclusive)—The Chamber of Deputies last evening unanimously passed a measure which provides that for six years foreigners may have religious teachings by a clergyman of their own nationality provided the foreign clergy commit themselves to educate during this time native Mexicans to succeed them. They must, however, use some other language than Spanish, so Spanish priests are excluded Approval of the bill in the Senate is expected, as it already has been recommended by President Calles.

Quick Senatorial approval will make possible the hope of Episcopal Bishop Frank W. Creighton that Americans legally may attend Christmas services.

CATHOLICS RESTRICTED

Other sections of the bill restrict the Catholic church still further, virtually providing for government control of all church affairs. Hierarchies are not to be allowed within the church, priests are placed under government control, and the church generally is subordinated to the state authorities.

Associations known as churches, regardless of creed, are forbidden to own or administer real property or funds invested in such properties. Clergymen must not at any public or private meeting or in acts of cult and religious propaganda criticise the government or laws or associate themselves for a political objective. Movable property, other than money acquired, must be accounted for to the government. Confessional publications are forbidden to discuss any other subject. Religious marriages may be performed only on proof of prior civil marriage.

An anti-American, anti-Knights of Columbus tirade followed when Deputies discussing the bill spoke of the international situation. Deputy Soto y Gama, agrarian leader, blamed the clergy, charging the episcopacy is trying to invoke American aid, as it did French aid in 1860. Deputy Alexander Cerisola blamed the episcopacy for the Knights of Columbus anti-Calles campaign and praised Calles' stand toward the United States.

KNIGHTS' MOVE SCORED

Other speakers called the clergy rebellious and treasonable and the ousting of foreign priests was praised. Extracts from American papers were read announcing the American Knights of Columbus were raising $1,000,000 to fight Bolshevism in Mexico. The order was accused of fomenting hatred and spreading lies. Soto y Gama accused Americans of permitting Mexicans to be lynched. He charged that the last American note seeks to justify interference in Mexican internal affairs and "is allied with the attitude of the Knights."

"Will honest Coolidge, the Puritan, cede to the Knights' pressure, the oil-men's gold, Kellogg's foolishness?" exclaimed this Deputy.

Deputy Gonzalo Santos displayed banners he said had been taken from rebels, showing the figure of the Virgin of Guadalupe and other religious insignia, as proof the clergy are behind these movements.

No Deputies challenged such statements.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. (AP)—Verdict of $60,682 awarded Jewel Carmen, motion-picture actress, against the Fox Film Corporation was affirmed today by the appellate division of the Supreme Court.

The actress charged the film company by "malicious interference" prevented her from fulfilling a contract she had with the Frank A. Keesey Pictures Corporation. She was awarded the face value of the contract plus interest, except for three weeks pay she received.

I had a few pimples at first, but this skin trouble soon spread until they covered my face and neck and made me look disgraceful. They itched so that I could scarcely keep my fingers off them. I tried various remedies, but none gave more than temporary relief. A friend suggested Resinol and I bought a cake of ointment and a cake of soap. After the second application I noticed the itching stopped and after the fourth treatment I had used the Resinol products for a few weeks, there was not a sign of the trouble left." ## CANADIAN RAPS RUM SMUGGLING

Attorney-General in Address at Victoria Inquiry

Customs Blamed for Lax Regulatory System

Violation of Treaty With United States Decried

VICTORIA (B. C.) Nov. 26. (Exclusive)—Methods by which liquor exporters of this province frustrate the laws of the United States and the manner in which the customs regulations of this country defeat the aims and objects of the treaty between Canada and the United States to stamp out rum-running and illicit drug traffic were presented to the Royal Commission of the customs inquiry which opened its investigation here today.

Atty.-Gen. Manson of the British Columbia government, supported by the Attorney-Generals of the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba reviewed the situation. He made four objections. First, "that we object to British Columbia being made the base for illicit export of liquor to a friendly country; or for illicit exportation of liquor to our sister provinces; the lack of regulations governing overland shipments of liquor and that British Columbia should have to take the backwash of supposedly exported liquors."

CUSTOMS FLAYED

He flayed the customs regulations, contending that they defeat the ends of the Canadian and United States government in the signing of the treaty to prevent smuggling, that exporting firms are allowed to operate in this province because the British Columbia Legislature has not the power to draft legislation abolishing export houses, and that the system of clearance and landing papers is farcical. Any Canadian craft can clear from a customs port to noncustoms territory within Canadian water, Manson stated. He said this permits the Canadian craft to transfer liquor to American crafts which not only violate Canadian laws but those of their own country. Yet this is at present legally done by Canadian crafts.

Dealing with the subject of mother ships or the vessels of over 200 tons register that carry export liquor from Victoria and Vancouver ostensibly to Mexico, Manson deplored the fact that customs officers are faced with a situation that under the present regulation they cannot meet. These ships return to British Columbia with apparently landing papers issued in Mexico, he declares, "yet I have here an incident where a ship left Victoria with large shipments of liquor consigned to Ensenada, Mex., three times within fifty-six hours." said Manson. "I cannot conceive any vessel making even only one trip in so short a time and returning with genuine landing papers."

CITES ANOTHER METHOD

Another method told of was that of overland shipment of liquor say to Windsor, Ont., via Detroit. There are no customs regulation to prevent such a proceeding, Manson stated. The result is that liquor exporters of this province are not only violating the laws of the United States, but also those of sister provinces that are enforcing prohibition laws. In objecting to the backwash of liquor from exporters, Manson said that liquor sent out on ships ostensibly for Mexico, later return through subterranean channels to British Columbia to bootleg in competition with government-controlled liquor.

There is no doubt at all that millions of dollars' worth of liquor are being smuggled into the United States via Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles from these mother ships, which are able to get genuine landing papers through methods unknown to the customs.

His final recommendation, and one that he contended will solve the situation to a great extent, is for Canada to build a customs-patrol fleet of her own. The ships should have a speed of thirty knots, be well armored and provided with high-powered guns to fight the rum-running craft of similar character.

"Under the present regulations we are unable to cope with the liquor exporter. They sit up all night devising ways and means to evade our regulations. Until the Dominion House reforms its legislation so that we in turn may be able to abolish exporters from this Province rum-running on this Coast will continue."

CANADIANS MAY AVOID WALK-OUT

Further Negotiations to Halt Rail Strike Indicated in Managers' Attitude

MONTREAL, Nov. 26. (AP)—Further negotiations with Canadian Railway officials to avert the threatened strike of 18,000 conductors, trainmen and yardmen for a 6 per cent wage increase seemed probable tonight.

A managers' committee of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways told a general committee, representing the men today, that they assumed "the employees' representatives would desire to confer further with the executives of the railways before reaching any conclusions."

The managers, however, declared they did not see that "any useful purpose would be accomplished by further negotiations between the committees."

The general committee of the men continued its meetings today, armed with strike power given them by a vote of the membership of the two bodies represented, the Order of Railroad Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Of a membership of upward of 18,000, 90.40 per cent of the trainmen and 81 per cent of the conductors voted "for a peaceful walkout" from the railroad service "unless satisfactory settlement could otherwise be made."

The men are asking for a wage increase which would bring their salaries to a level with those paid in the United States.

GUN INVENTOR DIES SUDDENLY

John M. Browning Expires in Belgium

Gained Fame and Fortune as Arms Designer

Was Native of Utah and 73 Years of Age

OGDEN (Utah) Nov. 26. (AP)—John M. Browning, famed as an inventor of firearms, is dead in Belgium, a cablegram to relatives in Ogden announced today. Browning went to Liege, Belgium, a few weeks ago to perfect his latest invention, an "over and under" double-barreled shotgun. The message telling of his death came from Liege.

The new gun had one barrel above the other instead of two horizontal barrels. It was to be manufactured in the Liege plant which manufactured so many of the Browning weapons.

It was this plant which in 1913, manufactured the millionth Browning automatic pistol. This was the first time in history that 1,000,000 pistols of one model had been manufactured. In honor of this achievement, King Albert of the Belgians conferred upon Mr. Browning the title of Chevalier of the Order of Leopold.

UNEXPECTED

The cablegram from Liege was received by John Browning, a son, and since there had been no previous message telling of illness it is thought here that the inventor's death was unexpected. The son received through the mail today a letter from his father in which no mention of illness was made.

Mr. Browning left for Belgium October 15. He was accompanied by his wife and in Liege they visited with their son, Val Browning, who is his father's representative in the city where many Browning arms are manufactured.

Unlike many great inventors who were deprived of the fruits of their creations, Browning has been described as "a success from the start."

The Browning water-cooled machine gun, the .45-caliber automatic pistol adopted by the United States Army, and the machine gun rifle, all Browning's inventions, were supplied to the American and Allied armies by the million, and played a tremendous part in winning the war from Germany.

WIDE MARKET

Browning inventions never lacked a market, from the time he manufactured his first gun at the age of 13 until the World War made him widely known, Browning received flattering offers for his ideas and inventions almost as soon as they had taken definite shape on the work bench.

The son of a rifle manufacturer, Browning devoted much of his time as a child fashioning simple toys from scraps of metal picked up around his father's shop in Ogden, Utah. It was from such scraps that he made his first gun—a single-shot weapon that proved effective in shooting rabbits. Ten years later he had invented and manufactured 800 rifles, which later became known as the Winchester single-shot model. From then on the Winchester company bought every model young Browning was willing to sell.

Turning his attention to automatic pistols, he produced in 1896 the model used by the United States' armies in both the Spanish-American and European wars. The manufacturing rights for this weapon were obtained by the Colt Arms Manufacturing Company.

For more than a century before Browning's time, inventors had been experimenting with rapid-fire repeating guns. The most notable survivor when Browning turned his attention to such a rifle in the early 90's was the Gatling gun, produced by Richard Jordan Gatling before the American Civil War, and used even as late as the Spanish-American War.

EFFECTIVE GUN

The first machine gun turned out by Browning was made famous during the Spanish-American conflict and through its effective work in both land and naval battles around Santiago, became known as "The Peacemaker."

After the Spanish-American War, Browning devoted his time to improvements in pistols, rifles and shotguns. When the European war began, he again turned his attention to machine guns, realizing that such weapons would become of first importance in the conflict. The Browning water-cooled rapid-fire gun, capable of firing 600 shots a minute, was the result of his experimentation. Then followed the machine-gun rifle, and still later the airplane arrangement, by which three guns, controlled by one trigger, can discharge 3600 bullets a minute. These devices were used by the armies of the United States, England, France, Belgium, Italy and Russia.

In addition to being decorated with the Chevalier of the Order of Leopold by King Albert, in the United States he was honored with the John Scott legacy, awarded by the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia.

STANDARD EQUIPMENT

Three of his inventions are included in standard equipment in the United States Army. These are the machine gun, the machine rifle and the automatic pistol.

In the last few years, Mr. Browning had worked almost steadily in his shop here, developing his anti-aircraft gun and his new type of double-barreled shotgun. From time to time he had been engaged in work for foreign governments, representatives of which brought their problems to him here.

An indication of his activity in the firearms field was disclosed on the occasion of his seventieth birthday. At that time he had an even dozen patents on firearms pending in Washington.

His death occurred on his sixty-second visit to Europe.

Mr. Browning was born in Ogden, Utah, in 1854. While regarding Ogden as his home, he spent a great part of his time during and after the war in Hartford, Ct., headquarters of the big plants which manufacture many of his inventions.

Early in life he married Rachael Child. They had seven children, John Browning, Mrs. E. L. Ford, Mrs. B. F. Ballantyne, Mrs. Joseph Olson and Val, Kenneth and Elizabeth Browning.

ACCUSED BANK ROBBER TAKEN

Suspect Jailed Soon After Strathmore Hold-up

Money Declared Found in Captured Man's Shirt

Employees Bound by Lone Bandit in Raid

STRATHMORE, Nov. 26.—Within a little more than an hour after he is said to have robbed the Strathmore branch of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank of $3000 this morning at about 8:45 o'clock, George Pinegar, 22 years of age, of Visalia, was captured by local and county officers and was en route to the Tulare County Jail in Visalia.

Pinegar, a laborer in Visalia district for the past three or four years, is said to have entered the bank about 9 a.m., breaking through a rear window to gain entrance, and to have waited for arrival of officers.

J. Davidson, general book-keeper, the first to arrive, was confronted by an armed masked bandit, who, at the point of a gun, marched him to the vault and turn over the currency to the desperado. This accomplished, the bandit marched his second victim to the basement and tied him up and laid him out alongside Davidson.

The man then went upstairs and remained in the bank for a few moments. Making his escape unnoticed, he made off on foot through the orange groves, where he was later captured by Deputy Sheriffs Ben Gurr and John Hasen, City Marshall William English of Lindsay and Constable A. P. Churchill of Strathmore, his tracks through the soft, rain-soaked earth being a clear clew. The money was in his shirt, it was reported.

Edwards, assistant manager, succeeded in freeing his bonds soon after the bandit departed and called Constable Churchill, who summoned City Marshall English from Lindsay and the Sheriff's deputies.

Pinegar's relatives are believed to be in Missouri, according to officials. He declared he was without money and desperate. He was run to cover in the Gaffney orchard, about a mile from the bank.

Residents Make Hazardous Trip to Bear Valley

REDLANDS, Nov. 26.—Picking their way through mud and snow, slipping and sliding, hanging over the brink of deep chasms on every turn, was the experience of a dozen Bear Valley men who fought their way to the valley in a storm early Thanksgiving morning so as to eat turkey at home.

The story has just come out of the valley. The men were here the evening before Thanksgiving to initiate two of their number into the Elks' Lodge of Redlands. It was one of the largest affairs the local lodge had staged this year.

The storm came up but the Bear Valley men wanted to be back home for Thanksgiving dinner so, despite the rain and snow, they started. The road was slippery and the cars often went so close to the edge that a drop of 2000 or 3000 feet to the bottom of a canyon seemed inevitable, but each time the accident was averted and after hours of bucking rain, mud and snow, the men arrived home.

SEIVERS RANCH SOLD

Gaston Bastanchury Reported As New Owner of Property

BREA, Nov. 26—According to reports the J. D. Seivers ranch on West Cedar street has been sold to the Union Oil Company which in turn has transferred it to the Bastanchury Ranch Company of Fullerton. The beautiful ranch house of the Seivers is included in the deal and it is said that Gaston Bastanchury is going to make this his permanent home.

This ranch was one of those badly damaged in the fire which destroyed the tank farm of the Union Oil Company last April. That part of the walnut grove which was burned is to be reset with Valencia oranges, it is said. The Lehman ranch of twelve acres lying just south of the Seivers ranch is said to be included in the deal with the Bastanchury company.

Braden, a representative of the American Playground Association, at a conference of the Los Angeles county playground direc at the Miramar today.

Mr. Braden declared the reason children leave home at night is that they are "afraid to stay at alone in the dark." He said provision will have to be made for recreation for the family as a unit.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 26.—Long Beach will soon acquire legal title to more than a mile of additional ocean frontage on Terminal Island, West of the recently constructed west mole, it was said at the City Hall today. ## CONFERENCE AT GLENDALE OPEN

More Than 500 Older Boys of Y.M.C.A. There

Sessions of Annual Meetings Begun Last Night

Delegates to Go to Football Game Today

GLENDALE, Nov. 26.—Delegates from as far north as Fresno and from the southern end of the State began pouring into Glendale today, undaunted by the rains, to take part in the three-day annual conference of the older boys of the Y.M.C.A. that opened here tonight.

The original estimates called for about 500 delegates, but by noon it was evident that accommodations would have to be secured for a total of 569, besides the speakers who are to address the conference.

Residents of Glendale have thrown open their homes to the boys and have agreed to furnish them with rooms and breakfast, while the service clubs have assessed their members for the cost of one meal for the boys and the City Council and the Chamber of Commerce have also contributed to the fund that has been raised for their entertainment.

Besides the American youths who are attending the conference there are Japanese, Mexican and negro delegates accredited to the sessions.

The conference opened officially tonight with a banquet in the Glendale Presbyterian Church, at which W. A. Horn, president of the Presbyterian Men's Brotherhood, acted as toastmaster. Mayor Harry G. MacBain extended a welcome to the delegates on behalf of the city.

A business session will be held tomorrow morning, and in the afternoon the delegates will attend the football game in Los Angeles Coliseum between the Southern Branch and the Iowa State teams.

The conference will adjourn on Sunday, following a series of meetings and discussions on the various topics that have been scheduled.

Legality of Pasadena Law Challenged

PASADENA, Nov. 26.—The legality of the City Charter amendment to strengthen the present form of City Manager government in Pasadena, which was approved by local voters in the general election the 2nd inst., is being challenged by a group of citizens who believe it unlawful, City Director William Easterbrook said today.

This group, whose names he refused to divulge, has written to State Attorney-General Webb, contending that the amendment which would remove the present Board of City Directors from office in April and elect seven others, by districts, in their stead, is illegal, Easterbrook declared.

The so-called illegality rests in the fact that the amendment calls for two separate actions—the recall of the present board, and the future election of Directors by a method differing from the system of election-at-large now in use, according to Easterbrook. The objectors hold that to make the charter change legal, a separate proposition for each of these actions should have appeared on the ballots.

ANNEXATION VOIDED

West Maywood Election Held Illegal by Huntington Park Court

HUNTINGTON PARK, Nov. 26.—After hearing evidence in the case brought by J. J. Harris of West Maywood, Judge Hartley Shaw has handed down his decision declaring that the West Maywood election, which resulted favorably for annexation to Huntington Park, is void, which places that territory back in Los Angeles county. Judge Shaw based his decision on the fact that the newspaper in which the election notice was published is not a paper of "general circulation." The newspaper was issued at Bell, but was actually printed in Montebello. The decision held that to be a newspaper of general circulation legally a publication must be printed, published and circulated from the same office. The annexation law declares that if any part of the proceedings are not taken in accord with the act the annexation is void. On this ground the court ruled against admission.

LANKERSHIM TO HAVE ANOTHER SCOUT TROOP

LANKERSHIM, Nov. 26.—Following a move to make every boy in the Lankershim district a Boy Scout, the Lankershim Kiwanis Club is sponsoring another troop. There are about 200 boys of Boy Scout age in this vicinity who cannot get into the other troops already formed because of full quotas. The Kiwanis Club also is the sponsor of Troop No. 20 of the McKinley Industrial Home near here. This is one of the most flourishing troops in the San Fernando Valley Council. The first meeting of the new troop now being formed will take place on December 2 at the Boy Scout Hall and all boys of Scout age have been invited to come. Among promoters of the new troop are Ray Engleson, Judge J. W. Deupree, George Bush and Ray Whitson. George Thurman, who has been assistant scoutmaster to one of the old troops, is likely to become the new scoutmaster. There are now about 500 boys in the San Fernando Valley Scout Council.

RIVERSIDE CO-EDS DEFENDED

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 26.—While Dr. Rufus B. Von KleinSmid's ban on smoking among co-eds at the University of Southern California may have some significance in the roaring city of Los Angeles, such an edict would mean little or nothing here, in the opinion of A. G. Paul, dean of the Riverside Junior College. It simply isn't done by feminine students at the Riverside institution, Mr. Paul believes. At least it isn't practiced on the campus for the very good reason that there is a State law against the use of tobacco by either men or women students on school property. "Judging from conditions here, I believe most college girl smokers must contract the habit after they leave their homes," he said.

"At that, I believe the percentage of girl smokers at California colleges is small."

CITY PAYS TRIBUTE TO DEAD

LONG BEACH, Nov. 26.—A large portion of the business life of Long Beach paused for a time this afternoon during the impressive funeral services, over the remains of Scott Alexander, Long Beach capitalist, hotel owner and civic leader, who died Wednesday.

Resolutions of regret over the death of Mr. Alexander were adopted by the City Council at its meeting this morning and several industrial concerns with which he was identified ceased operations during the services.

The funeral services, conducted by F. W. Crosley, first reader of the First Church of Christ of Long Beach, were at the Mottell funeral chapel, East Third street and Alamitos avenue. Fred Setzer, a soloist of the church, sang. Following the services the body was taken to Los Angeles for interment in Rosedale Cemetery.

Prominent Long Beach men acted as pallbearers, among them being City Manager Henderson, Nelson McCook, president of the California National Bank; Judge A. C. Ripley, president of the Morning Sun Publishing Company; Walter Case, editor of the Morning Sun; Cyrus C. Carpenter, son of Atty. Clay Carpenter, and Fred Egbert Miller, Christian Scientist. ## STAGE SET IN SAN DIEGO BRIBE TRIAL

District Attorney and Aide Face Court Monday; Judge Hahn to Serve

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 26.—Nearly forty witnesses have been subpoenaed by the State in the trial of Dist.-Atty. Kempley and his assistant, G. Guy Selleck, charged by the grand jury here with soliciting and receiving a $40,000 bribe, which will start next Monday and which is expected to last at least five weeks.

J. C. Stone, former husband of Agnes Kellar, underworld character, it is understood, will be one of the State's first witnesses to take the stand. His testimony, it is said, will substantiate that of his former wife, now serving a sentence in San Quentin on a grand-larceny conviction secured by Kempley and Selleck. Stone is expected to tell of many secret conferences said to have been held between his former wife and defendants during the trial of Thomas Johnson and Hugh McGovern for murder here.

Judge Edwin Hahn of Los Angeles county will relieve Judge Spencer M. Marsh during the bribe-case trial.

Dozen Hurt in Auto Mishaps Following Rain

SANTA ANA, Nov. 26.—About seventy autos were damaged and a dozen persons received various minor injuries in attempting to negotiate the boulevards along the State highway between Tustin and San Clemente following the rain Wednesday, official reports show.

At least forty families spent Wednesday night in Tustin while waiting for daylight to start the work of rescuing their cars from the muddy ditches between Tustin and Irvine.

At one point in that section traffic officers counted twenty-one cars in the ditch simultaneously. The entire State traffic squad spent long hours on duty unsnarling traffic and aiding cars back to firm ground. No serious accidents were reported, the chief damage occurring to plans for Thanksgiving visits.

CRASH VICTIM DYING

Life of Sole Survivor of Crossing Accident Hangs by Thread

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 26.—Unconscious and in an extremely critical condition, Eugene McCrary, 8 years of age, was near death today at the Loma Linda Hospital. The boy is the lone survivor of the crash on the Southern Pacific Railway crossing at Mountain View avenue near Redlands yesterday, in which Mrs. Erma Crowley and Lillian McCrary, 12, were killed.

Mrs. Crowly died instantly and the girl ten minutes after her arrival at the hospital.

Eugene's condition is too critical to permit the taking of X-ray photographs, and the exact extent of his injuries is unknown to the physicians.

Lillian and Eugene are the children of Leo McCrary of Bryn Mawr. Their mother died several years ago. They also are the grandchildren of Justice A. M. McCrary, Mission township.

A sad coincidence in the fatal accident is the fact that Miss Ruth Crowley, the dead woman's daughter, was married Wednesday night at the home of her mother, to Joe Goldberg of San Bernardino. They are believed to be in San Diego on their honeymoon, and efforts were being made today to notify them of the tragic death of Mrs. Crowley.

Rain Aids Work on New Road to Poso Oil Field

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 26.—Road crews under the direction of Supervisors Hart and McFarland, are cooperating in the work of constructing a roadway through the new Poso oil fields, following to some considerable extent the old Visalia traverse, which was used in stage-coach days as one of the chief arteries through the county.

The rains of this week are reported to have aided considerably in roadway construction work, loosening the soil and making the work of surfacing and packing easier.

Development of the west front of the Kern River field will be facilitated by the construction of this road, which has been deemed an absolute necessity by oil company officials. Supervisor Hart's crew is reported working south of Poso and the men of Supervisor McFarland north of the creek.

ECHO SOUNDS IN WINE SCANDAL

Fullerton School Man and Official in Statements

Both Deny Guilty Intent in Keeping Beverage

Seizure and Arrest Laid to Spite Work of Kin

FULLERTON, Nov. 26.—Pointing out that spite work caused their arrests, Stewart S. (Shorty) Smith, athletic coach of the Fullerton High School, and Emanuel Smith, Fullerton City Trustee, issued statements today.

Both men declared that the wine seized in their homes last Monday night by Constables George Annin and Jake Diest, following the filing of an affidavit by E. S. Rudy, nephew of Emanuel Smith, was made for medicinal purposes.

S. S. Smith's statement in part was as follows: "The wine was made in my back yard and no attempt was made at secrecy. I was under the impression that it was all right for me to make this wine, in view of the fact that I had a statement from a physician that my wife needed wine as a tonic."

MADE FOR WIFE ALONE

"No one but my wife ever has had any of this wine. It was made for her and her alone."

S. S. Smith has a physician's statement to back up his statement.

The statement is as follows: "This is to certify that to my personal knowledge Mrs. Stewart S. Smith was very seriously ill in December, 1923, and in January and February, 1924, and that she never fully recovered from that illness. Because of her resulting condition, I advised Mrs. Smith, during the past summer, to use tonics, including cod liver oil, beef, iron and wine or light wine if it could be obtained."

According to the football coach, when he returned home after being fined $500 in Justice French's court, he saw Rudy in an automobile in front of his home. According to Smith, Rudy told him that he, Rudy, caused his arrest because of statements asserted to have been made by the Smiths concerning an automobile ride Rudy is said to have taken with a Fullerton woman.

LAID TO SPITE WORK

Emanuel Smith today issued a statement to the effect that he was using the wine found in his home for medicinal purposes and that his arrest was the result of spite work.

It is understood that Mrs. Rudy has separated from her husband and has been living in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Smith. Rudy is a former Fullerton city officer.

Justice French denied reports today that he had reconsidered the fines and would remit a portion.

Both S. S. Smith and Emanuel Smith have declared that they are sorry they paid the fines, stating that they should have fought the case.

Louis Plummer, principal of the Fullerton High School, stated today that he felt that "Coach Smith had been done an injustice." He stated that the matter doubtless will come before the high school trustees.

The girl sustained a broken wrist, according to a report from Kern General Hospital, where she was taken. Mrs. Smith was painfully bruised and cut. Her husband escaped injury.

The other accident occurred near the Western Water Works on the Bakersfield-Taft highway, where a machine driven by G. A. Brown of Taft skidded and crashed into a heavily loaded truck. Stricken at Thanksgiving Dinner, Mrs. F. Andrews Unconscious to End

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 26. — While eating Thanksgiving dinner with her husband at a local eating establishment, Mrs. Bessie R. Andrews, 58 years of age, prominent social and charity worker of Bakersfield, and a resident of this city for twenty-seven years, was stricken with a brain hemorrhage last evening, and died at 4 a.m. today at a local hospital. ## Arrest Brings Woe for Two Boy Husbands

VENICE, Nov. 26.—Believed by Venice police to have been made desperate through lack of Thanksgiving cheer for their young babies, C. E. Dunstan and Harold Clifford of Venice, who gave their ages at 22 and 21 years, respectively, were arrested last night by Detective Lieutenants Armstrong and Christensen.

Several weeks ago the young men are said to have eloped to San Diego with Violet Burkhart, 16, of Palms, and her sister, Daisy, 17. The two couples returned to Venice and rented a home at 24 Avenue 43, where, according to police, the young husbands put up a bitter battle for support through entering the junk business with a small truck.

Investigation of ownership of this truck by Patrolman Sumner led to the discovery of a trunkful of canned goods and other groceries which, the men confessed, had been taken from a store at 1807 Trolleyway, Venice, after a rear door had been broken in. The truck was legitimately their property, Sumner found. That the struggle to support the young brides had been a losing one was shown by the cutting off of light and water in the house because of unpaid bills.

"And then Thanksgiving came," according to police, "and there was nothing with which to buy the feast."

All four were taken to Los Angeles this morning.

An amazing new offer—an EXTRA prize in The Times mammoth $50,000 prize campaign—an opportunity to win a smart, new, high-powered roadster in only two weeks' time! What an alluring companion to the $5247 Lincoln Sedan or any other of the thirty fine motor cars to be awarded soon. You can win this roadster NOW—and still another car later! This offer is open to all candidates now enrolled in the campaign as well as others who wish to enter now. A little added effort during the next two weeks, and this Special Merit Prize can be YOURS!

This is the BEST time to win in the Los Angeles Times $50,000 Prize Campaign

In appreciation of the splendid results shown by candidates in the wonderful prize race now nearing a close, The Times has decided to add this Special Merit Prize—a $1475 Auburn Sport Roadster—to be won during the two weeks of the new 80,000 extra vote offer, explained elsewhere on this page. This Special Merit Prize will be awarded to the candidate who turns in during the period beginning today, November 27, and ending at 9 p.m., Saturday, December 11, the highest total amount in NEW subscription payments. It makes no difference what division or district a candidate lives in—this offer is open to all. Awarding of the Sport Roadster will not in any way interfere with the awarding of thirty other automobiles at the end of the campaign, December 18. The candidate winning this Special Merit Prize may also win another car at the finish.

"New Second Payments" Will Help You

Any NEW Times subscriptions you have secured since the campaign started may now be extended to any period up to three years, by securing a "second payment." For example, a new subscription turned in for one year, may be extended to three years by a payment of two years, and this "second payment" will count as a NEW subscription, applying on the 80,000 extra vote offer now in effect. Regular votes on this "second payment" will be issued for the full three years LESS the number of votes issued on the FIRST payment. Get in touch with all subscribers you have seen before, and get their extensions.

There's always an answer to the why, but it generally comes too late to be more than an explanation.

BURBANK NABS PLAY-OFF GAME

Wizards Mush Through Slush to Down Oxnard, 9-0

Tony Frank Proves Hero of Muddy C.I.F. Tussle

Beet Pickers Fail to Dent Heavier Forward Wall

BY BOB RAY

Coach Ogborn's Burbank Wizards slushed and mushed their way to a 9-to-0 victory over th eOxnard eleven in a third-round C.I.F. play-off game staged yesterday in the lakes and ooze of the Glendale High gridiron.

The lighter Oxnard gridders battled valiantly throughout, but had to give way to short end runs and line smashes of Tony Frank, husky Burbank back, whose thrusts were given plenty of opportunity to prove profitable, because they started behind a heavier forward wall that consistently outcharged the Beet Pickers. Frank tips the beam at about 180 pounds, and once he got under way in the slush yesterday he was a cinch to skid and plow for plenty of yardage, even though Oxnard tacklers were hanging all over him.

FRANK SCORES EARLY

Frank scored for the Wizards in the first five minutes of play when he smashed nine yards through the center of the Oxnard line for a touchdown that climaxed a Burbank march down the sloppy gridiron. The big Burbank back wiped some of the mud off his uniform and then dropped back to add the extra point with a place kick.

All during the first half the Wizards dominated the play, gaining steadily with their short end runs and line plunges that featured Frank, Blakeman and Shreider, but they were unable to score again.

In the third period Mitchell's punting pulled Oxnard out of trouble on one occasion, while a 15-yard penalty for holding stopped a later Burbank march. Just as the quarter ended Frank tried a place kick from the thirty-five-yard line, but the boot was short and Oxnard took the ball on its ten-yard marker.

Opening the final period, a 15-yard penalty for holding shoved the Beet Pickers back to their 1-yard line, where they were forced to punt. Maubart's pass back to Mitchell was low and the ball was fumbled. Mitchell recovered but was smeared behind his goal line by a flock of Burbank linesmen for a safety that gave the Wizards their last two points.

FUMBLE COSTS SCORE

Just before the game ended Burbank got the ball on Oxnard's ten-yard line, where Mitchell's punt went out of bounds, but a fumble that was recovered by the Beet Pickers cost the Wizards another possible touchdown.

In justice to Coach Belford's Oxnard crew it is quite possible that they would have put up a better struggle on a dry field, for their attack was built around speed and deception rather than power. In the mud the Beet Pickers were unable to skirt around Burbank's heavier line, but they fought hard all the way, just the same. The line-ups:

| Burbank, (9) | | Oxnard (0) |
|---|---|---|
| Joller | L.E.R. | Rice |
| Williams | L.T.R. | Treber |
| Marks | L.G.R. | Bender |

KOSTER IS NATION'S HIGHEST GRID SCORER

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Nov. 26. (AP)—To Fred Koster, fleet University of Louisville halfback, probably will go the nation's honors in individual scoring. One touchdown against Southern College yesterday gave him a season's total of eighteen touchdowns, two field goals and ten goals after touchdown for a total of 124 points. The next-best record reported is that of Mike Wilson of Lafayette with 120 points.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By Paul Lowry

THE Montana rout may have been swell exercise for the Trojans, but it is my guess that it didn't do some of the boys any good. It's so easy for football athletes to forget the weakness of the opposition after they have galloped roughshod over it and run up a score of 61 points. Coming a week before the battle with Notre Dame the Montana affair was hardly the type of a game that could help Howard Jones's boys in any way.

It looked like an early-season stampede—the kind the Trojans should have been playing back in September or early October. If anything brings a tongue lashing from Jones I'll wager it is that Turkey Day slaughter. Hoping to avert any overconfidence it's a cinch Jones will make his athletes take more verbal punishment the coming week than they have had all season. In spite of the Stanford defeat by a 1-point margin U.S.C. still has a chance to become the talk of the country by beating Notre Dame. The Montana affair was part of an unfortunate schedule, but it may work out all right in the end.

They're beginning to pick the All-American teams in the East now, and on them I notice an occasional reference to Coast players. One paper, the New York Evening Post, has resorted to a novel manner of selecting its all-star team. Ten experts of the sports department each picked a team and the players receiving the greatest number of votes made the first team.

The consensus of this operation gives second-team representation to Kaer of U.S.C. as fullback, and third-team representation to Shipkey of Stanford at end and Kelly of Montana at quarterback. The first team is composed of Broda of Brown and Hanson of Syracuse, ends; Wick-

OUTDOOR FIGHT IS POSTPONED

The outdoor fight scheduled for the Wrigley ball park this afternoon has been postponed until Monday night, it was announced last night by Promoter Dick Donald. He said the continued rain made it impossible to complete arrangements for staging his card and that Capt. Seth Strellinger, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, had granted his permission to postpone the program. Harold Adams and Charley Long, the latter said to be the colored welterweight champion, will remain in the top spot, Donald said.

SERVICE ELEVENS MIX ON CHICAGO GRIDIRON

Rain and Snow Change Complexion of Big Game; Teams to Resort to Line Smashing Only

BY WALTER ECKERSALL

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (Exclusive)—Weather conditions, which have changed the complexions of many hard-fought football struggles in the past, will be a dominant factor in Saturday's great battle between the Army and Navy on Soldiers' Field in Grant Park.

Facts About Service Game

Event: Twenty-ninth game between the United States Military and Naval academies for service football championship.

Place: Soldiers' Field, Chicago.

Time: 2 p.m. today, central standard time.

Weather: Probably fair and cold.

Attendance: Estimated at 110,000.

Gate receipts: Approximately $800,000.

Coaches: Capt. Lawrence M. (Biff) Jones of West Point; William A. (Navy Bill) Ingram of Annapolis.

Captains: O. N. Hewitt of Wilkinsburg, Pa., Army; Frank H. Wickhorst of Oak Park, Ill., Navy.

Team Weights: Army line averages 182 pounds; Navy's, 191; Army backfield averages 167 pounds; Navy's 166.

Nineteen hundred twenty-six team records: Army won 7 lost 1 (to Notre Dame;) Navy won eight, lost 0. Army scored 219 points, to 50 for opponents; Navy scored 189 to 67 for opponents.

Series records: Army won 14; Navy won 12; ties 2.

The rain and snow of the last few days are sure to leave the playing surface in a slippery condition, regardless of the untiring efforts of South Park officials to keep the gridiron as dry and firm as possible. These conditions will change the well-laid plans of the coaches, and instead of an open or running attack, the struggle may simmer down to a line-battering game with each eleven on the alert for the proverbial break.

Last year Michigan and Northwestern met on the same field in a sea of mud. Open play was impossible. Neither eleven could do a thing by running, passing or line smashing.

Assuming that the two lines are practically equal, neither will be able to sustain a line-crashing attack. The Army had developed a running offense with Wilson and Trapnell, the fast backs, given the ball. The Navy was counting on winning through the air, but if weather conditions remain as they were tonight, the Navy will be unable to hurl the ball with any degree of accuracy.

RELY ON PUNTING

Punting will be the main weapon of both teams. The kick will be resorted to whenever either is pressed for ground, with the ball in its territory. The ends and tackles will be coached to get down under the kicks to take advantage of fumbles or to recover the ball when it strikes the

Shift Play Hit Hard Blow in Big Ten Ranks

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—The shift play will be virtually barred in Western Conference football next year, through a decision of the athletic directors here tonight, to enforce a two-second stop on all shift plays, before the ball is snapped.

Seeking to complete his schedule, Coach Spears of Minnesota, which gave to the gridiron the famous play a score of years ago, offered to abandon the shift if the other coaches desired, and a gentlemen's agreement was adopted. Coach Robert Zuppke of Illinois was one of the sponsors of the proposal to make shifting players halt for two seconds before a play was started.

DAMP WEATHER HELP TO AMES

Locals Don't Figure to Go Well on Wet Field

Cyclone Line to Outweigh Spaulding's Men

Joe Fleming Hope of Bruins in Big Clash

BY BRAVEN DYER

Having been treated to practically everything in the way of weather during the past week, it seems that we are to experience the effect of a Cyclone or two at the Coliseum this afternoon. Coach Noel Workman's Iowa State gridders, nicknamed Cyclones because of their devastating ways, are all loaded and will be aimed in the general direction of the Southern Branch Bruins. The game is slated to start at 2 o'clock, rain or no rain.

CAPT COE.

This afternoon's contest is not only the first local intersectional game of the season, but also the initial attempt of the Bruins to mop up on anybody from without the Golden State. Other local teams, U.S.C. in particular, have been singularly successful in their intersectional combats, and the Bruins hope to keep up the good work at the expense of their guests from the Midwest.

GOT SLOW START

Having never seen a cyclone, not to mention the Iowa State brand, it is hard for us to pick today's winner. The Ames boys have come along swiftly after starting the season at a snail's pace. They seem to be a strong defensive team, but not so hot offensively. There was no workout for the visitors yesterday, so we're totally in the dark as to their ability, other than via reports from the Midwest, which have to do only with teams which are as little known here as the Cyclones themselves.

Two or three Iowa State scores may prove of interest. The Cyclones defeated Drake, 13 to 7. Notre Dame trimmed Drake, 21 to 0. Workman's team also won from the Kansas Aggies, a tough team, 3 to 2, in which the Aggie points came as the result of an intentional safety. Missouri thumped the Cyclones, 7 to 3, early in the season. Nebraska gave the Ames eleven its worst beating, copping a 31-to-6 game. This was also early in the year. From a glance at these scores it looks as if the Iowa Staters are an in and out bunch, good one day and perhaps not so good the next. They have a lot of company in this respect.

Workman will find the Bruins also a tough outfit defensively. Bill Spaulding's team emerged with the best defensive record in the Southern California Conference, having only 47 points scored against it in seven games. The Branch's worst defeat

Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech Battle as Eastern Football Season Ends

ENGINEERS OUT TO STOP IRISH

Tech Eleven Attempts to Halt Title Rush

Games Today Finish Grid Year for East

Rockne and Squad to Start West After Tilt

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. (AP)—The roll of gridiron musketry will echo from eastern football stadia tomorrow for the last time this season when eight teams call their warriors of the moleskin into the curtain conflicts of the campaign.

Pittsburgh will be the scene of the only struggle which bears upon the fight for titular honors. There the rugged Carnegie Tech eleven, which has been beaten only by Washington, Jefferson and N. Y. U., will seek to stop the march of Knute Rockne's powerful Notre Dame machine to its ninth straight triumph and a claim on the national championship.

The game ranks second in importance only to the Army-Navy classic at Chicago, where the service teams will strike final blows in a game involving both eastern and national supremacy. Navy players, sharing with Lafayette the distinction of boasting an unbeaten and untied record, have before them the possibility of establishing a strong claim on both championships, in the opinion of observers here.

While Lafayette's high-powered offensive has rolled up impressive scores, critics point to the fact that the Middies thus far have come through the most severe schedule attempted by any team on the Atlantic seaboard, with victories over Purdue, Drake, Princeton, Colgate, Michigan, West Virginia Wesleyan and Georgetown.

There will be three other eastern battles between traditional foes, pitting Holy Cross against Boston College, Bucknell against Dickinson and West Virginia Wesleyan against Davis Elkins. One other major eastern eleven will ring down the curtain in the Middle West, with Georgetown tackling Detroit. Last year's scores between teams meeting tomorrow follow:

Army vs. Navy at Chicago, 10-3.
Boston College vs. Holy Cross at Boston, 17-6.
Notre Dame at Carnegie Tech, no game.
Bucknell vs. Dickinson at Harrisburg, Pa., 7-0.
Georgetown at Detroit, 24-0.
West Virginia Wesleyan vs. Davis Elkins at Clarksburg, W. Va., 6-3.

horse of Navy and Cochran of Lafayette, tackles; Connaughton of Georgetown and Hess of Ohio State, guards; Butler of Penn, center; Friedman of Michigan, quarterback; Rogers of Penn and Baker of Northwestern, halfbacks; Joesting of Minnesota, fullback. Paul W. Ferris, the night sports editor of the Post, was sweetest on the Coast boys. He selected Kaer, Kelly and Shipkey on his all-American. Thanks Paul.

Indication that the baseball boys refuse to be downed altogether by the terrific interest in football comes to hand in the shape of the program for the twenty-fifth an nal convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues. This convention, which was held at Catalina Island last year, will be unloaded at Ashville, N. C., this year, and it is to run three days—December 7, 8 and 9.

The North Carolina boys have a hard row to hoe in matching the entertainment and hospitality dished up by Bill Wrigley's boys at the Magic Isle last January. Bill's hotel henchmen and Oscar Reichow and Boots Weber and the other boys certainly did their level best to make things interesting.

MARVIN KRAFT WINS

Marvin Kraft of Edmonton, Can., defeated Bill Walker, local skater, in the fourth leg of the six-day race at the Winter Garden Ice Palace last night. Walker had previously won the first three legs.

OBSERVATIONS

A WATERY welcome seems a sured for the agriculturalists from Iowa State who are due in here having come a couple of thousand miles to do dirt to our home boys from U.C.L.A. at the Coliseum. At the present writing with the sky leaking like a bootlegger's hip pocket there seems to be no question but that the weather man will have thrown the Brun management for a ten-yard loss regardless of what the eminent agriculturalists do to the Bruin team. But then, in all probability the astute Mr. Cunningham will have taken the precaution to insure himself against dampness in which case he will be able to bear up nicely under the storm.

What a swell season of football we're having as far as technichalities are concerned. The first thing we know we'll be having games decided by the Supreme Court. Venice wins the Bay league race but can't represent the league because Venice is in the city of Los Angeles and the City Fathers won't let 'em. Burbank has to take part in the play-off because San Fernando, who won, can't play because of a technicality. Anaheim represents the Orange County League because a couple of other teams haven't finished playing each other. The city schools can't participate at all. Covina didn't win outright but is representing its league. Whew!

Wild Willyum Kelly's departure from the Coast Conference was not exactly in a blaze of glory but nobody can blame Bill. He was the life of the party, such as it was, and if it hadn't been for him the score would have been up somewhere in the hundreds. Bill was the only bird on the Montana squad who could be depended upon to leave his feet in an honest attempt to tackle Elliott and his passing was certainly as nearly perfect as anything that has ever been seen at the Coliseum. Bill had to play against eleven Trojans and ten team-mates and it's no wonder he didn't do much.

THE MOST SPECTACULAR FOOTBALL PLAY I EVER SAW

(Copyright, 1926, by United States, Great Britain and all other countries by North American Newspaper Alliance)

XXIII.—A PASS TO TACKLE

BY WALTER B. ELCOCK
(Dartmouth Star)

After leaving Dartmouth I coached the Washington and Lee University team in 1915. In the game between my team and the University of West Virginia, coached by Sol Metzger, I witnessed a play that year which stands out as super spectacular. It was made by my team in the last two minutes of play and resulted in a victory for us. The play was originated by Maj. Frank Cavanaugh and is one of the greatest passes in the repertoire of plays.

For this game I spent some time coaching my guards against a short kick-off which West Virginia used, but, to my surprise, my instructions were ignored and our opponents started the game with a gain by this very play. Rodgers, now coach at West Virginia, got the ball and shortly thereafter went over for a touchdown, though missing goal.

This demoralized the Washington and Lee players to such an extent that West Virginia blocked a kick a few minutes later, scoring a safety. This gave them a lead of 8 to 0. We held them thus until the end of the first half. During the intermission I exhorted my boys as best I could and did everything possible to stir up their fighting spirit. I succeeded better than I had hoped. We started off like a house afire and scored a touchdown in the third quarter, but missed the goal, leaving the score 8 to 6 against us.

LOST ON DOWNS

After the next kick-off we took the ball down the field to the West Virginia 5-yard line but lost it on downs. We repeated this twice more but lost on downs each time. The third time West Virginia kicked to us on their 40-yard line. We had but two more minutes left for play so our quarterback called for the Cavanaugh play. It was somewhat involved and was made to confuse the opposition off guard. It had been explained to the officials before the game to prevent its involutions being missed. Victor Schwartz, an old Brown quarterback, a well-known and capable official, was referee.

In this play our team lined up in the old standard formation with seven men on the line of scrimmage, the quarter just back of center and the three other backs aligned parallel to the scrimmage line. After the signal was given the fullback dropped back in punt formation and both ends went out 10 yards as if to go down under a kick. Then the left end dropped 1 yard back of the line of scrimmage, thus placing the left tackle on the end of the crimmage line and making him eligible to receive a pass. The right halfback moved into the scrimmage line just before the ball was snapped and the quarter and left halfback acted as protectors for the fullback.

When the ball was snapped the right end went down his side of the field, signaling for a pass; the left end went down toward center, pulling the defensive right back over to cover him. Meanwhile the tackle remained still until the end got a good start, while the halfback from the line rushed down field also. This was done to lead the opposition to expect a pass to the right side of the field to either end or right half back. The fullback, however, threw the pass to the left tackle who went down field as the opposition moved toward the right. He rushed toward the goal line. One player's tried to tackle him, but barely hit his heel. He stumbled but got up and went to the one-yard line before being downed.

COACH PROTESTS

Coach Metzger rushed on the field to protest the play on the claim that the tackle was ineligible to receive the pass and also that he was downed when first tackled. It was shown that when he fell he was free from the grasp of the tackler and the play was ruled legitimate. Metzger was penalized for coming on the field without permission and the ball was placed on the one-half-yard line. Metzger consulted his college officers and then pulled his team off the field. The referee awarded us the game, 1 to 0.

The play clearly caught West Virginia off guard as hoped for, that team being so anxious to stop us they overlooked our left end stepping back, thus making the tackle eligible to receive the pass. Also the signaling of the right end and half pulled the defense from the left side of the field while the left end, crossing in front of the tackle toward the defensive quarter with his arm in the air as though about to receive a pass, pulled the defensive right half out of position.

TOMORROW: At The Tournament of Roses

WHALEN WILL MEET GANS IN VERNON GO

Russ Whalen, the young boxer who came out of the Chicago stockyards to trounce Jack Thompson, the tough negro lightweight, at the Olympic Auditorium last Tuesday night, will tackle another dusky fighter on December 14, when he will fight Baby Joe Gans at the Vernon Coliseum. The match was made yesterday following a physical examination that Gans received at the office of the State Athletic Commission by Dr. Lloyd R. Mace.

Gans was forced to call off a battle with Tommy O'Brien due to a nerve on the left side of his face being paralyzed. He was, however, pronounced okay by the State physician yesterday. Whalen, a newcomer in this section, surprised the local fight bugs by handing Thompson an artistic lacing.

CYCLONES AND BRUINS MIX

Rivals Hook Up at Coliseum This Afternoon

Iowa State Line to Outweigh Local Forwards

Visitors Hope to be Able to Stop Fleming

came at the start of the season when Whittier caught the Bruins napping and scored a 16-to-6 victory.

BRUINS MAY WIN

Iowa's apparent lack of offensive strength and the Bruins' formidable defense record is just about enough to cause us to go on record as favoring the local team to win today—that is if the weather clears up in time to allow the Coliseum to dry out a bit. If the rain doesn't let up it looks like a tough afternoon for the Bruins who are not used to the wet going. The Cyclones may be a lot stronger offensively than we suspect—there's really no way of comparing the two teams.

Workman has a light, but fast backfield operating behind a heavy line. This description also fits the Branch eleven. A glance at weights indicates that the Iowa line will outweigh Spaulding's forward wall considerably. However, the local mentor can bring up his average in a hurry if he wants to, and if Bill finds the going too rough for his lighter forwards, he's sure to shoot Stanley, Epstein and some of the other meaty chaps into the fray.

Joe Fleming's fame has impressed the Cyclones, thanks to the messenger work of Assistant Coach Harry Schmidt who scouted the Caltech-Bruin game for Iowa. Workman spent no small amount of time in Arizona perfecting a defense to stop Fleming.

EYES ON FLEMING

Joe is the West's leading scorer, having rung up a grand total of 108 points during the season. He has scored in every game but the Whittier contest. When he can't make a touchdown he can boot a field goal and three points may look pretty large this afternoon. Thomas of the visitors, is said to be a fine goal kicker so there may be quite a duel between the two. If the field dries out before the game, Fleming will be a constant threat to the Cyclones, be either a touchdown maker or a goal booter. It is unlikely that he will be stopped as he was against Caltech, for the Cyclones don't know him as well as the Engineers did and Joe will be rarin' to go after being halted a week ago.

Southern Branch has done extremely well in the Coliseum, winning the only two games the team has played there. The Bruins trimmed Pomona, 27 to 7, and Occidental, 24 to 7, in the big bowl and will remember these victories in their efforts to rise to the occasion today.

If the ball isn't too slippery there's likely to be a lot of forward passing. Workman played end on the Ohio State team which lost to California, 28 to 0, at Pasadena on January 1, 1921. Dr. John Wilce, a staunch exponent of the aerial game, coached this team and Workman has adopted his style of attack. The Bruins haven't shown many passes this year, principally because they have been able to win their games without 'em. Spaulding is said to have a nice assortment of passing plays ready for the Cyclones.

The stars of the visitors are said to be Capt. Coe, left end, who does the punting; Quarterback Weiss, a slight chap of but 135 pounds; Kingery, a big tackle; Miller, a halfback, and Ayres, center. Incidentally, Ayres wears No. 8 which has been made more or less famous in these parts by Jeff Cravath, Trojan captain.

O'DONNELL FORCED TO QUIT IN RING BATTLE

ST. PAUL, Nov. 26. (AP)—Billy Petrolle, Fargo lightweight, scored a technical knockout over Johnny O'Donnell, St. Paul, in the second round of a scheduled ten-round bout here tonight, when O'Donnell broke his collar bone.

O'Donnell's injury came in the first round, but he continued his attempts to stave off the North Dakotan's rushes until the end of the second, when a physician pronounced him unfit to continue.

BRONCOS BATTLE ST. MARY'S IN TRADITIONAL GRID CLASH

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Collegiate football will be officially written off the 1926 list of sports in this section tomorrow when St. Mary's and Santa Clara clash in their annual game at Kezar Stadium.

Keen rivalry, dating back to 1896, lends a color and tradition to the contest which St. Mary's overwhelming strength, apparent because of an undefeated season, cannot overcome. The only mark on an otherwise perfect season for the Oakland squad is a scoreless tie with Gonzaga.

Despite the impressive record of their opponents, the Broncos of Santa Clara will go into the game, confident and expectant of victory. No prediction was forthcoming today from Coach Adam Walsh but it was apparent he felt his charges would put up the greatest fight of their career.

The game tomorrow will mark the tenth annual battle between the rival Catholic institutions. Records from thirty years ago, when the first contest was played, show that St. Mary's has won five and Santa Clara four games.

Each of the teams went through light workouts today with St. Mary's going through its paces at Kezar Stadium. Coach Slip Madigan said all of his men were in perfect condition.

Officials are preparing to handle a crowd of between 25,000 and 30,000.

EUCLID COPS RACE FEATURE

TIA JUANA RACE TRACK, Nov. 26. Euclid, a cast-off of the Rancocas stable, wore down Deep Thought in the stretch to take the fifth and feature race at six furlongs here today. The winner finished with a length to spare and going away. Sunnyland got the show. Time: 1:12 3-5.

Jockey Howard Elston, who had the mount on the winner, handled the 3-year-old in great shape, saving him for the stretch run. Deep Thought set the pace all the way, but tired near the finish, and was unable to stave off the flying Euclid. Sunnyland held third place safe all the way.

Eighth race, six furlongs, claiming three years and up, purse $609—Friend Joe (Austin) won, El Roble (Craigmile) second, Hardman (Masque) third. Time, 1:14.

Second race, six furlongs, claiming three years and up, purse $600—Slipper Smile (Masque) won, Quintana Rose (Baker) second, Some Cap (Craigmile) third. Time, 1:14.

Third race, five furlongs, purse $600, claiming maidens all ages—Roper (Masque) won, Musketeer (Hesham) second, Sayer M. (Craigmile) third. Time, 1:02.

Fourth race, seven furlongs, claiming fillies and mares, purse $600—Wee Toodler (Peterson) won, Whiff (Laidler) second, Nancy Winet (Dalton) third. Time, 1:28 3-5.

Fifth race, six furlongs, claiming three years and up, purse $1000—Euclid (Elston) won, Deep Thought (Laidler) second, Sunnyland (Peterson) third. Time, 1:12 3-5.

Sixth race, five and a half furlongs, claiming two years, purse $800—Shasta Grande (Elston) won, Miss Fountain (Test) second, Pepper Slot (McClair) third. Time, 1:08 2-5.

Seventh race, five and a half furlongs, claiming three years and up, purse $800—Shasta Limited (Dalton) won, Dutz Boy (Craigmile) second, Valse (Gutterup) third. Time, 1:07.

Eighth race, five and a half furlongs, claiming three years and up, purse $800—Nemex (Gutterup) won, Nantucket (Miller) second, Herdsman (Jones) third. Time, 1:07 1-5.

ARMY AND NAVY BATTLE TODAY

ground, regardless of the fact they are offside and the ball will automatically revert back to the catching eleven.

Then, there is always the possibility of a fumble. Whether the Army or Navy players are coached to recall the ball legitimately is not known, but when the oval is slippery it can be pried loose from its carrier much easier than under favorable conditions. Both teams, however, will be told to hold the ball with both arms and in some cases, certain players will be delegated to act as safety men on all offensive formations.

If the footing is not firm, formations in which the ball carriers reach the line of scrimmage soon as possible will be used. The ball will be given its carrier by direct pass and the linemen depended upon to open the holes. It is hardly possible that any fancy formations in which the double pass or criss-cross is used will be depended upon. However, there may be some plays of the delayed variety and even the hidden-ball trick may be called into commission. At any rate there will be no chances taken with the delivery of the ball to the carrier unless either eleven is behind, in which event caution will be thrown to the winds and plays of all sorts unleashed.

Coach Jones has two great players in Capt. Hewitt and Murrell for the line-crashing attack, while Harry Wilson is very clever at driving on and off his tackles. The Army coach will probably alternate his plunging fullbacks in such a manner as to get the best results. Just who Coach Ingram will use for the line attacking is not known unless it be Hamilton. In fact Navy Bill may send his eleven on the field with instructions to violate all rules of football and use an aerial attack at the start when the ball is dry.

TIGHT DEFENSE

If both teams resort to the line-attack game, then the forward walls of both elevens will be closer together. A tight defensive line is always best under such conditions and Jones and Ingram are the types of coaches who will have their forward walls play in such positions.

The tackles of both elevens, Wickhorst and Eddy of the Navy and Saunders and Sprague of the Army will have to stand the brunt of these powerful attacks. These four rank with the best tackles in the country and if the secondary defense supports them in the proper manner neither eleven is expected to make ground continuously through the other's line.

The centers will also be called upon to do a lot of defensive work. In all probability they will play in their positions in the line most of the time and will not come out in a roving position unless it is an open-and-shut guess that the offending team will forward pass. The centers, too, will be instructed to drive through on all kicks and forward passes as the cold weather combined with the slippery condition of the ball may make accurate passing uncertain and the kicker or passer may be slow to get his attempts away.

GREAT BATTLE

Despite the conditions, it should be a great battle. The blocking and tackling should be about the best ever seen on a western gridiron, while the aggressive charging of the forwards and the Herculean efforts of the ball carriers to gain ground will be intensely interesting to follow.

The proverbial break may decide the issue or the two powerful elevens may play to a scoreless tie. But one thing is certain and that is the players of both teams will be instructed to follow the ball closer than at any time this year and members of both teams will undoubtedly wear the mud cleats to make their footing as firm as possible.

PHELPS COLORADO CAPTAIN

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) Nov. 26 (AP)—Field Phelps, halfback, whose playing put Colorado College well up in the Rocky Mountain Football Conference standing this season, was elected captain of the Tigers for 1927 at a banquet last night. Nineteen letters were awarded the man.

Soccer Teams Preparing for Muddy Battle

Unless the fast Loyola Field is absolutely too muddy for use, the Los Angeles Athletic Club soccer team will play the Sons of St. George outfit there tomorrow. Hollywood and the Vikings have the second game. The first tilt starts at 1 p.m.

Injuries will force the club to field a weakened team. Billie Downie, an outstanding forward, will be out of the game for several weeks as the result of injuries received in a game last week, and Cleve will also be absent from the line. Hurley will be seen at outside left, his old berth, and Bobby Cook will be moved up from the half line to fill the position left vacant by Downie.

The Norsemen are said to be harboring fond hopes of winning from the Sheiks, and the latter may have to step fast if they are to keep the Vikings from accomplishing their purpose.

HAGEN AND PURSEY WIN GOLF SET-TO

SEATTLE, Nov. 26. (AP)—Walter Hagen, national professional champion, and Walter Pursey, Washington State open title-holder, defeated Bon Stein, State amateur champion, and Lee Steil, amateur, 4 up and 3 to play, here today, in an exhibition match. Hagen had a card of 70 for the par 71 course.

REDLANDS MARATHON STARS OUT

REDLANDS, Nov. 26.—The marathon hounds are hard at work. Several of the long-distance runners of Pomona College in training for the big cross-country run of the conference which is to be held in Redlands on December 11 were here today to take a sprint over the three and a half mile course.

The university officials have just laid out the course which runs from the university to the country club and around the hills there over dale and up hill making a trying run. There will be teams from each school in the conference.

MANY COURSES CLOSED TODAY

The California Country Club and many other courses will be closed today, for the first time in local tee and greens history. Heavy rains for the past few days have softened many layouts to a very great extent. The annual Rancho locker tournament, the greatest event on the club calendar will be played today, if possible. Rancho was in better shape to withstand yesterday's deluge than many other courses and unless it continues raining this morning more than 300 members are expected to play in the event.

High School Netmen Play in Downpour

A drizzling rain failed to halt play in the annual Southern California high school tennis championships which opened at Fullerton Union High School yesterday.

Upsets were lacking as all of the eight seeded players entered the quarter final bracket. One Santa Barbara High School youth, Kleth Giethill, California State boy's champion, advanced beyond the field into the semifinal round. Jack Phillips, Los Angeles high captain, and his veteran teammate, Albert "Sonny" Bennett, diminutive junior ace, led the remaining entrants into the quarter final bracket with convincing preliminary victories. Cliff Robins and Leanord Dworkins of Hollywood high also scored easy wins.

Miss Marjorie (Midget) Gladman, Santa Monica sensation, and junior champion of the Southland, kept step with the boy's event by advancing to the semifinal round of the girl's prep tourney. Miss Louise Hoyt, closest rival of the Santa Monica miss made the semifinal of the lower bracket while Miss Kato and Miss Eide, both of South Pasadena entered the round of eight.

Play will continue today with finals of both girl's and boy's singles slated for this afternoon.

Speed Marvels in Trial Heats Today at Ascot

That a new track record will be established at the Ascot Speedway this afternoon is the enthusiastic prediction of officials after they inspected the track. The heavy rain that has been falling has aided the management in the application of calcium chloride to the surface of the track and it was declared that it is many seconds faster than it has ever been before.

The thirty-six entrants will be at the track this afternoon and attempt to qualify in the first eighteen that will be eligible for the 100-mile race. The cars that do not qualify for the century will be run in a consolation race of twenty-five laps. All of the entrants are anxious to be in the first eighteen, and the fastest time ever turned on the local track is expected in the battle for position in the 100-miler. Ed Winfield has been picked by many of the railbirds as the likely winner of the coveted pole position in the start of the century by turning the fastest lap in qualification. Bill Bundy, Mel Kenealy, Lou Meore and many of the other drivers entered are also slated as the winner of the prize position.

final. The boys were shoved up from the special event.

Eddie Diggins knocked Bobby Terry silly in four rounds, and won a technical kayo decision after Terry had gone down six times in the third round.

Johnny Barry defeated Sailor Joyce in a fast four-round slugging match, and Solly Rubin won the curtain raiser over Johnny Gonsales in four rounds.

MAIN-STREET CLUB CARDS LITTLE BOXERS

Joe Burns and Joe Pimenthal, two featherweights, are the headliners in tonight's bouts at the Main-Street Athletic Club in a go which is scheduled for eight rounds. In the semi-wind-up Willie Fitzgerald, who recently knocked out Morris Eagles, is booked to go six rounds with Joe Arieniega of Culver City.

On the same card Clyde Colvin, a colored youth, will take on Stanley Thompson of Pasadena in a special event. In the other bouts on the bill Omar Booker meets Ralst De Weese and Ray Billalobon tackles Tony Archer. Both of these goes are set for four rounds.

VON ELM ENTERED IN MONTEREY TOURNEY

DEL MONTE, Nov. 26. (AP)—George Von Elm, conqueror of Bobby Jones of Alanta, Ga., in the finals of the American amateur golf championship, today sent in his entry for the Monterey Peninsula $5000 open championship to be held at Pebble Beach during December 9-12. This will be Von Elm's first appearance since winning the national amateur title.

NO SCALPING OF ARMY-NAVY DUCATS

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Regular theater ticket brokers discredit reports of big profits being made on resale of tickets for the Army-Navy game.

The unsettled weather is making a poor market for regular operators, and one even worse for scalpers with visions of fabulous prices, brokers said today.

Some single seats along the side lines are reported selling at $50, quite a reduction over recent quotations, and prices as low as $20 each are quoted on tickets for less desirable locations.

The ban has been lifted against German and Austrian horses racing in England.

DOG SHOW OPENS TODAY

Nine Hundred Pedigreed Purps Howl for Favors in Aristocratic Exhibit at Ambassador

More than 900 highly pedigreed dogs, representing eighty-three classifications, extending from the ultra-homely Scotch terriers through the Canine National Blue Book, and shown by more than 500 proud and expectant exhibitors, will be shown in the two-day bench show of the Los Angeles Kennel Club, opening in the Ambassador Auditorium, this morning.

A blue-blooded dog never howls—but the greatest chorus of concentrated "woofs" the West Coast has ever known will start issuing from dogdom's throats this morning and will continue until the judges have made final awards late tomorrow evening.

New York's Madison Garden and Boston's noted blue-ribbon classics have divided national society sporting honors for years past, but Los Angeles is making a bid for international fame with the greatest collection of canine aristocracy ever assembled in one show.

Prominent kennels from all over the United States and Canada will be represented with their finest specimens, and the showing opening this morning promises to be the greatest ever held in the West—and on a par with any ever held in this country.

No one has ever doubted that there were at least 1000 of the truest friends in the world ambling through local streets, but when the number is attributed to pure breds—the bluest blood from centuries of breeding—many may doubt, but at a late hour last night reservations for more than 950 dogs had been booked and at least fifty more are expected as post-entries today and tomorrow.

Mrs. Norman A. Pabst has been selected by the Wolfhound Club of California to judge this beautiful breed of dog. All other awards will be made by Delmont. The show opening today promises to be one of the most enjoyable events on the State social calendar and the sporting element of the pleasurable occasion is expected to keep the auditorium annex crowded for the next two days.

A few of the prominent exhibitors and fanciers include Irving C. Ackerman, H. M. Robertson, Freeman Ford, Leo Meekers, W. G. Ironyear, Mrs. H. O. Dennis, Mrs. Roy C. Davis, Mrs. F. M. Tryon, John O'Melveny, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Rand, Mrs. M. Colverd, Mrs. Grace Greenberg, Maj. J. M. Campbell, A. E. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weller, Mrs. Louis Pierce, H. D. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Christenson and many more.

CHAMPION WORRIED BY LONDOS

Joe Stecher Protests Jim's Running Style of Wrestling

JOE STECHER

That the Stecher household is worried over the style of wrestling used by "Little Jimmy" Londos was indicated yesterday when Tony Stecher told Lou Daro that steps should be taken to make the Greek wrestle and "not make a foot race out of their coming bout."

"Londos wore Joe down because he was the better sprinter," ejaculated Tony, referring to their match a year ago. "He retreated continually, and when Joe finally did catch him, my brother was so tired that his body scissors did not have their usual power."

"This bout must be a wrestling match, not a foot race," concluded the brother-manager of the wrestling champion.

Matty Matsuda, the world's welterweight champion, wants to have a coin flipped to decide who will wrestle in the main-event spot. The Japanese star meets "Tiger" Smith of Kansas. Matty says that inasmuch as he is a champion as well as Stecher, it is only just that a coin be tossed to decide who will go on last.

Big Ten Track Dates Decided on by Coaches

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (AP)—Collegiate track meets of the Middle West were decided today by coaches of the Big Ten and other schools.

The Drake Relays, leading outdoor classic of this section, will be held at Des Moines, April 29 and 30.

The Kansas Relays at Lawrence and the Ohio State Relays at Columbus will be held on the same dates—April 22 and 23.

The tenth annual indoor relays of the University of Illinois will be held February 25 and 26.

The indoor Big Ten championship meet will be held at Northwestern University, March 11 and 12, and the conference outdoor meet at the University of Wisconsin, May 27 and 28.

LINCOLN PARK NET MEN PLAY TOMORROW

Sixteen matches are on the Lincoln Park tennis program for tomorrow. The annual tournament gets under way at 8:30 in the morning and play continues until well in the afternoon. Ben Gorchakoff, Norval Craig, Jack DeLara, Chuck Weesner and all the rest of the junior stars are entered, and it looks like a long, hard tourney before the prizes are given out. The schedule:

9:30—Weesner and partner vs. Reed and partner; Brashear vs. winner Reynolds vs. Yost.
9:30 — Wanamaker vs. Hockenson; Bush vs. Brandenburg.
10:30—Gorchakoff vs. Sanders; Paige vs. Duff.
11:30—Craig vs. winner Wanamaker vs. Hockenson.
12:30—Myers vs. Walls; Lamar vs. Reed.
1:30—De Lara vs. winner Lamar vs. Reed; Patton and partner vs. Leap and Williams.
2:30—Parson and Rost vs. Hawks and Wanamaker; Aiken and Lamar vs. Clinker and Bristol.
3:30—De Lara and partner vs. Gulliford and partner; Johns and partner vs. Lee and Brandenburg.

Odds Near Par for Callahan, De Hate Fight

Quoted odds a week ago on the Callahan-De Hate fight at Vernon Tuesday night have begun to weaken. When the bout was first announced Mushy ruled a strong 2-to-1 favorite. They next went to 10-8 on Callahan. Today bookmakers were placing money at 10-9 on the junior welterweight champion.

The showing of De Hate in his recent fights and his workmanship in the gymnasium the last few days is the other reason for the betting odds to slip back toward the Compton welter. De Hate has been showing like a champion in his workouts. Paul is probably in better shape for a fight now that he has ever been before.

Both Callahan and De Hate are down close to the weight they will make when they step on the scales Tuesday at 2 o'clock. Mushy tipped the beam at 141 yesterday and De Hate weighed 143 1-4. The weight for the match is 142 pounds. Callahan's title will not be at stake. But De Hate's synthetic claim to the Pacific Coast welterweight championship is up for competition.

Young Sam Langford's hand is all right again and he is boxing daily for his six-round bout with Johnny Lamar in the semi-wind-up.

NOTRE DAME GRIDS TO ATTEND BIG BALL

Coach Knute Rockne and his squad of football men of Notre Dame are to be guests of honor at the "Stage and Screen Theatrical Ball" at the Shrine Civic Auditorium after the game with the Southern California Trojans next Saturday.

LOS ANGELES PROS READY FOR CRACK AT OAKLAND TOMORROW

Mike Pecarovich and his Los Angeles pro gridders are all set to chalk up their first win of the season. The Angels meet Oakland at Wrigley Field tomorrow and Pecarovich, who is the playing manager and coach of the locals, expects to knock the spots off the visitors. Oakland took a 10-to-9 decision over the Angels last Sunday but Pecarovich's men are in much better shape now and all confidently expect to flatten the opposition.

Leo Fielding, one of the greatest players ever developed in Uncle Sam's Navy, is now playing with the Angels. He is a halfback and almost single-handed guided the Idaho to fleet titles during the past seven years. He is a full-blooded Indian, crafty, big and speedy.

Benny Tout, the former California Aggie star, has thoroughly recovered from an injury to his hoof. Tout is probably the best halfback in the league. Local fans cheered him to the echo two weeks ago when he tore off several long runs.

Oakland's star is Ducky Grant, former St. Mary's captain. He plays a halfback position and is still rated one of the best open-field runners on the Pacific Coast.

BAKERSFIELD ELEVEN FACES UNDEFEATED LEMOORE TEAM

LEMOORE, Nov. 26. (AP)—Two unbeaten football teams will meet here tomorrow in a semifinal game for the San Joaquin Valley Title. The Lemoore Tigers, champions of Kings, Fresno and Madera counties, will meet the Bakersfield Drillers, monarchs of the football realm in the South Valley counties.

Lemoore has in the past games based its attack on deceptive plays from punt formation with Capt. Bus Phipps doing most of the work. long passes from this formation, Phipps to Odale, have been responsible for most of Lemoore's points this season. Phipps was injured in the Hanford game Armistice Day and may not be able to play a full game. If he is unable to stay in the tussle Lemoore will find it difficult to stop the invasion of the southerners.

FIELDS TO BOX ADAMS

Jackie Fields and Johnny Adams will meet in the ten-round main event at the Olympic Auditorium Tuesday, December 7. Willie "Gig" Rooney and Tom Jones got together in Matchmaker Joe Levy's office yesterday morning and closed the match, weight to be 136 pounds at 2 p.m. the day of the fight, with $1000 weight and appearance forfeit posted with the club.

Rooney's recent suspension expired at 9 a.m. November 25, but the fact that the day was a legal holiday necessitated the preparation and signing of contracts for his stable one day later.

Adams will do his training at his home town of San Bernardino, while Jackie will train for the scrap at the Main Street Club.

In their most recent fights, Adams won a surprise decision over Tommy O'Brien in the Olympic ring, while Jackie knocked out Paddy Mullins in one round at another club.

The six-round semi-wind-up brings together Pat Corbett and Frankie Tierney, while in the fours, Clark Williams and Manuel Frayo and Art Craig and Rudolfo Bimeres will hook up.

Millions of gallons have been sold...thousands of motorists have found complete motor satisfaction in its use! Every day more tanks are being filled with BLUE-GREEN. It has proved itself to be the best motor fuel on the market.

There is no ethyl nor lead-ethyl-tetrate content in Boyce-ite BLUE-GREEN gasoline and unlike other compounds it reduces the poisonous carbon monoxide and ether fumes. Unlike them too, it is not an experiment on the western market. GILMORE HAS LEAD THE FIELD FOR TWO YEARS WITH A COLORED GASOLINE..... ## CAR LOADINGS AT HIGH PEAK

Movement from California in Past Year Increases

Perishables Record Greatest Gain Over Year Ago

Carriers Have More Cars on Hand Than Ever

Car loadings from California in the first ten months of the current year showed an increase of 65,775 cars over the corresponding period of 1925, establishing another high record for all time in the transportation of California products, according to figures just issued by George A. Leithner, district manager of the American Railway Association.

As car loadings are an accepted barometer of business this performance indicates the sound economic basis in California. In the first ten months of this year car loadings in this State aggregated 1,505,587, as compared with 1,439,812 in the same period of the preceding year.

Movement of perishables showed the greatest increase, although sharp gains were reported for grain and grain products, forest products, sand, stone and gravel merchandise in less than car lots. Decreases were recorded in loadings of livestock, ore and coal and coke. Among the perishables, oranges and vegetables showed the greatest gain with figures of increased loadings of 13,923 and 11,146 respectively.

RECORD SHOWN

Figures compiled by Mr. Leithner for the entire territory under his jurisdiction, which includes the States of California, New Mexico and Arizona, for loadings by commodities follow:

| | 1926 | 1925 | Inc. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Grain and grain products | 37,573 | 33,495 | 4,078 |
| Live stock | 51,472 | 56,146 | 4,674* |
| Coal and coke | 19,376 | 19,656 | 280* |
| Forest products | 319,150 | 316,563 | 2,587 |
| Ore | 67,832 | 74,969 | 7,137* |
| Merchandise, L. C. L. | 270,963 | 265,392 | 5,921 |
| Sand, stone and gravel | 189,251 | 183,407 | 5,844 |
| Perishables | 234,546 | 203,707 | 31,139 |

| Totals | 1,672,875 | 1,599,793 | 72,883 |

*Decrease.

The following tabulation shows the perishable loadings for the ten months ended October 31, last, as compared with the corresponding period of 1925:

| | 1926 | 1925 |
|---|---|---|
| Oranges | 41,004 | 27,080 |
| Lemons | 12,514 | 10,136 |
| Grapefruit | 4,885 | 63,726 |
| Tree fruit | 28,280 | 16,918 |
| Vegetables | 31,139 | 20,000 |
| Alfalfa | 4,275 | 1,647 |
| Cantaloupes | 21,800 | 17,458 |
| Melons | 7,541 | 7,546 |
| Potatoes | 7,381 | 5,218 |
| Miscellaneous | 12,286 | 10,047 |
| Totals | 224,346 | 212,707 |

CARRIERS RESPOND

Another record is recorded in Mr. Leithner's statistics relative to car supply and locomotive equipment conditions, showing a better equipment status on the part of the carriers than ever before in the history of railroad operation in the West. On the 1st inst., there were 14,640 surplus cars available, as compared with 6680 cars available on the same date of 1925, an increase of 7960. This equipment includes box, refrigerator, open top, stock, flat and tank cars. There was a surplus of 5007 refrigerator cars, as against 1010 cars last year.

Percentage of bad order freight cars to total cars on line shows a percentage of 5.5 per cent, which is normal and a decided gain for the better over the past year.

Net Income of White Sewing Machine Gains

Substantial gains in both gross and net income are reported by the White Sewing Machine Corporation for the first nine months of this year as compared with the corresponding period of 1925, according to figures released yesterday through the local offices of Bond & Goodwin & Tucker, Inc., bankers who distributed this company's securities on the Pacific Coast early this year.

Net earnings available for interest on the ten-year 6-per cent debentures, of which there are $3,226,500 outstanding, totaled $1,255,087 for the first three quarters of 1926, or at the rate of 7.4 times interest charges. Net income after making provision for Federal taxes was $952,092, compared with $769,305 before Federal taxes for the same period last year. This was equivalent to $9.52 a share earned on the company's 100,000 outstanding shares of convertible preference stock, or 2.1 times dividend requirements. The stock pays $1 a share quarterly.

After all prior charges and dividend requirements on the preference stock, there was a balance of $652,092 available for the 200,000 outstanding shares of common, equivalent to $3.26 a share for the nine months. Total income for the period aggregated $8,818,302, against $7,872,430 for the corresponding nine months last year, a gain of more than 11 per cent.

North American Seeks to Issue Block of Bonds

To consider and vote upon the question of creating a bonded indebtedness to the par value of $5,000,000, a special meeting of stockholders of the North American Investment Corporation has been called for January 27. It was announced yesterday by W. Waldo Coleman, president.

"An operation of this kind," Mr. Coleman said, "will enable the company to raise funds, from time to time, through the sale of bonds to be invested in a diversified list of sound and seasoned securities and under the same restrictions controlling the investment of funds received from the sale of its stock."

The North American Investment Corporation was organized by a group of San Francisco business men in October, 1925, and is modeled after similar organizations which have operated successfully in New England and Europe for many years. Its organization consists of more than $4,000,000 of preferred stock and $802,000 of common stock, all of which is outstanding.

JUNIOR FINANCING POPULAR

Second Mortgages on Home Building Win Respect Through Standardization of Practices

BY EARLE E. CROWE

As part of the general tendency in realty mortgage financing to place the business on a higher plane, the distrust that has attached to junior financing is rapidly disappearing. Underwriting houses specializing in second mortgages and trust deeds based on residential and income property are demanding and successfully introducing the principles of standardization in an effort to eliminate the questionable practices of some of the greedy mortgage companies.

Standardization is also the order of the day in the senior financing of construction projects, but the problems under consideration are not exactly similar. Second mortgages and trust deeds have borne an odium largely because some of the underwriters have been able to exact large discounts and have not been greatly concerned over maturities, equities, methods of payment and appraisals. Under the new era of standardization, the junior mortgage obligations have assumed a definite status as desirable investments and as sound financing for borrowers.

TAKES LEAD HERE

Several mortgage companies in New York and Chicago have taken the lead and one in Los Angeles, the Standard Mortgage Corporation, has set the precedent for the Pacific Coast. The Standard Mortgage, in fact, has gone one step further, and developed a new type of security that is meeting with a ready response in the Eastern money markets.

As junior financing of residential and income property is conducted in Los Angeles by the Standard Mortgage, the discount is eliminated and the cost to the broower brought down to an equitable basis. Eric M. Leaf, president of this company, explained yesterday that the discounts frequently raise the interest charges from a nominal rate of 7 per cent to an actual charge of around 20 per cent. Under the new order of things, the practice, he said, is to charge a flat 12 per cent without discounts.

Before his company or any of the others following the rules of standardization will underwrite junior financing, Mr. Leaf said that the borrower must show an equity of at least 33 1-3 per cent including the second mortgage will only be written, where the first mortgage is for 50 per cent of the appraised value, the second mortgage will only be written for 16 2-3 per cent, bringing the total mortgage indebtedness up to 66 2-3 per cent.

RULES FOLLOWED

Maturities usually run for three years, and always are paid off on the amortization plan before the maturity of the senior loan. In figuring income from the property the practice is, according to Mr. Leaf, to insist upon a 10 per cent gross of the months' basis. The six months' appraised value, computed on a ten riod is used in order to allow for depreciation, maintenance, vacancies, etc.

Mr. Leaf is the originator of a new type of security that his company markets in order to refund its second mortgage loans. Short-term notes running from six months to five years, sold on approximately a 6 per cent basis, are marketed, bearing the unconditional guarantee of the Metropolitan Casualty Insurance Company of New York. As far as he knows, this is the only instance in which a surety company has given its guarantee without the qualification of the usual period of grace. Collateral is deposited by the Standard Mortgage with the Metropolitan Casualty under the terms of the guarantee.

Soundly conducted, the second mortgage companies believe that junior financing will continue to increase in volume. The volume of new construction in the United States is beginning to decrease, it is true, but the respect that the second mortgage and trust-deed financing is winning will probably stimulate projects that otherwise would not be undertaken.

Cool Weather Gives Impetus for Business

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. (AP)—Dun's tomorrow will say:

"As is usual at this time of year, seasonal factors are having contrasting effects on commercial conditions. Inventorying largely diverts attention from other operations in some wholesale circles, but lower temperatures in different localities have given an impetus to retail trade, and holiday demands are an added stimulus to activities in that quarter.

"It is the common expectation that such business will attain very large proportions, and in not a few instances a record volume is looked for. If not providing a new feature, weekly returns of railroad freight traffic nevertheless testify to the continued notably heavy flow of goods through distributing channels, all previous totals of carloadings for this period being surpassed. Against this conspicuously favorable statistical exhibit there are the losses in bank clearings at various centers, especially in the South.

"Weekly bank clearings, $7,332,268,000. A decrease of 4.8 per cent from the last year."

EARNINGS OF RAILS IRREGULAR

Three Roads Reporting Yesterday Show Losses and Three Gains

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. (AP)—Net operating income of the six railroads of the country reporting yesterday for the month of October showed an aggregate increase over the figures for October, 1925. Three of the roads reported gains for the month and three losses, although they all showed substantial increases for the ten months period.

The Southern Railway earned $14.01 a share on its common stock, after preferred dividends, in the ten months, against $12.74 a share in the same period of 1925. Surplus rose to $19,309,000 after taxes and charges, from $17,782,000.

The Reading Company had a profitable October, gross income gaining more than $2,000,000 and net operating income about $1,233,000 over October, 1925.

The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific reported increases of $363,562 in October gross revenues and $114,633 in net operating income over October last year, making a gain of $4,171,536 in net for the ten months of the current year.

Gross revenues of the New York Central for October were $679,828 less than in October, 1925, and net operating income also declined $371,841. Totals for the ten months, however, show an increase of $12,198,939 in gross and a gain of $2,982,581 in net operating income over the same period of 1925.

October earnings of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul were under those of October, 1925, gross revenues declining $760,000 and net operating income $567,744, but net for the ten months this year was $15,302,942, a gain of $2,303,464 over the 1925 period.

The Detroit, Toledo and Ironton, Henry Ford's road, reported a sharp decline in October earnings, gross being $424,455 less, and net operating income $151,834 against $486,332, in October, 1925.

London Daily Radio

BY ARTHUR W. KIDDY

(Copyright, 1926, New York Evening Post, Inc.)

LONDON, Nov. 26. (By Wireless)—French francs touched 131 to the pound sterling today, and the worst feature of the wide fluctuations recently is the growing conviction of the French people that the government lacks the power to control such movements, which in some respects is as disturbing as the previous slump.

Today's markets were lifeless and featureless, except perhaps for the firmness of investments on the slightly premature optimism about the monetary position of London.

After general stillness, the closing was distinctly cheerful. Rails were heavy on dividend fears and among the iron, coal and steel shares, Armstrong Whitworth was flat, though it is believed an important statement is coming with regard to a reorganization scheme by a strong committee.

Investments were steady and French descriptions rallied at the close on the reaction in the franc to 124½. An easier feeling in the money market is indicated by the fact the treasury bills were allotted at under 4 per cent, which is distinctly better for the government than a fortnight ago. Japanese 6 per cents were strong in sympathy with those in America, attention being given to the fact that for the first time bonds give a lower yield to your investors than they do here.

SALES OF STRUCTURAL STEEL IN WEEK GAIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. (AP)—Structural steel sales last week approximated 33,000 tons, about 8000 tons more than the week before, with new business exceeding 40,000 tons.

SAFETY ZONES FOR DOLLARS

Practical Ways of Investing in Home Ownership, Savings Accounts, Life Insurance and Dependable Investment Securities

XXVI.—THE LEGITIMATE OIL BUSINESS

In spite of all the worthless oil stocks which unscrupulous promoters have distributed there are sound oil stocks and sound oil bonds. The industry is not a fly-by-night business. It is here to stay. Its present investment is about $10,000,000,000.

Back in 1882 a group of men started into the oil business with about $70,000,000. When the Standard Oil Company was broken up by Federal decree in 1911, thirty-four separate companies were evolved from that investment. Up to that time it had distributed about $750,000,000 in cash dividends and had a market value of $600,000,000. In the next ten years about $900,000,000 was paid in cash dividends, and, through reinvestment of surplus earnings the market value increased $1,700,000,000. Such was the beginning of the oil industry. The pioneers, that is, the Standard group, no longer control. It has grown too big for them. There are now a large number of strong independents.

The oil industry is, of course, linked up with the automobile industry. Going back to 1920 we find 7,500,000 motor cars registered. Today there are about 20,000,000. In 1920 the consumption of gasoline approximated 4,250,000,000 gallons. The annual rate of consumption now approximates 10,000,000,000 gallons. In 1920 exports of gasoline were in the neighborhood of 6,800,000 gallons. They will probably be at least twice that in 1926. The use of automobiles in other countries is just beginning on a large scale.

The industry as a whole is large. It has become basic. To be sure price cuts every now and then seem disconcerting, just as the industry is recovering from several years of relatively unprosperous times. Yet those price cuts insure stability. They indicate that the present statistical position, which is the strongest for several years, will be maintained.

Good profits in any industry attract temporary investment; wildcatters, they are called in the oil business. They jump in and unsettle the trade in an attempt to make a quick profit and clear out. The most effective way to keep them out is to make it unprofitable for them to operate. That means price reductions, and temporary unsettlement, yet by that method conditions are maintained at a more stable level, and in the long run stability means a fair return on the capital invested.

Sale of White Star Ship Line Expected Soon

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. (AP)—Negotiations for the sale of the White Star Line ships of the International Mercantile Marine to the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company for £7,000,000 are nearing completion, Wall street heard late today.

Directors of the I. M. M. met this afternoon and reported only routine business contracted but it was learned that the sale had practically been decided upon, and that official announcement would come from London.

CAPITAL INCREASED

General Motors Acceptance will Sell 60,000 Shares

General Motors Acceptance Corporation, which operates the service employed in credit purchases of General Motors products, announces that the New York State Banking Department has approved an increase in its capital stock of 60,000 shares. This stock will be sold to General Motors Corporation at $125 per share, thus providing $7,500,000 of additional capital funds.

With this increase General Motors Acceptance Corporation has capital, surplus and undivided profits of approximately $35,200,000. All of the stock is owned by General Motors Corporation.

NEW YORK BUILDING GAINS

Prophecies of Downturn Proven False by Figures for October; Industry Still on Sound Footing

[Copyright, 1926, by New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. (Exclusive)—Although prophets had again concluded that the long-awaited downturn in building was at hand a compilation from Albany today reveals that the last quarter of 1926 opened with unprecedented activity in the State of New York. Permits issued in twenty-three cities during October represent a value of $131,000,000, which is $7,000,000 in excess of the high level that was established for the same month a year ago. Virtually all of this increase represents expansion in New York City, where, incidentally, permits for October represented a total valuation of $120,000,000, or $43,000,000 more than for the month before.

These figures give evidence that a drop is precipitous. The new seasonal peak in building for New York City may be expected in October, since the movement last year at that time received the same sort of impetus from plans for winter building. That is interesting as a guide to the use of building statistics, but it robs the new figures to a degree of their barometric value since, as it happens, the volume of new building indicated in Westchester and the up-State cities fell off in October. James A. Hamilton, industrial commissioner, said today. The decline up-State was widespread and included all but three of the eighteen cities. Permits issued during October were valued at $8,000,000, 20 per cent less than in October, 1925.

There is no reason in the new record figures for October, therefore, to conclude that the general building trend has started upward again, for in time it may be found that a new seasonal influence stirs activity in the New York City district each year at about this season. Building operations for the country as a whole reveal a tendency to decline, but nowhere in the reports is it indicated that the drop is precipitous. The rebuilding program in this country has become sufficient in itself to preserve a heavy building volume annually and so long as the credit structure is sound, activities in the industry will continue large, even if at a diminishing rate.

Perhaps no major industry will be so closely watched during the next six months, for the course of the prosperity curve in this country just now is closely woven with that of building. It was the rise and expansion of the building movement more, perhaps, than the increased activity of any other single industry that gave the present period of prosperity its momentum, and many authorities hold to the view that any serious downturn in building would bring a corresponding contraction in general business. As it happens there is no indication of a serious downturn in building, however, and even if 1926 proves to have been the peak year it may be some time before any marked decline occurs. Certainly in the past, peak years in building have not been followed by drastic declines, although they have frequently been followed by moderate recession in the industry.

NEW FINANCING FLOOD SOON

Offerings on Early Docket, Including $120,000,000 Issue of Standard Oil, More Than $300,000,000

With business prosperous on the whole, with income of the American people at a high level and generally managed without extravagance, and with commodity prices stable and money rates easy, the stage is set in the opinion of investment dealers for the prompt absorption of more than $300,000,000 of securities scheduled to come into this market within the next two or three weeks.

Investment dealers, whose inventories have been allowed to run low during the recent period of numerous holidays, are optimistic over the future outlook with a score or more of large foreign and domestic issues expected to be offered shortly.

While the issue of $120,000,000 Standard Oil Company of New Jersey debentures is being offered first to preferred stockholders, whose stock will be accepted in payment at 115 flat on December 15, it is hardly likely that there will be any public offering. However, there is plenty of other financing on tap to permit dealers to round out their inventories with a wide variety of offerings.

OTHER ISSUES

Offerings announced for the American market soon, including a few issues not announced, but expected, include:

|---|---|
| Standard Oil Company of New York | $70,000,000 |
| Port Authority of New York | 20,000,000 |
| City of Yokohama | 26,000,000 |
| City of Berlin | 15,000,000 |
| City of Antwerp | 15,000,000 |
| City of Los Angeles | 15,000,000 |
| Consolidated Gas of Baltimore | 7,000,000 |
| Other California municipals | 14,000,000 |

There are other important loans under discussion in financial circles and likely to develop in the near future. Two major pieces of public-utility financing are pending for properties on the Pacific Coast and Middle West. Two railroads have begun an extensive construction program in Texas which will eventually bring them into the market for money. The Cuban road program for which there has been active bidding from American engineering concerns, will also lead to financing on a large scale.

It is possible that the Berlin and Antwerp loans will be a forerunner of a number of other loans to German and Belgian municipalities and industrial enterprises. Italy is likely to turn to the American market again for funds for some of her public-utility properties.

LATER PROGRAM

It is expected that the Southern California Gas Company will within the next few months issue a portion of the $35,000,000 of bonds recently authorized by the Railroad Commission. The company increased its bonded indebtedness to provide for extensions and betterments to its properties.

Early in the spring the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation will probably sell an issue of $10,000,000 of 5 per cent first and general refunding mortgage gold bonds to retire securities of higher interest rate. An application was made to the commission several weeks ago, but later was withdrawn as it was deemed inadvisable to permit the funds derived from the sale to lie idle prior to the time of redemption of the 7 per cent securities in the spring.

Stimulated by continued easy money, bond prices have moved again into new high ground. Dow Jones average of forty bonds has reduced the gap separating it from the 1917 record peak to a still smaller fraction of a point, rising to 93.97 yesterday.

roads tending to dampen bullish enthusiasm. Heaviness of the Van Sweringen issues was attributed to the delay in announcing the revised "Nickel Plate" merger plan. Rock Island common and Frisco common touched new high prices in expectation of an early declaration of dividends on the former.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

With exception of raw sugar, which declined 1-8 cent a pound, most of the commodity markets pointed upward. Active wheat futures rallied over a cent a bushel and cotton closed 14 points up to 6 points lower. Coffee prices advanced slightly.

Another sharp rally in French francs, which ruled above 3.80 cents and the weakness of South American currencies were the contrasting features in the irregular foreign exchange market. Demand sterling held steady around $4.84½.

Wheat Values Gain as Rains Hit Argentina

CHICAGO, Nov. 26. (Exclusive)—Heavy rains in Argentina, which may delay harvest, and also damage the new wheat crop, combined with covering of a short line of December, crudited to a leading local professional, was responsible for a sharp upturn in values. The finish was at the top at the gains of 1¼@1¾c. December closed at 1.37@1.37¼, May 1.40@1.40¼ and July 1.31¾@1.32. Local traders were bearish and sold freely early, as did houses with northwestern connections, but there were fairly liberal resting orders to buy around 1.39 for May, while at 1.40 and over there was selling by holders of offers.

Corn showed a firm undertone throughout the day, strength in wheat and unfavorable weather in the Central West being a factor, and the close was ¼@⅝c higher, with December 79¾, May 80@80⅛ and July 83, while oats were ¼@⅝c higher, with December 42¼ and May 46¼, while rye was ¾@¾c higher, with December 91¾ and May 99¾.

Cables expressed fears of damage to the new Argentina wheat crop and there were intimations that estimates on the exportable surplus would have to be reduced. Hail was reported in the province of Buenos Aires. The latter matter, however, failed to reflect any appreciation of consequence and closed unchanged to ¼c lower for the day, with late cables reporting weather as clearing.

Liverpool wheat closed 1¼@1½d higher than Wednesday, with Argentine weather and Eru freights from that country the main influence, and shorts covered rather freely in the December. Winnipeg closed ¼@1¾c higher, with the November covering least advance. The pool was credited with being a liberal seller in that market. A liberal export business was put through in Manitobas over the holiday, with sales of around 1,000,000 bushels in all positions. The trade look for rather moderate world's shipments for the week, as North American shipments of 9,343,000 bushels were against 11,096,000 bushels last year and 9,224,000 bushels for the week previous. Russia cleared 2,591,000 bushels for the week, and that country has made fairly liberal sales to the United Kingdom in the past few days.

While the bulk of the trade in corn was of a local character, there was no material pressure, with offerings coming largely from long holders. Favorable weather conditions prevailed in the Central West, and hedging is making rather slow progress in some sections, with fresh below expectations in Illinois. Country offerings were small, with the eastern demand slow and the spot basis showed relatively little change. Considering the unfavorable weather earlier in the season, the quality of the new grain arriving is surprisingly good.

Scattered longs sold December oats, while cash interests took the most for delivery and sold May at 4c difference, changing over hedges. Bulk of the trade was of a local character, with prices holding within narrow limits. Rye was influenced largely by the action of wheat and prompted religious. There was changing between December and May at 2c difference. The seaboard reported a limited foreign demand.

Land prices advanced and closed around the best of the day, with not gains of 2¾c on November and 1¾@1⅞c on other deliveries. Wheat ship were 1¾c higher and bolties 2¾c higher. Trading in all was light, with foreigners the best sellers of May bid.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—Steers were slow and scarce in yesterday's moderate cattle supply and the few sales made were around the steady mark. Bids stock on the other hand were numerous and were fairly active at fully steady prices, especially the small supply of good cows and heifers. A car of 991-pound northern steers topped at 8.25. Other steer sales were mostly light weight kinds for feeding purposes from 6.50@6.50, and a few plain kinds for slaughter from 7.25@7.75.

A car of strictly good 980-pound northern heifers topped at 7.00, while a four-car string cashed for 6.90. Load lots of plain calves, mostly 265 to 325-pound weights, cashed from 8.00@8.50, with common kinds and extreme heavies from 5.50@7.50.

DEMAND FOR WOOL HELD RESTRICTED

Greater Part of Business in Past Week for Account of Large Worsted Mills

BOSTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

"The demand for wool this past week has been very restricted, most of the business being for account of a few large worsted mills, who were buying domestic wools of three-eighths grade and finer. Prices have been rather in favor of the buyer, although not materially so., Texas fall hair has all been cleared, mainly in the range of 25¼ to 27¾.

"The strength of the London opening has been encouraging to the trade here, while the foreign primary markets have continued firm, and the consensus of the world trade is that prices are reasonably well stabilized.

"In the manufacturing end of the business there was been little change. The large worsted plants are generally busy, while the smaller plants are possibly slightly less active.

"Mohair still is quiet, but steady.

"The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston January 1, 1926, to November 24, 1926, inclusive, were 184,168,000 pounds, against 160,358,300 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1926, to November 24, 1926, inclusive, were 314,224,867 pounds, against 269,354,800 pounds for the same period last year."

FISHERIES BAN OF MEXICO HIT

International Commission Gets Washington View

Arrests Outside of Three-Mile Zone Held Illegal

Two Interpretations of Treaty Widely Different

That Mexico is without authority in arresting American fishing boats outside the three-mile limit is the belief of Secretary of State Kellogg, it was revealed at an informal conference yesterday by members of the International Fisheries Commission at San Pedro.

"The Department of State believes no such authority exists," read Kellogg's letter, which was brought to the meeting by Henry O'Malley, director of the United States Bureau of Fisheries at Washington.

The statement substantiates the American commissioners' interpretation of the treaty which recently brought the commission into being, but is in direct variance with the interpretation and enforcement by the Mexican patrol boat officials off Lower California. Even officials of the Mexican fisheries offices at San Diego and San Pedro have been of the opinion that Mexico has the right to the waters fifteen miles offshore.

Attorneys who studied the Department of State's letter yesterday declared it was manifest the American government would file protests against any seizure of American boats outside the three-mile zone.

It also was indicated by the department that when American boats did not intend to fish in Mexican waters they should clear rather than the high seas, instead, and suggested the fishermen, be so advised.

Mexican fisheries officials also have interpreted the treaty as granting certain powers of patrol and other enforcement acts to the commission, with which Kellogg's letter again differs. The letter asserted it is beyond the power of the commission to enforce its recommendations until sanctioned by Washington.

Yesterday's session was entirely informal, as Mexico was represented by only one member, Senor F. N. Pregoso, whereas unanimous action is required by the entire commission. The day was devoted chiefly to arranging a day for the next formal conference, now tentatively set as around January 15, and in Mexico City.

The session will conclude today, Mr. O'Malley returning tonight to Washington and Senor Pregoso proceeding to San Diego, where he will take charge of the Mexican fisheries office.

CONCERN FELT FOR OVERDUE LUMBER SHIP

Serious concern over the lumber steamer Daisy Gadsby, of the S. S. Company, owners, as the vessel is now twenty days overdue from Astoria. Four days are felt too long a time for a vessel to be delayed by a storm, and it is feared that the steamer has run into any coastal port on account of the storm blowing from the south-east, was verified yesterday by C. G. Lines-agent for the company. A Francisco headquarters of the company, concern about the vessel was felt re-peatedly, the Daisy Gadsby sailed out of Astoria, Wash., on November 7 for Los Angeles Harbor with 600,000 feet of lumber for Los Angeles Harbor. She should have put in here the afternoon of the 24th inst.

Magnitude of Los Angeles' motion-picture industry was brought to the fore by announcement yesterday by the Eastman Kodak Company of the export shipments during 1926 approximately 11,180,000 feet of motion-picture film, valued at $1,565,200, will have arrived at Los Angeles Harbor, via the Panama Canal.

The water method of shipment has been found in that insurance for the commodity is much easier obtained, it was said.

Shipments of film to this port, according to the Eastman Kodak Company, average 215 cases, against 600 cases for the 1925 total. Of the 1926 total 265,320,000 feet was enough to twice girdle the globe with the celluloid strips.

A record shipment of bananas, 16,915 bunches, arrived yesterday from the Panama Canal aboard the steamer Lake Lincoln Merchant, it was announced by Capt. J. W. Anderson, commander, in command of the vessel. The bananas were brought up coastwise from Central America and consigned to the United Kingdom and North European ports. Also brought in two cabin passengers.

Grayson & Hoyt's Pacific-Gulf-Caribbean steamer Puget Peten will arrive here this morning from the north to load for Galveston, taking about 2,000 tons of freight, it was announced yesterday by Capt. Puget Peten was only slightly damaged, officials said, when she struck a reef in the Gulf of Tehuantepec, but will be repaired at the first port. Sister ship, the Puget Sound, was damaged, officials said, when the accident occurred near Puget Sound, was damaged, officials said, when the accident occurred near Puget Sound, was damaged, officials said, when the accident occurred near

POISON GAS BAN BACKED BY COOLIDGE

President to Urge Senate Ratify Geneva Measure Outlawing War Fumes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. (Exclusive)—President Coolidge will urge ratification by the Senate of the Geneva protocol forbidding the use of poison gas in warfare at the coming session.

This was made clear at the White House today when it was stated that the President feels that as the result of the stand taken by this government at the Washington Arms Conference, the United States is committed to the principle embodied in the Geneva protocol.

The President's contention is that the provisions of the Geneva protocol are substantially the same as were adopted by the powers at the Washington conference in 1922.

The Washington gas agreement, however, has never been made effective as France has refused to ratify it.

Today's pronouncement by the President came only a few days after the American Legion, through its national commander, had protested to the President against ratification of the protocol.

LIVE OAK

By—
OCTAVUS ROY COHEN

JIM CARNEY dozed luxuriously in the shade of a giant live oak. He gazed through half-closed eyes at the glorious tapestry effect made by the setting sun as it filtered through the great bunches of Spanish moss pendant from the gnarled branches.

It was a scene of superb tranquility untinctured by thrum of motors or clangor of trains. To Jim's left, at the foot of the hill, spraddled the little South Carolina village, somnolent and contented. To the right the road wandered uncertainly into the piny woods. An immediately behind him was the sprawling Reiter farmhouse: whitewashed castle of a very considerable tract of fertile acreage.

It was a vista of rural serenity: of a quiet little town and of miles and miles of corn and cotton against a background of pine. Jim's eyes moved restlessly to the right, where the road disappeared into the Somewhere—and he fidgeted. Time to be going. He had remained in this place for more than a week now. The clarion call of the open road was again sounding imperiously. Queer that he had remained this long. Nice little place . . . but it was worked out. Jim Carney, itinerant sign painter, touched the pack which contained his scanty wardrobe and the tools of his trade: brushes and paint. A happy life his: a wandering from village to village, painting signs—fancy signs with queer figures and marvelous curlicues which delighted the rustic mind.

Suddenly the young man straightened his lithe, well-muscled figure. From the farmhouse behind him came the unmistakable sounds of quarreling, the quarreling of a man and a woman; then a shrill cry in the girl's voice, "take your hands off me!"

Jim muttered to himself as he started without question toward the house: "That'll be Bud Reiter and his daughter . . . "

He crossed the veranda. The French windows sprawled open, and the scene in the parlor was plainly visible: Bud Reiter, swarthy and grizzled, lashed to a fury by the slender, trim tense little figure before him. The man held his daughter's wrist in a steely grip, and she sobbed with the futile effort to free herself. Carney's voice broke in placidly.

"Something wrong?"

Their eyes flashed to him. The man nodded; he knew Carney and rather liked the young stranger. "Plenty," he said gruffly.

"Yes, plenty," echoed the girl furiously. "He's trying to live my life for me. Says I must sta in the house—"

"You're an engaged woman. Suppose Walter heard about your carryings on?"

"Who says I've been carrying on?" "I do. Folks have seen you walking at night with a man—when I thought you were sleeping. You're ruining me and yourself—"

"Telling me I'm not decent?" She swung toward Jim Carney. "You heard him say that, didn't you?"

"Well, no—not hardly, that, miss." Jim's voice was a soothing drawl. "I just heard him say that you had been walking out nights with a man when he thought you was sleeping."

"Hasn't a girl got a right—"

She tore from her father's grasp and flung herself across the old red sofa. Her sobs filled the room.

"Sure. But he said you was engaged. Of course, I'm a stranger here—but if I lived here regular and was engaged to a pretty girl like you—" He turned toward Bud Reiter. "Is she really engaged?"

"Yes, she's engaged. And to a durned fine fellow. But she's cutting up—"

"Prove it!" she challenged.

"All right, I will." Bud pulled his daughter closer and touched the white column of her neck. "Where's that locket I gave you—that amethyst locket?"

Her eyes narrowed, and she seemed to shrink away. "I—I guess I lost it," she evaded.

Bud was keen. "I gues you didn't. You gave it to that fellow you been meeting at night." His voice became threatening. "I'd like t get my hands on him just once; breaking up an engagement between two nice, clean young folks—"

"You never can be awfully positive about such things," suggested Carney. "Huh! I reckon when a man has raised a girl he knows when she's telling the truth. And I guess I know too that this is all foolishness, because she's really crazy about Walter."

Carney questioned the girl direct: "Are you?"

For a moment she stared wordlessly. Then she nodded with a barely perceptible gesture.

Jim Carney shook his head as he turned back to the old man. "You see," he said quietly, "you can't always tell. You were dead wrong. She really did lose the locket."

"She did!"

"Sure." The stranger reached into the breast pocket of his olive drab shirt. Quite calmly he extended toward Bud Reiter the amethyst locket. "I found it the other day in the road between here and the village."

For a second the girl stared at the young man. Then she did a very queer thing. She tore from her father's grasp and flung herself across the old red sofa. Her sobs filled the room. Jim Carney grinned.

"If you know her real good," he said, "you'll get the same hunch I've got—and that is she's kinder keen to straighten this out with Walter."

Bud Reiter nodded. "Durned if you ain't right, son. Wimminfolks is queer; even a man's own."

Jim moved slowly out of the house, and Bud Reiter followed him to the live oak. The sun was dropping below the horizon in a red-gold ball. The road beckoned. "I'm drifting along, Reiter. Next town only six miles away." He hoisted the pack across his shoulders and turned his face into the west.

Bud Reiter extended his hand. "Sorry to see you leave us, Jim. And I'm right glad you found the locket. Of course, the thing ain't worth much—"

"Ain't it?" Jim Carney smiled into the older man's eyes. "I don't know a lot about such things. You see, when I first got hold of it, I kind of hoped it might prove to be pretty valuable."

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

Seis Estados Duramente Castigados por el Huracán

MEMPHIS (Tennessee) Noviembre 26.—Seis estados del sur y suroeste, caminando a tientas por entre enmarañada masa de escombros dejados por la tormenta que vino aquí del noroeste, contaron setenta y siete muertos y como 200 heridos, víctimas del huracán. Los daños materiales se estiman en cientos de miles de dólares.

Después de filtrarse culebrando a través de las montañas de Ozark, la tormenta asotó con la mayor furia, ayer tarde, los contrafuertes de Ozark, tomando luego por la sirga de Heber Springs (Arkansas), y entrándose después por Missouri con todas las proporciones y características de un tornado de mediados de otoño, para barrer por media docena de condados de Arkansas, pasar por Luisiana, torcer luego al este, y castigar a Mississippi, Tennessee y Alabama.

En Tejas, la perturbación atmosférica levantó una tormenta de arena, que ocasionó la muerte de una persona y causó grandes estragos materiales en el condado de Lubbock.

La población de Heber Springs es la que más sufrió, pues la mitad de ella queda en ruinas, más de veinte de sus residentes perdieron la vida, y cincuenta resultaron lesionados.

En Missouri, lo más recio del vendaval cargó sobre Brandsville, Competition y Big Piney; en tanto que en Arkansas, los condados de Conway, Grant, Cleburn, Jackson, Jefferson y Yell tuvieron bajas por muerte.

Los lugares más castigados de Luisiana fueron los campos de gas y petrolíferos de las parroquias de Claiborne y Moorehouse, y los distritos agrícolas que se hallan alrededor de Mer Rouge y Haynesville. En Mississippi sufrieron las fincas agrícolas cercanas a Marks, en el condado de Quitman.

Esta mañana temprano pasó la tempestad a Tennessee, y se calmó, después de causar ligeros daños materiales por la población de Smyrna y sus aledaños.

Las pérdidas de vidas en Arkansas subían ya esta noche a cuarenta y dos, la mitad de las cuales correspondían a Heber Springs; los heridos ascienden a más de 100.

El gobernador Terral, de Arkansas, estaba hoy en la noche en espera de informes de los oficiales de la Guardia Nacional enviados a la zona azotada por la tormenta, para determinar lo que urgentemente se necesita en hombres y dinero, a fin de atender sin demora a lo que más imperiosamente reclame auxilio. Los periódicos del Estado, respondiendo a peticiones de ciudadanos de Heber Springs, están listos para empezar una campaña en solicitud de fondos de socorro.

Dice Schurman que las Deudas Europeas las Paga el Turista Norteamericano

BERLIN, Noviembre 26.—En opinión de Jacob Gould Schurman, es el turista norteamericano quien virtualmente paga la deuda de guerra europea a los Estados Unidos. Acabado de llegar de los Estados Unidos a su puesto de embajador de dicho país en Alemania, fue anoche el señor Schurman el principal orador en la comida de Acción de Gracias de la colonia norteamericana de Berlín.

El turista de los Estados Unidos, declaró, deja anualmente mil millones de dólares en Europa. Ademas de esto, los Estados Unidos convinieron en reducir a cuarenta centavos cada dólar de las cantidades que les deben las naciones extranjeras. Cuando Europa comience a hacerse cargo de esto, adoptará una actitud diferente en lo tocante a las deudas.

Después de poner de resalto que, sólo el gobierno federal había perdido cincuenta mil millones de dólares, por los que los Estados Unidos no exigían ni reparaciones ni territorio, hizo ver el señor Schurman que la prosperidad de su país se debía principalmente, entre otras cosas, al hecho de que los norteamericanos trabajan más activamente que cualquier otro pueblo, con excepción de los chinos y los hindúes.

Arresta la Policía a dos Jóvenes a Quienes Supone Autores de una Serie de Crímenes

Ayer a última hora anunció la policía que, con la aprehensión de James Sutton, de 24 años, y Teddy J. Farrell, de 23, van a resolverse numerosos casos de asaltos y robos perpetrados últimamente en el barrio de Wilshire.

Los mozalbetes han sido identificados por dos de las víctimas de esos robos, según relatan los tenientes detectives Craig y Clendenning. En el cuarto que habitaban en la calle de Sentous, 1215, donde fueron detenidos, los detectives recobraron, según manifiestan, objetos robados, por valor de más de $1000.

Agregan que buena parte de este botín fue sustraída de la casa del teniente detective Walter Barr, sita en el 722 de la calle de Alvarado Sur, la noche del 30 de Octubre. Figuran en él carabinas, escopetas y artes de pesca, por valor de más de $500. Fueron identificados otros objetos de valor hallados en manos de los sospechosos, como propiedad de la señora O. L. Edmonds, cuyo apartamiento, en el mismo citado inmueble de la calle de Alvarado, fue robado también la noche del 30 de Octubre. Se hallaron el botín guardado bajo llave en un armario. Los sospechosos dijeron no tener conocimiento de que estuvieran esos objetos en el armario, arguyendo que sólo la patrona de la casa tenía clave para él.

Sutton y Farrell han sido también identificados por Ira Humphries, empleado de la Lecheria de Burr, como los bandidos que lo atracaron la mañana de este último domingo, frente al número 1125 de la calle de Fedora Sur, y le robaron $30. Farrell ha sido asimismo identificado por A. Martin como uno de los dos individuos que golpeó en la cabeza a C. Koch, en una tentativa de atraco, la noche del sábado proximo pasado, frente a la casa en que viven, sita en North Park View, 217.

Las pesquisas que dieron por resultado la detención de estos pájaros de cuenta fueron dirigidas por el capitán ayudante de detectives Cato, quien manifiesta tener en su poder informes, de los que quizá podrá interferse la participación de estos dos jovenes en muchísimos otros robos simples y robos con fractura o escalo.

WOMAN CONQUERS FEARS

Husband Delighted and Home Happier

St. Paul, Minn.—"Here is a little advice I would like to have you put in the papers," Mrs. Jack Lorberter of 704 Dellwood Place wrote to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company. "If young women want to keep their health and strength for the next thirty years of their lives, it is best to start in right now and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have tried the Compound myself and received fine results." In describing her condition before taking the Compound, she writes, "I was afraid in my own house in broad daylight, I used to lock the doors and pull down the shades so that nobody could see me." One day a booklet advertising the Vegetable Compound was left on her porch and she read it through. In so doing, she found a letter from a woman whose condition was similar to her own. "I bought the Vegetable Compound," Mrs. Lorberter continued, "and have had fine results. The condition I was in made me a burden to my husband. Now I ask "How is housekeeping?" and he says, "It is just like being in Heaven!"

Contest for Championship Will Feature Banquet of Police Officers

Contest for the pea-eating championship of the Los Angeles Police Department will be waged by Police Lieutenants Ferns and Poor as a special feature of the banquet of twenty-year-men at the Biltmore this evening. The contest is expected to provide the attending officers and their wives with plenty of thrills as Ferns and Poor have established reputations.

The banquet is being conducted to celebrate the completion of twenty years' service on the local force by twelve well known officers; Lieutenants Ferns and Poor, Detective Lieutenants George T. Williamson, Charles H. Craig, Lloyd R. Yarrow and John W. Stelzreide, Police Lieutenant Alfred A. Green, Acting Captain of Detectives Leo W. Marden, Assistant Captain Jesse L. Erven and Police Sergeants T. W. Miller, John E. Parsons and Frank R. Williams.

While all of the twelve officers are eligible for retirement, all but Detective Lieutenant Stelzreide have announced their intentions of remaining with the department.

PICKETING ORDINANCE REQUESTED

County Asked to Act in Threatened Film Strike to Protect Property

Declaring that a strike of film-studio forces has been set for December 1, H. B. (Jack) Wallace, chief of police of Universal City, has asked the Board of Supervisors to pass an ordinance prohibiting picketing.

Wallace's communication asked a county ordinance similar to the Los Angeles city antipicketing ordinance. He pointed to the large sums invested in studios and referred to the probability of damage unless preventive steps are taken.

The board ordered the matter referred to the County Counsel for an opinion concerning the legality of such an ordinance. As the County Counsel had not received the communication last night, it is improbable that an opinion will be forthcoming when the board meets Monday. The next meeting after that will be held December 6.

BROADWAY MAP ADOPTED

Revised Proceedings Carry $500,000 of City Funds; First Street District Plat Accepted

The opening and extending of Broadway from Pico street to Forty-first street where it will connect with the present thoroughfare southerly, which already will terminate at Los Angeles Harbor, was advanced yesterday by the City Council which adopted the map of the district to be assessed for the improvement.

Because of the general benefit to the entire city from the opening of Broadway, the City Council yesterday agreed to contribute $500,000 to the public improvement fund toward the cost of the improvement. Although planned several years ago, proceedings for the Broadway extension were declared invalid on account of technical errors, so that it was necessary to institute new proceedings. These are being expedited. Maps, all of the data needed for which is contained in the former proceedings. The assessment district adopted yesterday was virtually the same as the map in the proceeding, and the district to be assessed extends approximately one block on each side of the present street.

HEARINGS TO BE HELD

Following the approval of the map by the Council, the next step will be the setting by the Council of the ordinance of intention, which is scheduled to take place next week. Then will follow the hearing of protests, the passage of the final ordinance, thus paving the way for the hearing of the condemnation cases by the referee, which will take two years or more before the awards can be made and collected, so that the actual opening of the street can start.

In the new section of Broadway to be opened from Pico street to Thirty-fourth street, the width will be approximately 100 feet. At Thirty-fourth street Broadway will connect with an existing street, which will

CHEST TOTAL TO BE GIVEN TODAY

Final Check-up Will be Completed at Noon

Amount Subscribed Ready at Luncheon Meeting

Many More Concerns Give in Excess of Quotas

Final figures in the Community Chest appeal for 1927, which closed yesterday following a city-wide rally to obtain the subscriptions of those who had not yet given, will be announced today. A million dollars short of fulfillment of its budget on Wednesday, it was hoped to obtain a sufficient amount during the Chest rally yesterday to bring this somewhere near the goal set, $3,220,114.25.

A final luncheon and meeting of campaign workers will be held at the Biltmore at 12:15 noon today. Total collections of the appeal will be announced at this meeting.

All workers who have sums of money not yet reported to headquarters are urged to bring them to this meeting together with all reports that the work of the campaign may be closed, Joseph Scott, campaign manager, said yesterday.

A number of the workers, anxious to make a final check on their districts, will go into the field again this morning to end their work at noon in time for the final luncheon meeting.

In the check-up of amounts received in Wednesday's work, reports of oversubscriptions by employees of downtown business firms continued to come in. Employees of the Wiley B. Allen Company donated a total of $218.50, although their quota was but $135. Employees of the Bruch Baking Company, with a quota of $150, gave $300.

Other subscriptions included Atlas Tire Company, quota, $80, gave $92.50; Rickershauer-Miller, quota, $111.55, [illegible]112.60; Best Way Laundry Service, quota, $100, raised $173.80; Samson Tire and Rubber Corporation, quota, $55, raised $70; Y.M.C.A., downtown branch, $225 quota, raised $1045; Gilmore Oil Company, quota, $95, raised $587.50; Nachman Spring Sales Company, quota, $80, raised $95; Blackstone's, firm and employees, gave $1975; Cahen, Strodhoff Company, quota, $100, gave $102.

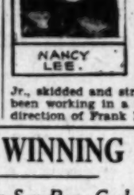
Cinema Actress Seriously Hurt by Skidding Car

Nancy Lee, a motion-picture actress, was injured seriously yesterday afternoon when an automobile struck her near the studio at which she was working. She is at the Hollywood Hospital where attending physicians announce she is badly bruised, but is apparently not suffering from major injuries.



Miss Lee was leaving the Famous Players-Lasky studio shortly after noon when the car, driven by George Hollister, Jr., skidded and struck her. She has been working in a picture under the direction of Frank Lloyd.

BEAUTY SHOPS WINNING MALES

Inquiry Reveals That Sterner Sex Pays Cash for Marcels, Eyebrow Plucking and Other Forms of "Prettying Up"

Are men growing vainer?

The question occurred yesterday afternoon when a rather good-looking young man was espied before the mirror of a weighing machine, invoicing his personal charms. The comely chap turned this way and that and apparently what he saw in the mirror was pleasing to his critical eye.

"Why not ask a facetician?" mused the onlooker. "He ought to know." Thereupon he hied himself to the nearest beauty works and asked the fixer in charge.

"Well," replied the chief beautifier, "that is a question I cannot answer yes or no. However, I can give you the facts and you can draw your own conclusions. Hardly a day passes nowadays that we don't have at least one male customer who wishes a marcel. No, they are not all film actors, either. I could give you the names of a dozen men in Los Angeles who drop in occasionally to have their eyebrows plucked—but I won't. You might not believe it, but one of our best customers is a policeman. Another believes that a touch of gray about his temples gives him an aristocratic appearance and we supply it with a few deft touches of white cosmetic or grease paint. Of course, it wears off in a day or so—but the sooner it wears off, the sooner he comes back. Women, of course, are our best patrons, but there seems to be a growing tendency among men to pretty up. Perhaps we could do something for you some time."

This last tactless remark brought the interview to a sudden end.

EXPLORER TO BE HONORED

Century Today Since Smith Came to Southland; Historical Society Plans Pageant

One hundred years ago today the first American tourist arrived in California, coming overland from the Middle West. On November 27, 1826, the intrepid explorer and fur trader, Jedediah Smith, pitched camp at the Mission San Gabriel, and achieved the distinction of being the first of his countrymen to successfully brave the perils of deserts, mountains and wilderness between the Mississippi and Southern California.

Until a few years ago Jedediah Smith was comparatively unknown to historians. His accomplishments had been buried in the avalanche of story, legend and romance which surrounded the Spanish missions and the '49'ers. A modicum of the recognition which is rightfully his as the conqueror of the Sierras and the discoverer of the natural resources of the southern part of this State has only come within the past few years, and it is to further that recognition that the Southern California Historical Society will give a pageant-drama, in which Smith will be the principal character portrayed, at Bovard Auditorium, University of Southern California Campus, on the evening of December 17 and 18.

OF PIONEER FAMILY

Further recognition will come to Smith next year when the beautiful new Fletcher-street bridge will be dedicated to the great trail blazer upon its completion. With the school children now reading about Smith in their textbooks, something which the present generation did not do, he will undoubtedly come into as full recognition eventually as have Lewis and Clark, Bidwell, Fremont and the Argonauts, of whom every schoolboy can tell. He was of a pioneering family of fourteen children that had made its way from New Hampshire with the first great migration to the Mohawk Valley and from there by successive stages to Pennsylvania, Ohio and St. Louis. He was born in 1798 and was killed by the Indians in 1831.

Afoot and on horseback he crossed and recrossed the plains and prairies of the Middle West, made his way across wide stretches of desert, being the first man to cross from Salt Lake to Southern California. The trail which he made is now followed by the Union Pacific Railroad. Entering the San Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys from the south he found his way out over the High Sierras back again to Salt Lake. The Central Pacific Railroad now follows the path which he opened up. Nor were these trips made merely in the spirit of adventure and vagabondage. Out of them came the first reliable map of the West, tracing the course of the Colorado River and disproving the theory that a mighty river ran direct from the Great Salt Lake to the Pacific Ocean.

WAS EMPIRE BUILDER

While trading in furs was Smith's main source of personal gain, his real business was the extension of American influence through the wilderness. He was an empire builder.

Jedediah Smith met his death alone in the desert. A drought left his third and last westward-journeying party with an exhausted water supply. They finally separated, each going in a different direction looking for a river or spring. Smith never returned. But his arrow-pierced body was later discovered, surrounded by four dead Indians.

The efforts of the Historical Society of Southern California to honor Smith's memory with a pageant drama is meeting with high approval from many leading citizens, including J. F. Sartori, president of the Clearinghouse Association and of the Security Bank. Speaking of this yesterday, Mr. Sartori said:

"When one considers that all this tremendous development which we see on every hand has taken place within a hundred years, the heroic size of Smith's achievement of blazing the first trail into Southern California is apparent.

SESSION ANNOUNCED FOR SUPREME COURT

Associate Justice Finlayson of the State Supreme Court announced yesterday that the next session of the court will be conducted here December 6 to 9. Justice Finlayson, who spent Thanksgiving with his family in Los Angeles, stated he will be in his chambers at the courtrooms here until after the session.

NEW PLANTS SIGHTED FOR SOUTHLAND

Chamber Man Back from East Tells of Plans for Branch Factories Here

Returning from a trip to the Great Lakes section of the Middle West, H. H. Crites, automotive engineer of the industrial department, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, reports an increasing interest in Los Angeles as the location for branch plants of nationally known industries.

Interviews with the executives of prospective industries with which the industrial department has been in contact indicate that plans will be worked out between now and early next year for placing factories in this area to serve the entire Pacific Coast, H. R. Brashear, traffic expert of the chamber, who went east with Crites to present freight traffic and shipping conditions on important industrial developments now pending, continued on to Washington for conferences with the Interstate Commerce Commission and the United States Shipping Board in the interest of distribution from Los Angeles to markets in the back country and Northwest.

"Prospective new industries for Los Angeles include such widely diversified products as motor vehicles and allied lines, wearing apparel, furniture and iceless refrigeration," declares Crites. "The Ford Company's new plant at the harbor will embrace a variety of manufacturing operations not originally contemplated, or at least these will be developed much sooner than was expected at first."

Buying of Forty Cars for Police Given Approval

The City Council yesterday authorized the purchase of forty automobiles for the police department to replace forty outworn cars of the same make.

The net cost including the return from the turn-in cars will be within the $26,400 set aside for the purpose in this year's budget.

A counter proposal to purchase twenty-seven cars of three higher-priced makes was turned down by the Council.

GOODNESS! SANTA CAUGHT IN STORM WITH LOAD OF TAFFY

Dispatches from Nome, Alaska, telling of a heavy blizzard raging in the North Alaska mountains, gave rise to fear here for the safety of Santa Claus, who is bound for Los Angeles in his airship Hi-Lee-Hi-Low for a visit with the boys and girls of the city.

Santa Claus, air pilots figure, must be somewhere in the neighborhood of the blizzard, having left the Ice Palace near the North Pole Thanksgiving night. The Hi-Lee-Hi-Low is known to be a very sturdy ship and there is no better air navigator than old Kris Kringle himself. However, the blizzard is said to be unusually severe and the airship is heavily loaded with Mrs. Santa Claus's North Pole taffy candy. It is hoped that he will not have to throw any of it overboard to keep his ship afloat.

Concern over the safety of Santa arises from the fact that the radio operator on the whaling schooner No-Azark, which picked up Santa's radio message the other night, has heard nothing from him in twenty-four hours. Residents of Nome are organizing searching parties with sleds and dog teams ready to comb the icy hinterlands for Santa if word is not heard from him shortly.

HAWAII GROUP REACHES CITY

Business Men En Route to Commerce Meeting

Leader Tells of Honolulu's Progress Plans

Growth of Trade With Coast Towns Emphasized

Headed by George H. Angus, a delegation of Honolulu business men is in Los Angeles today as an evidence of the increasingly close relations between Southern California and the Hawaiian Islands. The party arrived on the City of Los Angeles yesterday. The delegation is en route to the midyear meeting of the western division, United States Chamber of Commerce, at Colorado Springs December 6-8. It has come by way of Los Angeles to call on the Los Angeles chamber and near-by chambers. The Angeleno organization has pledged itself to help Honolulu get the 1927 meeting of the western division, and the Honolulans are here to express their appreciation and plan further for the necessary work to be done at the Colorado Springs convention.

The delegation includes Mr. Angus, president of the Honolulu chamber and of the Associated Chambers of Hawaii and merchandise director of the island firm of Theodore H. Davies & Co.; Sherwood M. Lowrey, treasurer of American Factors, Ltd.; Ernest B. Clark, secretary of the chamber, and Riley H. Allen, director of the chamber and editor of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

The Honolulans will be in Los Angeles three days. They expect to go north Monday night, and at San Francisco will be joined by another group of Hawaii business men, the entire party traveling together to Colorado Springs.

TRADE GAINS

"This visit is another of many evidences of the growing business between Southern California and our islands," President Angus emphasized in an interview with The Times. "It has been only a little over three years since the Los Angeles Steamship Company launched its service. When the first liner made its maiden trip, there were less than a dozen Los Angeles firms dealing directly with Hawaiian consumers, and these had to route their products in a roundabouts way. In these few years the number of Southern California firms doing business with Hawaii has increased to 600. It is true that most of this number are as yet dealing with us only in a small way, but the trade is growing. Several Los Angeles firms have built up substantial and profitable relations with our island people.

"The Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu is keenly alive to the desirability of encouraging new sources of trade and commerce. We welcomed the original enterprise of the Los Angeles people who risked a large amount of capital and demonstrated their faith in their undertaking by putting the Los Angeles Steamship Company into the island trade. We are delighted to hear of the plans for the new liner City of Honolulu and know that in speed, accommodations and general service, it will be a credit not only to Los Angeles, but to the entire Pacific.

"Our chamber has a special committee to encourage the development of new industries and stimulate the growth of small existing industries. The representative in Honolulu of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has been given a place on that committee and this has promoted the close relations between our chamber and yours.

TOURIST BOOM

"The Hawaiian Islands are just on the threshold of new and great achievement, particularly in the tourist trade. Ocean transportation is fast increasing. The Matson Line will have its new express steamer, the Malolo, in commission early next summer. The Dollar Line is making a partial rerouting of its northern service to put more steamers through Honolulu. The Oceanic Line, recently acquired by the Matson company, is adding to the efficiency of its service.

"Great hotels are building and projected for Hawaii. The Royal Hawaiian—a huge hostelry on Waikiki Beach, of striking and picturesque design—is almost completed. All around the islands the hotels are expanding.

"This is evidence of our faith that the tourist traffic between Hawaii and the Pacific Coast will show a steady and fairly rapid increase. We

Trilby Clark Drops Name for Quattrociocchi

The marriage of Nicolo Quattrociocchi and Trilby Gwendolyn Clark, both of whom act in motion pictures, was performed Thursday by Judge Crawford. Quattrociocchi arrived in this country from Italy about a year ago. In his native country he gained a reputation of some note as an actor.

His wife is a native of Australia and made her debut as an actress in musical comedy there. She later entered motion-picture work in Australia and afterward came to New York to act in the films. Miss Clark was at one time in the Greenwich Village Follies and during the last few years has been in Hollywood.

Quattrociocchi gave his age as 28 years, his wife as 22. The couple are living at 8843 Cashio street in this city.

WANTS PLAN MAKERS

To prepare engineering plans for the Glendale-Hyperion viaduct so that these plans will be completed at the earliest possible date, City Engineer Shaw yesterday asked authority of the City Council to employ an additional draftsman and three engineers.

FORTY-NINE native Hawaiian singers, dancers and actors, perhaps the largest party of foreign stage artists ever to invade America in a body, arrived at Los Angeles Harbor yesterday aboard the steamer City of Los Angeles, preparatory to an eight months' tour of the United States.

The island troupers are under the guidance of Charles E. King, author, and will present King's operetta, "The Prince of Hawaii," in this country.

Many of the party never had visited the States before and they gazed with undisguised interest at shore landmarks as the steamer proceeded up the channel.

In addition to many hundred Hawaiian leis under which the arriving islanders were literally buried, King and his troupe brought in a number of musical instruments never before seen here. Chief among these was a drum-like affair more than three feet in height made from a single giant gourd.

STATE DIVISION SCOUTED

Los Angeles Men Assure Development Association Directors Project Unthinkable

Dividing California into two separate States is a most unthinkable proposal from an economic viewpoint, visiting directors of the California Development Association were told yesterday by a number of Los Angeles business men.

Reuben Hale of San Francisco, president of the association, Ralph Merritt of Fresno, Joseph R. Knowland of Oakland and others of the directors were in Los Angeles yesterday en route to El Centro for a meeting and William May Garland, Clinton E. Miller and others of the local directors entertained about twenty-five persons at a luncheon at the California Club. Many of the Los Angeles association's advisory committee were present.

The local business men in various remarks and comment emphasized the absurdity of State division talk and were one with their northern visitors on this subject. In this connection it was pointed out that the association has a splendid field in which to work by ironing out economic differences that make for petty division of interests in the State, as well as making plain to all the need for unity of effort for California as a whole.

MAY MEET IN STREET

The Church of the Open Door yesterday asked permission of the City Council to hold a street meeting at Sixth and Hope streets tomorrow.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

THE young lady's name is Betty and she is young America. Impudent, friendly, wise, disrespectful—and alluring.

I haven't the honor of the young lady's acquaintance; but it does not seem to make her shy about sending me this note:

"Harry, old dear:

"Say, young fella, how d'you get that way about New York? However, this is but a note of appreciation. I leave for home shortly—dare I say 'godawful' New York?—and The Times will go with me because of The Lancer.

"I'm twenty, eat Sunday breakfast in a bathrobe (which I bet is just as good looking as yours;) hate German police dogs, drive a car, swim, smoke and curse occasionally; but I adore the Lancer.

"So g'by Harry, and many thanks for a lot of pleasant reading. It is with genuine regret that I leave Los Angeles, because it is surely a whale of a city."

THE MYSTERIOUS AUTO

During the heavy rain last Wednesday I saw dozens of motor car owners staring helplessly at balky cars.

It impressed me with the fact that in this day and age there are two things that everyone ought to understand; how to use a typewriter and how to tinker up the innards of an automobile. All I know about an automobile is this: that if you step on the starter and yank back a steel handle, the thing moves—sometimes.

A GREAT ACTRESS

Alla Nazimova has turned her house on Sunset Boulevard into a hotel; has thereby acquired an income for life. I, for one, am curious as to just what this may portend.

Her abrupt and somewhat mysterious retirement from the stage and screen was an artistic calamity for America. Although she starred in one great picture—"Redemption"—the screen was not her stuff. Picture dramas are too naive.

She has had a long rest—a readjustment—a bitter disillusionment, I feel that, somewhere on the horizon, a big triumph is waiting for her.

THE SHOCKED PRINCESS

One grateful heart yearns after the receding ship that carrier Queen Marie and her daughter, the Princess Ileana.

The fact that the royal pair could keep a straight face and a tough New York girl show after the first act, when naked ladies became too plentiful, is worth a fortune to the manager thereof.

SLAVE GIRLS

Sealskins start with brutal tragedy, and they frequently end the same way.

As "Peaches" Browning seems to have discovered. And the same thing is sometimes true of titles of nobility—which sometimes started with brute force, slaughter and ruthlessness; and now end in shabby bargains.

If girls are to be sold at all, the most decent method would seem to send them handcuffed to the auction block, and let everybody have an even break in the bidding. At least that method is stripped of hypocrisy — just as the girl is stripped.

SAVE THE WATER

Anyone who has lived in California a long time shudders to see all this rainwater going to waste.

Twenty-five years from now, all this storm water will be caught and stored in great reservoirs, and an occasional dry year will hold no terrors.

COUNTY EXHIBIT WINS HIGH RANK

Awarded Grand Prize at Philadelphia

Display Viewed by Millions at Exposition

Cost $50,000 and Was Among First Installed

Los Angeles county has been awarded the grand prize for the best exhibit at the Sesquicentennial Exposition at Philadelphia, Pa., according to advices received yesterday afternoon by A. G. Arnoll, secretary and general manager of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. According to the estimates of the exposition officials millions of people viewed the exhibit which was in competition with exhibits from all States in the nation and many from foreign countries.

Approximately 2,000,000 pieces of literature dealing with the advantages of living in Los Angeles county were distributed to spectators from the time the exposition opened on July 1 to its closing date during the middle of this month.

COST $50,000

The cost and maintenance of the exhibit was about $50,000. It occupied a space eighty feet in length, sixteen feet in height and thirty-five feet in depth and was built in the form of an old Spanish mission. Its background consisted of an oil painting depicting the usual Southern California landscape with the mountains and the ocean while the foreground of the exhibit was worked out in exact scale showing the mission, and illustrating, recreation facilities, agricultural, commercial and industrial activities.

It was built by William H. Fowler who built the exhibits at Exposition Park and was installed under the supervision of Charles P. Bayer.

In charge of the exhibit at the exposition was P. E. Allman assisted by two young women. The Chamber also employed the Jose Arias troupe of troubadours who strolled through the grounds of the exposition and lead thousands to the exhibit daily.

OPENED EARLY

The exhibit was one of the first to be completely installed and ready when the exposition opened.

Arthur S. Bent, president of the Chamber, said yesterday:

"The winning of the grand prize by Los Angeles county is of inestimable value from an advertising viewpoint to Southern California. Millions viewed it according to the reports received by the Chamber. The displays of fruit never failed to attract the eyes of the Easterners and the exhibit will doubtlessly influence thousands to come to Southern California to live."

be widened to the point where the new Broadway will connect with the South Broadway now in use.

ACT ON FIRST STREET

Another important street opening and widening was advanced yesterday when the Council adopted the map of the district to be assessed for the widening of First street to 110 feet from Los Angeles street to Hill street.

The proceedings in this section of the First-street widening improvement are being rushed in order to prevent the construction of new and expensive buildings in the path of the widening, which would add to the expense and possibly make the cost of the improvement prohibitive. A width of 100 feet is proposed for First street from Glendale Boulevard to Figueroa street.

The details of the widening from Hill street to Figueroa street through Bunker Hill remain to be agreed upon at conferences to be held with First-street property owners. There have been suggestions that from Hill street to Figueroa street First street be widened by means of a tunnel or an open cut.

Drs. George T. Pomeroy and Frank L. Burleigh, and Marion W. Heston and Edward G. Hogan, proprietors of the Heston and Hogan Drug Company, and C. J. Boston, owner of the Central Drug Company, were named in additional informations.

As announced early in the week, United States Attorney McNabb departed yesterday for San Francisco, where he will confer with Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant United States Attorney-General; United States Attorney Hatfield of San Francisco, and other Coast dry officials, on phases of the widespread rum-smuggling plots uncovered here, in the Bay City region, Portland and Seattle during the past three weeks.

expect to send through Los Angeles a large number of our people, lured by your many attractions, and we expect that through Los Angeles many tourists and many of your own residents will come to Hawaii.

"We regard the co-operative advertising program of Pacific Coast cities as one of the greatest moves that enlightened business can make. The joint advertising plan, in which Hawaii has been glad to share, will benefit the entire Pacific Coast and our islands. We heartily support the Pacific Coast Empire Association, which is the organization handling this work.

"Our own tourist bureau—which is a committee of the Chamber of Commerce—has just announced plans for an expanding advertising program. Its chairman recommends a budget of $200,000 for 1927, nearly all of which goes into paid advertising in national magazines. This will bring many people through all the Pacific Coast ports, including Los Angeles.

CONVENTION MECCA

"Next year Honolulu will be the mecca for several great conventions. In April the international Pan-Pacific educational conference will be held there. This is under the direct auspices and sponsorship of the United States government. Its chairman will be Dr. Hubert Work, Secretary of the Interior, and the Interior Department is handling the details of the program of a six-day meeting. All the nations around the Pacific have been asked to send representatives and it is certain that this will be the most important conference on international affairs ever held in the Pacific area.

"The United States government has issued invitations to the Governors of all the States to come to Hawaii for this conference and a large attendance by these executives is expected. We hope that the Governor of California will be one of our official visitors.

"Following this, in July will be the Institute of Pacific Relations, which held its first meeting at Honolulu in July, 1925. This is the second session. The institute is a nongovernment, nonofficial, nonpolitical assemblage of experts on problems now occupying the attention of the Pacific. Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford University, is its chairman.

"In December we hope to have the western division meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce. That is the mission on which we are now engaged. We hope that at Colorado Springs the vote will be in our favor. If it does come to us, the credit will go in large measure to the Los Angeles Chamber and others in Southern California which have backed our invitation.

"The whole western division has shown great friendship for us in this enterprise, and the spirit of cordiality has been really remarkable.

"Our chamber is interested, too, in the plans to hold the 1936 Pan-Pacific Commercial Conference in Los Angeles. That will be highly important meeting, one dealing with very urgent commercial problems in a practical way, and Honolulu will no doubt be represented by a strong delegation."

RUMOR OF CHANGE IN FORD MODELS DENIED

"There will be no change in the type of the Ford car," said J. W. Capek, manager of the Los Angeles branch of the Ford Motor Company yesterday. "This rumor of a six-cylinder car and an eight-cylinder car is without foundation. There is no more truth in it than in any one of a dozen other rumors about the Ford Motor Company's business that spring up every year."

Reports of new Ford models were announced in Los Angeles yesterday while a meeting of metropolitan dealers was in session at the local Ford factory.

MOOD STRESSED IN DRIVING CAR

Officer in KHJ Traffic Speech Declares Safety Consists in State of Mind

Mood has a great deal to do with safety in driving, declared Officer E. H. Cooper yesterday in the daily traffic talk given over KHJ in the series arranged by Sergt. E. L. Johnson of the police bureau of public safety.

"Safety is a state of mind, therefore the prevention of accidents is human engineering," said Officer Cooper.

"Cultivate a cheerful frame of mind. You can blot out certain thoughts by paying strict attention to what you are doing, and operating a motor vehicle requires strict attention.

"Get rid of temper by cultivating courtesy."

CRIPPLE FACES NEW CHARGE

Statutory Complaint Issued for Man Accused of Beating Woman in Own Home

Testimony of Mrs. Bernardine Bedford, asserted victim of a brutal attack on which Joe Annable, crippled man-of-all-work, was arrested following a gunfight with neighbors, has resulted in additional charges of a statutory offense being lodged against the defendant.

Mrs. Bedford, appearing for the first time since the attack which occurred on October 1" at her home in Venice, took the stand at the preliminary hearing of Annable on assault charge before Municipal Judge Baird. After hearing her story, Judge Baird granted the request of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Marchetti to hold Annable on the additional charge.

Annable was held to answer in the Superior Court to both charges and Judge Baird set bail at $10,000.

Still in a serious physical condition Mrs. Bedford told how Annable had come to her home to refinish woodwork. She said that when she returned from a church meeting, Annable turned on her and in a fury knocked her down and brutally beat her with a gun. He also attempted to force her to drink acid, she said, and her face and mouth were severely burned.

Following the initial attack, she testified, Annable carried her upstairs where he renewed the attack, pausing only to get a drink of moonshine liquor during which time she succeeded in attracting the attention of neighbors by her screams.

Jealousy was ascribed by Marchetti as the cause for the attack.

Mrs. Bedford was confined in the General Hospital for several weeks as a result of the attack.

Sheriff's Office Advised That New Ordinance Has Not Been Interpreted

The legal status of tent shows yesterday was the subject of an inquiry by the Sheriff's office to the County Counsel's office. The action followed the refusal of the Board of Supervisors to renew permits for the operation of Shelley's Players on East Florence street and Murphy's Comedians on Whittier Boulevard, in Belvedere Gardens.

While the applications for renewal were pending, the new county ordinance requiring that theatrical shows be presented in structures of fireproof construction went into effect. The ordinance, it is said, was mainly directed at suburban tent shows. The Supervisors refused to renew the permits in question on the ground of detriment to the public health and safety.

The County Counsel's office is said to have answered the Sheriff's question with the statement that no study of the legality of the ordinance has yet been made.

New Delay for Grange Accuser Given by Court

The legal troubles of Charles A. Taylor, who attracted attention several months ago when his wife brought suit for divorce by filing a deposition coupling the names of Mrs. Taylor and Harold (Red) Grange, football player, received another court continuance yesterday. Taylor was haled before Municipal Judge Bullock shortly after the divorce episode on charges of failure to provide for his 6-year-old daughter, Gloria. Since then a number of continuances have been granted.

Last week Attorney Goodwin J. Knight moved that the case against Taylor be dismissed for lack of jurisdiction, declaring that Gloria is living with Mrs. Taylor's parents in San Francisco. Hearing was set for yesterday, but when the case was called Judge Bullock agreed to continue it to December 3, to permit Attorney Knight to file a brief.

WIFE IN SUIT MAKES HAIR-PULLING CHARGE

A divorce suit of Katherine Hill, said to be a motion-picture actress, against Ira L. Hall was filed yesterday. She charges cruelty, declaring her husband pulled her hair, threw water at her without removing the glass first, made false accusations against her and drank liquor. They were married in October, 1921, and separated three years later, the complaint says.

FUND ASKED TO AID FIGHT ON CAR RISE

Council Gets Request for $5000 to be Utilized in Opposing 7-Cent Fare

To resist the granting by the Railroad Commission of the application of the Los Angeles Railway for 7-cent car fares as well as to oppose a similar request for higher fares by the Pacific Electric, if filed, the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation yesterday asked the City Council for an appropriation of $5000 to employ engineers to obtain data to be used in the city's case.

Chief Engineer Marsh and Assistant City Attorney Whitehead said that the appropriation should be made at once as it is probable the commission's hearings on higher car fares will begin in January.

The City Attorney's office also probably will ask for an appropriation to combat the higher fares. Assistant City Attorney Whitehead said, due to the necessity of having experts to testify. The board's request for $5000 was sent to the Mayor and the Finance Committee for reports and recommendations.

CITIZENSHIP BAR SIGHTED FOR MARSON

Italian Who Eloped With Step-Daughter-in-Law May Lose Naturalization Right

The escapade of Capt. Arnaldo Marson, former Italian Army officer, in eloping with Mrs. Isabella Keyes Burch, the daughter-in-law of Marson's wife, may rob him of his chance for obtaining citizenship as well as place him behind prison bars for violation of the Mann Act, it was stated here yesterday by the attorney for Maj. Thomas Walkup, the father of the deserted husband, and the divorced husband himself of the deserted wife.

Marson and Mrs. Burch are in San Francisco, where charges have been filed against Marson. Marson, who married Mrs. Walkup after she was divorced by Maj. Walkup, was to receive his naturalization papers in New York next month, it was stated.

Mrs. Burch is the wife of Maj. Walkup's son, who is known as Lyndon Walkup Burch, or Lyndon Walkup. The young man has kept in touch with his father, who is living in Los Angeles, and it was through information supplied by the young man to his father that Federal agents traced the missing couple and effected their capture in San Francisco. Maj. Walkup filed with U. S. Atty. Hatfield in San Francisco an affidavit setting forth the facts as they applied to the escapade of Marson.

Granddaughter Seeks Share of Shirley Estate

The will of Charles W. Shirley of Redondo Beach, who died last September 26, was executed while he was under the influence of his wife and nephew, according to a contest filed yesterday by Mrs. Frances A. McPhail of Rockford, Ill., a grand-daughter. A $60,000 estate is involved in the litigation.

The contest, prepared by Attorney Frank C. Dunham, recites the widow, Margaret E. Shirley, and the nephew, Lyman B. Goff, prevailed upon the decedent to add a codicil to his original will disinheriting Mrs. Jessie Lake, now deceased, the mother of the contestant. By the original will Mrs. Lake, a daughter, was a principal beneficiary.

PEACE IN STORMY WORLD

Murder, suicide, crime, divorce, sorrow and unrest in the constant strain of modern life—all these things the man and woman of today must hear of, read of, think of, speak of, and in them, to some extent, must be involved. Officers of the Contreras liquor squad swore they found two large stills and much mash on the ranch operated by the pair at Maywood. Justice Wilson collected $500 in liquor fines yesterday.

Mrs. Dorsey, Superintendent of Schools, recommended that a more judicious distribution of loading zones and limited parking time might relieve the conditions. She also suggested that the Board of Education communicate with Dr. A. S. Wiley, principal of the school, asking that students be encouraged to use street cars in traveling to and from school.

Why You Should Go to Church

(SWEDENBORGIAN)

Rev. John R. Hunter
Pastor Church of the New Jerusalem

We open our service each Sunday with words literally true and spiritually true; "The Lord is in his holy temple, let all the earth keep silence before him."

The presence of God is more consciously felt when two or three are gathered in his name, when His word is opened and He speaks to us from its pages, when the prayer of the soul's sincere desire brings the spiritual world and his Divine presence very near. In such an atmosphere the Earth is silenced, earth-born desires, groveling fears, worldly clamorings, the claims of our lower and more unworthy self. It is well to go to Church that for an hour the earthly and mortal part of us may be silenced in the presence of God, and the immortal and spiritual self may be freed. And with each new freeing of the finer self, of the higher nature we have made a sure ascent heavenward, we have attained to a new love and understanding that gives fresh purpose and meaning to life, we have found a serenity and peace which the earth cannot give and which it cannot take away.

Church is not so much a duty; it is a blessing to be claimed, a privilege to be enjoyed, an opportunity to cast off the shackles that bind us to earth, and stand forth as our essential selves, as man, a spiritual being, capable of knowing and loving God and of sharing in the Divine Love and Truth.

THE GOTHAM HABIT

Leave it to the Brownings and Peaches to give New York one of those nice nasty cases it so delights to feed to the provinces.

BURNT UP

Figures prove that the consumption of gasoline by Americans is averaging a gallon a day for every living soul. But, thank heaven, the people are not drinking it.

PREROGATIVES OF ROYALTY

From our interested study of the pictures in the public prints, it appears that it doesn't take such an awfully keen looker of a princess to get mentioned in dispatches as a "beautiful princess."

EDUCATION ON WHEELS

Two specially equipped railway cars are rolling through Canada, stopping at remote places to impart information. Since the inhabitants of these districts can not go to school, the schools have decided to go to them.

BURIED TREASURE

One hundred and twenty millions of dollars worth of gold is said to be diffused through the soil underlying Philadelphia. According to Gen. Butler, however, the streets of this fine old city of brotherly love are not exactly paved with gold.

RELIEF FOR FRANCE

If France still needs a financial wizard to find a way out of its difficulties it should be of good cheer. As soon as Christmas is over it should pick out any average salaried man who has several children and has given them all a merry Christmas, and give the post of Finance Minister to him.

INTELLIGENTSIA

Prof. Lewis Terman has studied 1000 or more highly gifted children in California and finds that their grandfathers lived on the average two and one-half years longer than the usual span of life. Albert Edward Wiggam in World's Work finds that intelligence and beauty tend to go together. Now we understand why there are so many geniuses in Hollywood.

THE PINK SCARE

Rhode Island oystermen are scared because of the pink hue apparent in oysters. Does pinkness indicate sickness, or something newly fashionable in mollusk coloration? That is what the oystermen and their customers are trying to find out. Oysters are said to be wise in their way. Possibly they were wise enough to take on the color that would scare their consumers pink.

THE MYSTERY SOLVED

Bird lovers have always wondered at the ways of the surf bird. They called it the "mystery flyer," because no one had ever found its nest. But, eureka! the nest has at last been discovered, with four regular eggs in it. It was found in Alaska by Dr. Joseph Dixon, of the University of California. The U. of C. may now and then lose a ball game, but as a nest finder it's a world winner.

SPEEDY JUSTICE

Within thirty hours after the commission of his crime Hix Anderson, a young bank robber, was tried and convicted in a Martinez court, and was on his way to San Quentin. Anderson robbed the Mechanics' Bank of Richmond, and when captured confessed to having stolen $15,000, so he was handed over to the prison warden in record time. They know how to handle bank bandits in Contra Costa county.

THE FEIJOA

Feijoa, pronounced fay-zhoa, was first discovered by Edouard Andre, in the La Plata region of South America. Some say it is a cross between a fig and a guava; others say one of its parents was a pineapple. At any rate, it grows voluptuously in Southern California and is rapidly becoming a popular fruit. Like the city of Los Angeles, however, the feijoa will have a hard time teaching people how its name should be pronounced.

MODERN PROGRESS

Dr. Millikan writes in the new edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica that a great majority of the most outstanding discoveries of the past have been made recently. How about the ancient discovery that fire would cook food, that a bent stick and string would throw an arrow and kill at a distance, that ideas could be expressed by means of sounds, and all those other savage discoveries? What the old fellows did in their days has made modern progress possible.

BUYING PEACE

In his endeavor to make peace with the rebels who are shooting up Nicaragua, President Diaz says he is willing to grant them liberal terms. He has offered to pay Gen. Monacada $50,000 to cease fighting, but the general is holding out for $80,000, which probably will be paid, and the war will then be over.

In these amicable negotiations is seen a neat way to settle all wars. Why didn't somebody think of it while we were fighting the Central Powers?

"THE PASSING STRIKE"

Strikes in this country are on the decrease. The union labor leaders find that public opinion is opposed to methods of compulsion. Nearly every strike ends with a loss of membership for the union, and loss of prestige for the leaders. Even its most stubborn advocates are coming to realise that the closed shop has no place in American industry.

Secretary of Labor Davis gave the following comparative strike figures in a recent article in The Saturday Evening Post: "During 1925 the Bureau of Labor Statistics of The United States Department of Labor reported a total of 1301 strikes and lockouts, as compared with 3789 in 1916. Actually the reduction is even greater than the direct comparison would indicate."

Secretary Davis also reports that the estimate of time actually lost decreased from 49,680 days in 1916 to 23,809 days in 1925.

Strikes are called by the officials of the labor unions subject to certain forms of ratification by the workers involved. It is not true that they represent voluntary stoppage of labor, for the workers must down tools when the order comes or lose membership in the union. The only voluntary action is by the walking delegates and the high union officials.

During the war years the union labor leaders took full advantage of the nation's extremity. They used the strike as a method of blackmail. Unless all their demands were granted the American soldiers in Europe would be left without food and without ammunition in the face of the enemy. Despite the high prices paid for labor, the despots managed to invent occasion to call strikes by the thousands, as the official record shows.

But, with the return of peace, the American spirit began to reassert itself, and the strikes ended in failure, with loss of membership in the unions. Public opinion grew stronger every year in favor of the open shop, the American plan, in American industry. The union labor leaders still have the official authority to call strikes but they are growing more timid. As Secretary Davis points out, the strike is passing. It is a weapon that has lost its effectiveness. In this relation he says:

> No one knows better than the experienced labor leader that you cannot get public approval by compulsion. He knows this because he deals directly with one of the most independent units of the public. More than that, he has learned that he can not pinch, or even inconvenience the public without hurting himself. The workers have had their Frankensteins. I believe that they have learned by experience that the abuse of power, which is responsible for most human misery, is also the beginning of the loss or destruction of power.

The futility of the strike as a means of bettering the condition of the workers was "strikingly" illustrated in 1919 in the steel strike. Twelve hours was the standard day's work in the steel industry. In September the leaders called a strike for eight hours as a day. Within a week 300,000 steel workers had left their jobs. By January the strikers found that 75 per cent of their places were filled. The strike was called off, the leaders confessing complete failure.

Two years later President Harding called the heads of the steel industry to meet him in conference in Washington. The result of that conference was a voluntary reduction of the working day in the steel industry to eight hours. Conference had accomplished what the strike never could do.

Another example of the futility of a strike was the coal strike of 1922. The labor union leaders thought they could freeze the country into submission. At one time 625,000 men were on strike. But the public co-operated with the mine owners to so great an extent that the places of the strikers were filled and the actual production of soft coal for the year was 6,346,149 tons greater than the year before. The chief sufferers were the labor union dupes who gave up their jobs when the strike was called, and found their places taken when the leaders called it off.

The strike is passing, and with it the closed shop. That the union labor leaders called 3789 strikes in 1916 and 1301 in 1925 is proof in itself that such blackmailing tactics are no longer successful. Blackmailers wearing badges of the American Federation of Labor are no more popular than blackmailers of any other stamp.

"The workers have had their Frankensteins." The strike itself is a Frankenstein of their making that they must destroy again or it will compass their own destruction.

THE PEN IN THE "PEN"

An optimist among the inmates of the Missouri State Penitentiary at Jefferson City finds solace in the number of great literary productions wrought behind the bars, says the Pathfinder.

St. Paul indited his fourteen epistles in a dungeon. While he was serving his thirteen-year sentence, Sir Walter Raleigh had time to write his rather pretentious "History of the World."

"Don Quixote" was born in jail. "Pilgrim" made his "Progress" wholly within the four walls of a cell. That Bedford genius did more than tinker during those twelve years of duress.

O. Henry (Sidney Porter) "found himself" in the Columbus Penitentiary. Eight of his snappiest short stories were written there. Tradition has it that he was falsely accused and served the sentence of another man. If he had not been flung into prison he might have counted cash behind bank bars through his life.

There have been great spirits that never would have found time to write in their busy lives but for some accusation that flung them into confinement. Luther made his translations in a castle.

Possibly not as many innocents are cast into dungeons in these days and so the reactions are not so pronounced. Thousands are confined at this hour and yet few famous epistles or stories break out into the world.

The doors of the "pen" open inward, not outward. There are imprisonments of disease that shackle the Robert Louis Stevensons of the race in exile on some lonely shore and they in turn give back a "Treasure Island."

Enough scamps are yet in the world to rob men of their freedom and chain them to benches like galley slaves, and so summon epics from their souls.

Trouble is still on the job to strangle and destroy, and so inspire the incipient Cervantes to create other fantastic knights to fight the windmills of society.

"FOOTBALL CRAZY"

The attendance at the Stanford-University of Southern California football game was 79,500. That is an extraordinary thing in itself. In the Sunday papers we read that 55,000 saw Harvard play, 70,000 watched Ohio State, 40,000 were here, 60,000 were there. About 75,000 reserved seats have been sold for the U.S.C.-Notre Dame game here, and as many applications rejected for lack of space. Our big stadium is only half big enough.

Considering the thousands of high-school games, as well as the hundreds of college games played every week, it appears that a large percentage of the nation's population are regular attendants at football games.

Sports writers assert that the country has gone "football crazy." If it has, it's a good thing for the future of the nation.

Carping critics will point to the statement that Rome's degeneracy followed when their rulers gave the people "games and bread." But Rome's free feasts and bloody spectacles and college football rivalry are not on all fours.

Football is inspiring. No one in the stands can doubt that the college players are putting their last ounce of energy and courage into each play. The dogged determination, the desperate energy displayed by a losing team in fighting off defeat, with the shadow of the cross-bar on their shoulders, is magnificent.

As long as Americans continue their "mad" admiration of football, as it is played by the amateur teams, and draw a lesson therefrom, the dismal folk who are terrified by what's going to happen to the country will find few to agree.

WALLOPS FOR UTOPIA

The making of Chicago into another trades-union Utopia has just received a severe blow from the United States Supreme Court. That court, in a decision which no doubt will draw wails of anguish from William Green and his associates of the fast-disappearing American Federation of Labor, declares that an agreement between the Chicago carpenters' union, Chicago manufacturers of millwork, and various building contractors, is a flat violation of the Sherman law and must be dissolved forthwith.

This agreement was triple-edged. It provided that members of the carpenters' union were not to be asked to place in buildings any millwork made by nonunion labor; the manufacturers for their part agreed to employ only union labor; and the contractors for theirs agreed to buy only union-made millwork and use only union labor in installing it.

From a union standpoint it was an excellent agreement, but it hit the public rather hard. For mills in other cities, under open-shop conditions and without the union restrictions which always lower output and increase its cost, were able to underbid the Chicago mills before the agreement went into effect. The agreement relieved the Chicago mill owners of this competition with the result that building costs went kiting.

This vicious circle, which promised to make building more and more expensive at each turn of the union screw, was attacked in the courts and convictions of several men for violating the Sherman law were obtained. The Circuit Court of Appeals saw in the arrangement merely a local agreement with which the Federal government had no concern, and reversed the convictions. But the Supreme Court looked farther into the scheme and discovered a plain interference with interstate commerce; it has reversed the Circuit Court and set Chicago free.

In setting down the plain principle that labor unions can not enter into such restrictive agreements any more than manufacturers can, the court has performed a great service to American industry and to free labor everywhere.

BLACK AND BLUE

The Girl Scouts of a church in Malden, Mass., have decided to assume a more vigorous name and have christened themselves "The Bruisers." A rolling-pin is the badge and black and blue, the colors.

THE HITCH RIDER

In various parts of the East they are campaigning against the hitch rider in the hope of effecting his elimination from the roadside. What is a hitch rider? He is what many California motorists call a ride moocher—a person who asks for a lift in almost any car that happens along. In Massachusetts schoolteachers have been instructed to caution their pupils not to ask for rides in strangers' automobiles on the ground that it is not only an ungracious importunity but dangerous because of the fact that the driver may be an irresponsible person, perhaps under the influence of liquor. Then, too, the motorist's side of the matter is raised, for if he accepts a wayfarer as a passenger he is liable for any accident that passenger may suffer from collision or the overturning of the car.

Not long ago the American Automobile Association issued a warning to all its members not to encourage hitch riders for the reasons just given and for the further one that wayfarers picked up on the road may turn out to be hold-up men, as has happened in many cases.

Hitch riding is common in California. Young fellows travel from one end of the State to another in this way. A Los Angeles motorist says that he picked up a Stanford student near this city. The young man was on his way to his college. The motorist would have taken him as far as Santa Barbara, but when he arrived at Ventura and told his passenger he would have to stop there half an hour on business, the student impatiently left him to find another carrier, which he said he could do in a few minutes, as he never had any trouble in getting free rides between Los Angeles and Palo Alto, and had been accommodated many times.

This shows how common and extensive the practice of hitch riding has become on our highways. The question arises whether many of our California motorists are not too generous for their own good, considering the warnings of the A. A. A. and the police of various cities of this State.

DEFYING CERTAIN MICRO-ORGANISMS
By James J. Montague

New York's Health Commissioner objects to handshaking on the ground that it spreads infection.

If I should meet with G. B. Shaw
Or Ringgold W. Lardner,
I promptly should extend my paw
And say, "How are you, pardner?"
Nor should I give their outstretched palms
An impolite inspection—
And thus reveal my inward qualms
Lest they should bear infection.

I know that germs in roving bands
Which have no fixed employment,
Find camping out on people's hands
A means of rare enjoyment.
That when a man, with greetings brisk,
A set of digits seizes,
He very often runs the risk
Of picking up diseases.

But when my friends upon the street
Or in my home shall find me,
I feel it would be indiscreet
To keep my hands behind me;
I think they'd say—and you would, too—
In accents somewhat testy,
"Well, what the heck's got into you
That you should be so chesty?"

So even though I apprehend
A modicum of danger
In shaking hands with an old friend
As well as with a stranger,
He will not vainly seek to make
The usual advances
I'll grab his mitt, though I may take
All sorts of dreadful chances.

THE FIELD OF DISHONOR

BY BAILEY MILLARD

Judging by the news reports, there has been a small epidemic of dueling in Europe of late. This has reminded me of a little [illegible] of lore on this more or less vital subject which I acquired while delving into the archives of Old California. Due to the lawless spirit of the early days, it is fairly safe to say that the pages of the history of [illegible] State were stained by more bloody tragedies on what may be called the field of dishonor during the single decade ended in 1860 than [illegible] in any other State in the Union during that time, though [illegible] resort to the code duello were not rare in the East and South [illegible] the Civil War. After that national tragedy little was heard of [illegible] affairs, owing to the stringent laws against them passed by all the States during the reconstruction period.

Imported from Europe, along with other evils, by the old English colonists, the unholy practice of dueling was in vogue in this country for over two centuries. It is said to have had its origin in Germany in the feudal ages. Thence it spread to France, England and other countries. It started when sword-carrying became common. Buckle refers to it as "a special development of chivalry."

Button Gwinnett, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, was slain in a duel with Gen. McIntosh in 1777. Washington, though not opposed to dueling on moral grounds, disapproved of it among his officers and upheld one of them for not accepting a challenge.

In the most famous of American duels Aaron Burr killed Alexander Hamilton in 1804. Gen. Jackson, seventh President of the United States, killed one Dickinson in a duel and was engaged in other "affair of honor."

Stringent laws adopted by England in 1844 checked the practice and virtually put a stop to it in that country, but it continued in other parts of Europe and also in America.

Little prejudice against dueling was manifested in California in the early days, though an occasional sermon or newspaper article was aimed at the practice, which was quite common, as were fatal affrays of all kinds. The first duel of note in the State was fought in 1852 near Sacramento between Edward Gilbert, senior editor of the Alta California, San Francisco's leading newspaper in those days, and Gen. J. W. Denver, State Senator from Trinity county. Denver took offense at an Alta article which attacked his friend, Gov. Bigler, and published a letter condemning its writer in most provocative terms. Although Gilbert knew little about firearms, he challenged Denver, who was a dead shot. The affair was fought with rifles at forty paces. Gilbert fumbled his weapon which he hardly knew how to hold in his hands. At the first shot Denver fired deliberately aside, while Gilbert missed. At the next shot Denver sent a bullet through Gilbert's body, and he expired in a few minutes. The affair created great excitement as Editor Gilbert was very popular. Many public buildings and private residences in San Francisco were decorated in black, and the city's flags as well as those of the shipping in the harbor were hung at half-mast.

Among other duels fought in 1854 was that between Philip W. Thomas, District Attorney of Placer county, and Dr. James P. Dickson of San Francisco. Thomas had been challenged by another man for certain aspersions upon his character, but refused to fight the challenger on the ground that he was "no gentleman." Whereupon Dr. Dickson took the quarrel on himself and challenged Thomas. It was pistols at fifteen paces. At the first fire Dickson fell mortally wounded, and died the same day.

Coming now to the Terry-Broderick affair, a duel of national notoriety, fought in 1859, I am free to say that I am conscious of no unfair bias against Terry, the challenger, though I knew the man very well in the '30's knew him as a fire-eater, ever ready with knife or pistol to avenge fancied wrongs. At the time he fought Broderick he had just resigned his position of Justice of the State Supreme Court that he might engage in the duel. Broderick was a United States Senator. Their quarrel was a political one. I have seen the place where they fought, a gloomy little depression among the dunes near Lake Merced, on the peninsula of San Francisco. It was there at early dawn while the fog drifted in from the sea, that the duelists faced each other. Broderick, as the challenged man, had chosen pistols. Both he and Terry were good shots, but Broderick was ill from a long-standing indigestion. He did not know that the pistol handed to him by Dr. Aylette, a friend of Terry's, was of the hair-trigger order and that Terry was aware of this, having practiced with the weapon, as afterward transpired. At the word "fire," Broderick's pistol went off and the bullet hit the ground near Terry's feet. Terry's bullet penetrated the Senator's right lung. He lived only three days afterward.

In my opinion, the duel was unjustifiable, even under the code, and that Terry took unfair advantage of his opponent, as is obvious from the foregoing. In 1889 he was shot and instantly killed by a man named Neagle, a bodyguard of Stephen J. Field, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, whose face he slapped in a restaurant after the judge had decided adversely to him in a case in which he was an attorney.

The Terry-Broderick affair did more to make dueling odious in California than all the sermons preached against it. Few duels were fought after that in this State. All over the world dueling is now frowned upon by magistrates, editors and preachers. Those occurring in France in recent years have been largely of the sham-battle order and rarely have resulted fatally. Dueling has needed no Cervantes to laugh it down. It has been its own Cervantes and its own Nemesis.

Quitting Before New Law Becomes Effective

Chief Heath Among Those to Step Down

Others Also Expected to Go Out Before January

[illegible]ands of experienced police officers, comprising many of the veterans of the department, is feared in some quarters as a result of the new police and fire pension charter amendment adopted at the recent election, it was learned yesterday. The amendment will be submitted to the State Legislature for ratification at its next session in January, after which time it will become effective.

[illegible]LAND HEATH

[illegible] of a total of ninety-five officers eligible for retirement, five applications have been filed in the last week with the pension board. Among the applicants is Deputy Chief Cleveland Heath, in charge of the traffic [illegible]

OTHERS TAKE ACTION

Deputy Chief Heath filed his application yesterday, as did Sergeant [illegible] Parsons and Patrolman M. D. [illegible] Other applications were filed by Detective-Lieutenants Harris and [illegible]

Deputy Chief Hill said yesterday he had decided as to whether he will retire before the first of the year. Other statements were made by Captain Kriegs. McDowell and Jackson.

Captain Marden, Assistant Chief of Detectives Erven, Lieutenants Ferns, Poor and Green, Detective-Lieutenants Yarrow, Craig and Williamson and Police Sergeants Ford and Williams are eligible for retirement today, having completed twenty years' service.

Deputy Assistant Chief Murray said he will not retire, although he stands to lose $60 a month in pension by remaining until the new law becomes effective.

Under the amendment adopted at the general election, department members will be required to contribute 4 per cent of their pay to the pension fund, whereas now the city bears the expense. The amendment also provides that members may be retired on 50 per cent of the average salary for the last five years of service, with increased benefits for service over the twenty-year period.

SPLENDID RECORD

To present a retiring policeman retired on one-half the salary paid at the time of retirement.

Deputy Chief Heath, a brother of Police Chief Heath, asked for retirement, effective January 1, 1927. He is [illegible] years of age and has an excellent record in the department, having served in many capacities. He has acquired an enviable reputation as a traffic specialist and is regarded as one of the nation's authorities on the subject. His half-pay will amount to $300 a month. His application will be considered by the pension board December 9.

It is stated yesterday that he plans to enter the real-estate business after retiring. While his name has been mentioned as a possible successor to Chief Heath as superintendent of the Motor Vehicle Division, Deputy Chief Heath said he has not been considered for the position and has not asked for it.

Manager McArdle of the pension board stated there are fifty-six members of the fire department eligible for retirement and that he expects that three or four to make application for pensions.

Patient With Fractured Skull Leaves Hospital as Attendants Prepare X-ray

[illegible] Forbes of 827 Birch street, Hawthorne, yesterday walked out of the General Hospital while arrangements were being made to take an X-ray of his head after he had suffered a fractured skull in an automobile accident, the Sheriff's office reported. Forbes, during he was wandering in a dazed condition through the streets, Deputy Sheriff Chumborn prosecuted a search for him, but in vain.

According to the report, machines driven by Forbes and by James McKesson of the U.S.S. Mississippi, collided at Carson and Main streets, near Torrance. Forbes was unconscious for five minutes, and was taken to the General Hospital.

Then it was reported he had suffered a fractured skull and arrangements for an X-ray were made. Forbes is said to have objected to this, giving rise to the belief that the accident had left him in a dazed condition, and then walked out unnoticed.

LETTERS TO The Times

[Name and address of writer must accompany all letters for this column. Letters of a personal nature or letters on contentious religious questions are not acceptable.]

Favors State Division

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 24.—To the Editor of The Times:] There is no identity of interest between the north and south; rather our interests inimicable to one another, a millstone around others' necks, shackled politically with not a single aim common; with such wide disparity of temperament in the two populations we are but shaping a course for more trouble not to recognise it.

The Times has for many years shown itself a champion of sane political and industrial righteousness and we have become accustomed to feeling a certain sense of security in the championship of this purely southern paper; consequently it must have been a bad disappointment to many thousands of your readers to scan your comment on the results of the late election, proving as it did that differences between the north and south are too fundamental to be compromised.

Listening to general observations, the writer is convinced that Californians of the South, of the third and fourth generation, sons and daughters in high schools, Middle Westerners and Rocky Mountain erners as well as those from other parts of the country—all who love the sunshine and call it home, want it identified as the State of Southern California.

C. M. HILTON.

Hawaiian Politics

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It is just possible that this little news item will interest Mr. Harry Chandler. During the recent election in the Territory of Hawaii the Republicans made a clean sweep of all offices except three. Of the three Democrats elected, one, Dr. Ernest Yen Chang, was a supervisor of Honolulu city and county, while another was Yew Char, elected to the House of Representatives. He is only Democrat in the House, and both are citizens of Chinese descent. The other lone Democrat elected was of Portuguese descent, and is supervisor, Manuel Pacheco. This is the first time on record the Republican party now dominates the city of Honolulu.

Signs of Nativity

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] According to the Promethous Lodge Californians are the most mystical of all people, and it is going to discuss why they get that way. I think the climate has something to do with it. It makes one dreamy and meditative. Clairvoyants and faith-healers do a thriving business here. A native son once said to me: "We don't consider a Californian a good citizen unless he gets his fortune told once a week."

LINES

Silk hose do not a lady make
Nor velvet gowns a queen.
Full many maids who cannot take
High grade in such are seen.
Gold teeth the slang which e'er them flows
Can't brighten much, alas!
And pearls seem out of place, I knows,
About a throat of brass.

Silk voices are a better bet
And velvet ways a clue—
If true refinement's ways you get
You get refinement too.
Sweet candor has a golden ring
Sincerity's a pearl—
You can't adorn with anything
To rival them, old girl.

Swear words no indepen-
show,
Paint cannot beauty make
Except on canvas. Nothing low
Can heighten—no mistake.
Mere mind and heart, not ego-
rettes
Nor cocktails, mark the true—
The maid who truest homage gets Knows no such liberty.

LEE SHIPPEY.

BEST TIME OF LIFE

A symposium on "The best time of life" elicited the opinion from Jack Hobbs, the famous cricketer, that "Life is good whatever age you are."

Muriel Stevenson thinks Jack ought to have reversed his statement: "It is when one has learned to make one's own fun that life becomes good, and how long it sometimes takes to find this truth."

Shill Thorndike: "Undoubtedly middle age. I have reached it and am happier now than I've ever been in my life."

Lord Dewar wrote: "The best time of life is when you are young and ambitious and you know everything." I think you know everything."

Marie Tempest: "An old friend of mine recently said, 'Every year I grow older I like life better.'"

Sir Edward Clarke: "The best time of life is when a man is doing his best for himself and others."

Prof. Currie: "I have just passed 60 and I feel that life has become seemed more fair or contained more entrancing interests or possibilities."

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle sees a special charm in every term of life, "the mental and spiritual on the permanent pleasures and one's gradually increase as one grows older."—[Boston Transcript.

STUNT MAN PRINCIPAL IN COURT CAST

Eddie Welch Appears for Trial on Charges Made by Scenario Writer Wife

One year ago yesterday Eddie Welch, widely known picture stunt man and daredevil, embarked on the great adventure with Charlotte Alden Randall, scenario writer, known professionally as Charlotte Delaney.

CHARLOTTE RANDALL

Yesterday Welch appeared before Municipal Judge Georgia Bullock for trial on charges of failure to provide for a minor child, an infant girl. The action against Welch was started in October, but was necessarily continued until after the birth of the youngster. The couple separated shortly before, according to testimony, and the mother and child are now living with Mrs. Welch's parents.

Mrs. Welch testified that her husband had not only failed to provide for their child, but had also refused to pay the hospital and doctor bills. He also threatened her life, and had mistreated her prior to her going to the home of her parents, she said.

EDDIE WELCH

In his own defense Welch said that he had agreed with his wife to pay her one-quarter of his earnings each week, but that he had been out of work and therefore had no earnings. He admitted willingness to pay the bills as soon as able.

Judge Bullock continued the case for sixty days with the understanding that Welch make one payment of $10 before December 1, next, and bi-monthly payments of $20 each.

HER MONEY USED TO PAY HIS ALIMONY

Woman Making Charge Against "Sheik" Obtains Judgment for $2455

That he obtained money from his sweetheart to pay his wife's alimony was asserted yesterday of Walter McAlister described by Mrs. Caroline Ellis of the Hotel Christie as a "boulevard sheik." The assertion was made before Judge Scott, who gave Mrs. Ellis a judgment for $2455.

Mrs. Ellis said McAlister paid court to her and won her heart without telling her he was married. Before she learned this, she said, she loaned him $1000 to pay off a lien on his life insurance policy with the understanding she was to be made beneficiary. Later, she said, McAlister admitted his prior marriage, but proposed that he go to Yucatan and get a divorce. For this she advanced him $1500; he went away somewhere and returned without the divorce, using the money, she said she learned, in appeasing his wife's demands.

McAlister admitted receiving the money and explained Yucatan divorces cost $2500, not $1500, and that not having enough to get one he paid up some of his debts. The most pressing debt, he admitted, was the alimony charge.

SUSPECT IN JAIL BREAK CAPTURED

Victor Brophy Reported to Have Been Arrested While on Street in El Centro

Victor Brophy, asserted ex-convict, who escaped from the City Jail here on the morning of the 17th inst. in company with James Kale, was reported to have been captured in El Centro late yesterday by Special Agent Hansley of the Southern California Telephone Company.

According to a wire to Assistant Captain of Detectives Smith, Brophy was recognized by Hansley when seen walking along the main street of El Centro. Hansley reported he had placed the suspect in jail at San Diego and was requested by Chief Davis to return his prisoner to this city.

Brophy, known to the local police as a "hard egg" and asserted to have served one term in San Quentin for the shooting Officer Huling of the Los Angeles department, escaped from the City Jail with Kale by sawing a bar out of a window on the second floor and sliding down a drain pipe at the south side of the building. Brophy and Kale were serving light sentences for vagrancy at the time.

Four Indicted on Liquor Charges Set Free on Bail

Fred Mason, Eddie Logus, Morris Fennenbock and Harry Young, who were arrested with Frank Cornero at Balboa Island October 29, last, by Federal prohibition agents, furnished bonds of $5000 each yesterday and were released from the County Jail. Cornero, brother of Tony Cornero, asserted bootleg baron of Los Angeles, made bond of $7500 immediately after his arrest.

The five men were indicted last Wednesday by the Federal grand jury on charges of smuggling 160 cases of liquor. At the time of their arrest four automobiles and two boats also were seized by government agents and deputy sheriffs of Orange county.

DEATH ENDS LONG SIEGE OF ILLNESS

Wife of Harbor Engineer Succumbs to Attack of Sleeping Sickness

A five-year siege of sleeping sickness, which baffled the skill and scientific knowledge of the country's most eminent physicians, ended in the death Thursday of Mrs. George F. Nicholson, 36 years of age, wife of the harbor engineer. She died at Balboa Sanatorium, on Balboa Island, but word of her death was not received in Los Angeles until yesterday.

Mrs. Nicholson had been an invalid for about four years, but in recent months had been conscious most of the time and for a while it was believed she would recover. She was first stricken while the family was living in Seattle and was brought to Southern California in the belief that the climate would prove beneficial. Her husband has been harbor engineer since January, 1925.

Besides the husband she leaves three small children, two boys and a girl. The family residence is at 5601 South Rimpau Boulevard. The funeral service will be conducted at Grace Chapel at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, with burial at Inglewood Cemetery. Relatives from Seattle and the East are on their way to this city.

CALLS MATE GOSSIP

Wife Gives Divorce After Telling Husband Talked too Much

Joseph P. Nester was the Mrs. Grundy of the neighborhood, his wife, Mabel Nester, told Judge Bishop in divorce court yesterday.

"He gossiped," Mrs. Nester said. "He gossiped about me. He intimated that I had tried to poison him."

Judge Bishop held that this was cruel enough to justify a divorce for Mrs. Nester, and granted her a decree.

Dr. Annie Besant to Arrive Here Today for Visit

Dr. Annie Besant, international president of the Theosophical Society and protector of the Order of the Star in the East, of which J. Krishnamurti is head, will arrive in Los Angeles at the Santa Fe station at 2:15 p.m. today.

Her recent American lecture tour terminated with her second appearance at Carnegie Hall, New York City, the 18th inst. She is returning to Southern California for the preliminary work in the development of the American Star Center in the Ojai Valley, which is to take rank with centers at Ommen in Holland, Adyar in India and Sydney in Australia.

Dr. Besant, who lectured at the Philharmonic Auditorium early in October, expects to spend several months in this vicinity. She will visit friends in Hollywood before going on to Ojai.

Unable to Weigh Fright, Asserts Superior Judge

There is no substitute for fright, so to speak, Judge Scott in Superior Court, held yesterday when he denied Mrs. Sarah Crouse's suit for damages of $56,200 from a Long Beach druggist.

Mrs. Crouse complained that the druggist's sign fell down to the sidewalk, and while it did not strike her, it scared her so that she suffered from hysteria.

Judge Scott was of the opinion that fright cannot be measured in dollars and gave judgment for the defendant.

EXTRA CLERK WANTED

To assist in the work of the Social Service Commission in supervising the distribution of Christmas donations to needy families, the commission yesterday asked the City Council for authority to employ an additional clerk.

ROADSTER AS ADDED PRIZE

Auburn Car and Vote Bonus New Incentive to Entries in "Times" Auto Contest

How would you like to acquire a fine new $1475 Auburn sport roadster in the next two weeks, without 1 cent of cost? That is the new special offer which starts today in The Times $50,000 automobile and prize campaign.

While thirty beautiful motor cars are included in the regular prize list to be awarded, along with numerous other prizes, when the campaign officially closes December 18, next, the sport roadster is a special prize added for the occasion of the 80,000 extra-vote offer which opens today and closes December 11—one week before the finish of the campaign.

The Auburn roadster will be given to the candidate who turns in the highest amount in new subscription payments during the two weeks of the extra-vote offer. The same new subscriptions will earn extra votes at the rate of 80,000 for each $30 club.

This special event is made by The Times during the last part of its mammoth campaign in recognition of the splendid efforts that candidates have put forth during the preceding weeks. It also is an unusual opportunity for late starters, who hitherto have been unable to accomplish all they wanted, to get busy now and win with a rush. Winning the Auburn roadster will not in any way bar a candidate from winning still another automobile at the finish. In fact, the combination of this smart, high-powered roadster and one of the luxurious sedans offered in the $50,000 prize list presents an irresistible appeal.

Men and women who have been watching the campaign, undetermined whether or not to enter, now have a wonderful chance to send in their nominations and concentrate their efforts on winning the Auburn roadster during the next two weeks. Every new subscription they secure will, of course, also earn thousands of votes toward one of the main prizes to be distributed at Christmas time.

This is the final extra prize event of the campaign, and the largest remaining extra vote offer. Only one vote period is yet to come—a 70,000 bonus offer effective during the final week. Contrary to the opinion held by some candidates, there will positively be no increase in votes at the finish.

Extra vote ballots on the special offer which closed the 24th inst., will be mailed out within a few days and candidates who do not receive theirs should notify the campaign department promptly.

Full details of the new special offer now in effect appear elsewhere in this issue of The Times, together with a nomination blank good for 2000 votes. It is by no means too late to enter the race at this stage and secure a fine prize.

'Murder' Seen in Hollywood Held Illusion

Hollywood's mystery shooting of Thanksgiving night, when a man was reported to have been fired upon and his body tossed into an automobile in front of the home of Mrs. A. Davenport, at 1635 Cahuenga avenue, was discounted heavily yesterday by police following a thorough investigation.

Assistant Captain of Detectives Slaughter declared his men had been unable to find any trace of bullet marks or blood where the shooting was said to have occurred. Search of the neighboring canyon drives also failed to locate the automobile said to have figured in the strange case.

The shooting was reported by Mrs. Davenport and a guest at her home, C. D. Allen, who stated they saw the flash of a revolver, heard a report and a minute later saw a man toss the body of another man inside an automobile and drive away. Slaughter expressed the opinion that Mrs. Davenport and Allen were deceived by the backfire of a passing automobile.

Funeral Service to be Said Today for Rail Officer

Funeral services for Llewellyn Blakely Jones, 57 years of age, auditor of the Santa Fe coast lines, who died Wednesday night at the Santa Fe Hospital, will be conducted at Breese Brothers, 855 South Figueroa street, at 10 o'clock this morning, following which the body will be taken by special train to San Diego, where interment will be made in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Mr. Jones was one of the best known railroad officials in the West, and had been with the Santa Fe virtually all his life. He first entered the employ of the company as telegraph operator in Kansas in 1889. He was appointed traveling auditor in 1897 in New Mexico; was traveling auditor out of Chicago in 1903, and auditor at Longview, Tex., 1906. Two years later he came to Los Angeles and was made chief clerk of the auditor's office, and in 1911 he became assistant auditor. After serving in that capacity for one year he was made auditor.

He was a Mason and Shriner. Surviving are four brothers residing in Canada, and a sister, Mrs. Alice Christiansen of San Diego. Mr. Jones was a native of Pleasant Grove, Iowa.

PIT WORKER KILLED

Employee of City Fatally Crushed by Truck

Lester Swartz, 23 years of age, of 1908 Wellington Road, was crushed to death yesterday when he was caught between a large loading machine and a five-ton truck in a gravel pit at 460 San Fernando Road.

Swartz, according to the police, was operating the loading machine at the time. It is stated he slipped and fell in front of the machine just as the heavy truck backed up to take on a load. Swartz was employed in the City Engineering Department. His body was taken to the County Morgue.

POLICE SEEK IDENTITY OF DEAD NURSE

Young Woman Ends Life in News Vender's Home After Thanksgiving Meal

Identification of the young nurse known thus far only as Ruth, who committed suicide Thanksgiving Day in the home of Adolph Schultz, 60-year-old news vender, probably will be established today, according to the police. Detective Lieutenants Craig and Jarvis late yesterday received a telephone call from a man who promised to come to Central Station this morning and identify the woman.

Ruth killed herself after weeks of fruitless effort to find work. Her only known friend was Schultz, from whom she had purchased papers, and who invited her to eat Thanksgiving dinner in his home at 929 1-2 West Ninth street. The aged news vendor left her at 6 p.m. to go to his news stand. When he returned some hours later the house was filled with gas and Ruth was dead.

In her purse police found yesterday a list of nurse agencies. A check of these, however, failed to reveal any clew to her identity.

JEDEDIAH SMITH TO BE LECTURE SUBJECT

Dr. Owen C. Coy, curator of history of the Los Angeles Museum, will lecture this afternoon at the Los Angeles Museum, Exposition Park, on "Jedediah Strong Smith, the Pathfinder of the Sierras." The subject is of particular interest to Californians, as Jedediah Smith was the first American to make his way overland into California, and during his career as a trapper opened three routes which were later followed by the covered wagons. The illustrated lecture today is of additional significance as the 27th inst. is the one-hundredth anniversary of Smith's first arrival at San Gabriel Mission after crossing the Mojave Desert.

FRITH REVOKES LIQUOR PERMIT

Normany Products Company Loses Alcohol License

Order Follows Decision by Court in Hearing

Defendant Manufactures Hair Restorative

Revocation of the permit of the Normany Products Company, largest user of alcohol west of Chicago, was signed yesterday afternoon by Col. Robert E. Frith, United States Prohibition Administrator for Southern California.

Col. Frith said last night that he had signed the revocation after the decision by Judge Sheldon in the case of the government against the local manufacturing company.

The decision of Judge Sheldon was to the effect that the local company had been charged with discrepancies and irregularities in the handling of its alcohol and that the charges had been sustained by the evidence during the hearing of the case.

The hearing was in the government offices on the eleventh floor of the Transportation Building and was concluded about ten days ago.

The Normany Products Company manufactures toilet articles, one of which, a preparation heavily advertised to keep the hair in place, has had a wide sale. Robert H. Cromwell is president of the company; J. S. Egan is vice-president; H. S. Walton is secretary and M. C. Melton is treasurer.

Mr. Cromwell could not be reached last night. Mr. Walton, secretary, said that the decision would have no effect on the business of the company, which would continue as heretofore manufacturing toilet articles.

The company was represented at the hearing by the legal firm of Mitchell, Silberberg & Davis.

First Victim of Rain Dies When Struck by Auto

The heavy rain of yesterday claimed its first victim late last night, when Thomas Acuna, 49-year-old resident of Hollenbeck Heights, was struck down and killed by an automobile in front of 217 Bunset Boulevard. Acuna was rushed to Receiving Hospital, but died as he was being taken from the ambulance.

The automobile was driven by Richard Wilde of 1326 Allesandro street. He was not held, as it was shown that Acuha, confused by the rainfall, had run directly in front of the car.

Delegates-Elect to Sacramento Hold Get-Together Dinner

Legislative delegates-elect to the coming session of the Legislature met at a get-together dinner at the Alexandria last night. The meeting was entirely informal and was held largely for the purpose of enabling the local delegates to become acquainted with one another prior to the opening of the next Legislature.

Former German Officer Given Reward

Autographed Picture of Ex-Emperor

ONE might reasonably suppose that kidding the Kaiser back in his palmier days would not be too healthy a pastime. Yet Friedrich Wilhelm Lyons of 6224 Franklin avenue, has done just that and not only lived to tell the tale but also is the proud possessor of a recent autographed photograph of the former Kaiser sent to him by the ex-warlord himself.

Lyons was a lieutenant-commander in the German navy. He was one of a group of naval officers who annually held a stag party at Wilhelmshaven, which was much on the order of the gridiron dinners that occur in Washington. The Kaiser, said Lyons, always attended the function, along with Von Tirpitz, Bethmann-Hollweg and many other prominent men in Germany. And like the gridiron dinners, where not even Presidents are exempt from criticism and jibes, so Friedrich Wilhelm Hohenzollern came in for his share of ragging and appeared to enjoy it. Lyons says many a reform or change in naval regulations was brought about in this manner, whereas under ordinary circumstances no one would have dared to broach such matters to the Kaiser.

To the principal performers at these celebrations, the Kaiser always gave an autographed photograph. Lyons had been the recipient of one which later was destroyed by fire. The Kaiser was apprised of the loss and forthwith he sent another one to Lyons, which he received only a short time ago.

Lyons has been in the United States three years. He is the son of an Englishman who married in Germany and served throughout his life as a member of the Royal Guards at Potsdam. Lyons came to Hollywood to engage in the work of a motion-picture technician. He is interested in the representation of real German types, manners and customs in American-made pictures dealing with foreign topics. He says that while the discrepancies that occur through ignorance of these things have no effect on the average American audience, yet when they are shown abroad they appear ridiculous. He gives as an example the fact that German men often are shown wearing belts, whereas they never use that article, but still sponso. suspenders.

CASTING DIRECTOR PROMOTED

Paul Kohner Has Supervisory Charge of Universal Unit; Considine Signs Juvenile and Two German Stars; M.-G.-M., Universal, Swap Stars

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

It was entirely on the books that Paul Kohner should be advanced at Universal City, and therefore we weren't in the least surprised to receive the announcement yesterday that Kohner had been promoted from the position of casting director to that of unit supervisor. Ever since President Carl Laemmle took Kohner abroad with him in something of an advisory and confidential capacity, we felt sure that something of this sort would happen.

PAUL KOHNER

So this promising young man will no longer look out through a hole in the wall at the various applicants for Universal jobs, but instead will supervise those who already have jobs. The new appointment will take effect on December 1, when he will assume supervisory powers on future Edward Sloman productions.

We don't expect the promotion to stop there, either, all signs pointing to the gradual elevation of Kohner to the supervision of several other units.

Two pictures already are scheduled for Kohner's unit after the completion of the present Sloman picture, "The Deacon," starring Jean Hersholt. They are "The Bargain Bride," an adaptation of the European stage success, "Lea Lyon," by Max Brody, in which Mary Philbin will be starred, and "Moscow," the first American picture to be made with Ivan Moskine, star of the French film triumph, "Michael Strogoff."

Kohner is credited with having first brought Rudolph Schildkraut to the screen, and with having been instrumental in launching the screen careers of George Lewis, Barbara Kent, Dorothy Gulliver and other promising young players developed in the past year. He will work under Henry Henigson, Universal general manager.

William W. Cohill, as announced yesterday, is succeeding Kohner as casting director at Universal.

John Considine Signs Players

That energetic young producer, John W. Considine, Jr., seems to be out to capture all the good talent he can find for his company, Feature Productions, which releases as you know through United Artists.

DON ALVARADO

Don Alvarado is his latest catch. This engaging actor signed yesterday with Considine on a five-year contract, to play star and feature roles in the Feature Productions. Alvarado is working for Fox films now in "The Monkey Talks." He is likewise to appear in the Fox production of "Carmen," which Raoul Walsh will direct with Dolores Del Rio in the name part. But he is under no long-term contract with that organization, so that Mr. Considine took time by the forelock and invited him to join that very excellent company of players which Considine is building up for his organization. Alvarado is to appear with Norma and Constance Talmadge in some of their future productions.

Mr. Considine is also signing two noted German players, whose names he is not yet ready to divulge, however, due to their present Berlin engagements. However, he assures us that they signed yesterday.

The players signed by Considine now include Estelle Taylor, the Duncan Sisters, Gilbert Roland, Don Alvarado, and Willie Fritich.

Concerning "Topsy and Eva," in which the Duncans will star, Lois Weber is making excellent progress with the scenario, and it looks now as if soon as the sisters finish their coast tour in picture houses, "Topsy and Eva," will be all ready for them to hop into.

The Duncans, by the way, are scoring heavily wherever they are appearing. They go to San Francisco next week, after which they will visit Loew's in this city for a week or two.

Nothing daunted by the fact that yesterday was Friday, Norma Talmadge started work on "Camille," with Fred Niblo directing.

Swapping Players the Style

Swapping of picture stars by different-companies seems to be the order of the day. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer yesterday, through the earnest solicitations of Director Ernst Lubitsch, persuaded President Carl Laemmle of Universal to loan Jean Hersholt to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for "Old Heidelberg" in which he will appear with Ramon Novarro.

RENEE ADOREE

It is known that Hersholt's first starring vehicle, "The Old Soak," has proved to be one of the outstanding box office successes made by Universal this year.

On the other hand, it is understood that in consideration of the loaning of Hersholt, M.-G.-M. is to loan the services of Renee Adoree to Universal to be starred in a U picture.

Priscilla Dean in Vaudeville

Just one of those people who is willing to try anything once is that lively young actress, Priscilla Dean.

Miss Dean, according to report, is likely to take a flyer into vaudeville, appearing in a playlet on the Orpheum circuit.

Gertrude Short Bobs Shorter

Speaking of bobs, which every feminine being of course always is doing, Gertrude Short has had her hair bobbed no less than seven times in as many months! Yesterday was the seventh, when she entered a new M.-G.-M. picture, "Tillie the Toiler."

"Every time I went into a new picture, the director wanted my hair landscaped after a different fashion. There was almost none left to bob, but I had to do it anyway," Gertrude plaintively asserted yesterday.

However, Irving Thalberg took pity on Miss Short and handed her out a check for sacrificing the remainder of her hair.

"He evidently knows," said Gertrude, "that the upkeep of a bob is an expensive matter."

Sol Lesser to Return

Sol Lesser, who went to Europe many months ago following his break with First National and after selling out his West Coast holdings, is to come back to this country within a few weeks, according to word just received from Paris, where he has been staying for some time. Lesser and his family were in Paris so long, in fact, that they found it expedient to place their young son in school there.

Even the theater man himself has been studying two subjects in Paris. Hold on tight now! These two subjects are French, which he is studying at the Berlitz School of Languages, and cookery, which he is studying at the famous academy for chefs known as Le Gordon.

If you are invited to dine with the Lessers when they return home, use your own judgment.

Zasu Pitts With Roach

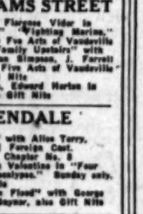
Just by way of escaping all these tear-teasers in which she has lately been appearing, Zasu Pitts is to star in a two-reeler for Hal Roach according to report.



ZASU PITTS

The picture is not yet named, according to the custom of the Roach organization, but at any rate it is promised that Miss Pitts will have a chance to get some of her well-known comedy out of her system which has been accumulating ever since she went into the sad role she plays in "The Wedding March" with Von Stroheim.

Pauline Garon Busy

If you think that Pauline Garon entirely lost her own individuality when she became the wife of Lowell Sherman, you are all wrong.

Miss Garon, according to word from the East, has signed to play a vamp role in Gloria Swanson's film, "Bunja."

They're All Playing Ball

Baseballitis has seized stars, officials and workers at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, even supplanting the whippet racing as a form of popular sport.

This is the result of the training camp opened at the studio to train William Haines, Harry Carey and other players for "Slide, Kelly, Slide." Edward Sedgwick's forthcoming production based on life with a big baseball team.

Mike Donlin, famous player of the New York Giants, arrived to coach the actors in baseball technique, and Haines, Carey and others were put under training. Daily baseball practice followed.

Karl Dane, George Cooper, B. P. Hyman, Christy Cabanne, George Hill and Lon Chaney are among the players.

Now the noon hour sees executives, directors and workmen all playing with the actors under training, and Sedgwick himself acts as catcher, just as he once did in the University of Texas team.

Julanne Johnston In It

Julanne Johnston yesterday was added to the cast of Constance Talmadge's new comedy drama, "Carlotta," now in production at the United Artists Studio.

Other well-known players who have roles in the feature being directed by Marshall Neilan are Antonio Moreno, leading man, Edward Martindel, Michael Yavitch, Arthur Thalasso and Andre Lanoy.

BY HERBERT MOULTON

At last a picture without a war sequence!

So many battles are being fought in the current film with rifles, shells and the other paraphernalia of war, that it is a positive relief to find one where the only weapons are a pair of soul-searing eyes and the only decoration for bravery under fire an impassioned kiss.

Such is the distinction that must be accorded "The Prince of Tempters," now on view at Loew's State.

It is perhaps well that it comes at such a time; otherwise it is doubtful if there would be much distinction at all.

The title is apt to be misleading. One's natural reaction is that Ben Lyon, by virtue of his cinematics as a breaker of feminine hearts, continues on his merry way in this one.

But Ben is a very pious youth and leaves the tempting to his friend, Ian Keith.

That is to say that Keith sics his friend, Lya de Putti, on to Ben, and inasmuch as the poor youth is fresh from a monastery there is nothing for him to do but capitulate.

As for Lya's charms, all I can say is that the victim would have to be as guileless a chap as Ben delineates in order for her to have any effect on him. Her method is that of the typical movie vamp—a method made famous years ago by Theda Bara—and it is rather more humorous than thrilling.

Not that Lya is anything to be laughed at. Indeed, she personifies the vampiric; the trouble lies in the way she does it. Director Lothar Mendez has painted her as a slinky, sticky siren, garbed her in an outlandish costume, and made her lure the boy with all of the obviousness possible.

On the other hand, it is quite a novelty to see the vamp's icy heart melt toward the end and find her genuinely in love with the hero. It's a nice twist, resulting in plenty of complications, as you may readily expect.

Mendez has produced a drama for the most part interesting in its treatment, although it seems somewhat ponderous at times. The introductory sequence, depicting the hero as a youth in Italy, is sluggish in its tempo.

I don't know when I've seen Lyon to better advantage, though.

His previous screen antics as a twentieth-century Don Juan have become rather monotonous and it is a relief to see him do something with an essential humanness about it. He goes to the opposite extreme in this, playing a young monk, who forswears his vows when he falls heir to a title and an estate.

Lois Moran, too, is happily cast as the heroine. She is a winsome little figure and will win you right from the start. Her scene after her misunderstanding with Lyon, when her parents are urging her to marry the nasty old villain, is memorable. Mendez reveals a Continental deftness in his treatment of this scene.

As for the villain, Keith makes him human for all his faults. Upon him falls the task of providing the temptation for Lyon and the theft of his girl—and he would have made a nice job of it if the vamp hadn't had a change of heart.

Mary Brian is featured in the cast, but one has to wait a long while for a glimpse of her. Even then it's just a glimpse—about fifty feet of film, I should judge.

And what a Mary she is!

As outrageous a flapper as ever lived, sipping wine and consuming hors d'oeuvres with an avidity that upsets even the hero.

Too bad she didn't have more to do.

Several of the character parts are unusually fine, that of Sam Hardy being outstanding. Judith Vassell contributes a splendid bit in the opening sequences. Burt Wales is excellent as the hero in his boyhood.

Others appearing are Henry Vibart, Frazier Coulter and J. Barney Sherry.

The friendly personality of Gene Morgan, the new master of stage ceremonies, beams across the footlights on the new bill and makes a decided hit with the audience.

In addition to which, Fanchon and Marco present an imposing array of talent, making up in color and humor what the film lacks in this respect.

Murray and Levere again appear and receive their customary show-stopping encores with their songs. The Connor Twins are attractive in their numbers, and Edythe Maye, aided by Morgan, cuts up a bit with songs and a demonstration of the Black Bottom.

Others appearing are Alexander Akimoff, the Russian basso, and Stadler and Duffin.

SOUTH SEA CROPS UP AGAIN

BY BARBARA MILLER

Allegedly fascinating native girls, uncouth beachcombers, inhabiting tropic isles set in coral seas come into their own in a traditionally picturesque fashion at the West Coast Uptown Theater, where "Paradise" is the current attraction.

"Paradise," presented by First National, is just another motion picture with the ever-popular South Seas locale.

Outside of a few scenic shots, that portion of the globe has little new to offer. Our ancient friend, the ne'er-do-well, done in a colorless fashion by Milton Sills, meanders into view again as a Londoner of "good family" who professes no interest in work until he meets one wide-eyed Chrissie (pertly done by Betty Bronson,) and decides that love in a furnished flat, which does entail some sort of a lucrative position, is quite all right.

After several domestic scenes, the couple wander to the South Seas, so that Milton may "take charge" of an island—conveniently deeded to him by his stern parent.

Double-crossing on the part of a discarded suitor of Chrissie's, who docilely provided the yacht in which the party reached their exotic destination; a similar nefarious pastime practiced by the villain of the piece, Mr. Beachcomber No. 1, notably handled by Noah Beery; provide ensuing complications.

With the exception of excellent work by Beery, Lloyd Whitlock and Charles Murray, "Paradise" is consistently unconvincing.

The blithe introduction in which Betty Bronson and Milton Sills perpetrate one of those utterly smitten-at-first-sight affairs is a keynote to the entire film.

Overacting is deplorably apparent, especially on the part of Miss Bronson, who attempts to achieve a characterization by sheer vivaciousness.

Snappy titles in this vein enhance the picture: Queries Milton, during an apparently blissful waltz, "Happy?" Responds Betty, "Yes—very."

"Paradise" was directed by Irvin Willat and is a Ray Rockett production. Other members of the cast include Kate Price, Claude King, Charles Brook and Ashley Cooper.

On the stage, Stolberg and his clever musicians offer a pleasing program, with the "Volga Boatman" and "In a Little Spanish Town" deservedly popular.

"WAR PAINT" AT FIGUEROA NOT FACIAL VARIETY

BY KATHERINE LIPKE

At last a real Indian picture!

"War Paint," Col. Tim McCoy's first film venture for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, opened yesterday at the Figueroa Theater and proved itself to be a thoroughly interesting production giving to the public a story of the red man which is human, real and apparently authentic.

In fact, the Indian side of the story is so thrilling and sympathetic that the white characters suffer greatly by comparison. This of course, excludes Col. McCoy, who is at all times the gallant hero, busying himself with arresting bad Indians, making friends with good ones, wooing his lady love and stopping the major of his company from going to war one the Arapahoes.

There is no doubt of it, Col. Tim proves himself in this picture to be an engaging film star. He not only screens well, but is thoroughly capable of injecting a thrill into all love scenes. His extreme height, topped by a very personable face gives a most pleasing impression, and yesterday's audience of small boys who rushed in to see the picture, cheered him hoarsely to the finish, adding a catcall or two for the villain for good measure.

The story of "War Paint," which was written by Peter B. Kyne, is laid in 1887 on the reservation of the Arapahoes. It features the rebellion of Iron Eyes against the whites and his attempt to stir the Arapahoes to action. The contrast of this Indian with the friendly chief, White Hawk, drives home quite nicely the truth that there are good Indians, bad Indians—just as there are good white men and bad—and the faults of the former should not be blamed on the latter.

Chief Yowlache in the heavy role of Iron Eyes, is one of the outstanding characters of the picture. There is an ominous expression in his eyes which adds greatly to the tense thrilling moments when he surrounds the fort in the absence of the troops. A good actor—Chief Yowlache.

In order that romance be not neglected even in an Indian picture Pauline Starke is ushered into the picture in old-fashioned crinilines and curls. Pauline is entirely too good an actress to play an uninteresting little heroine who forms the background for sterner stuff.

Much of the humor of "War Paint" is due to our good friend Karl Dane, who plays a buck private afraid of Indians, but who develops a thrilling murderous rage when the fort is surrounded and hurls his enemies far and wide until Iron Eyes raises his tomahawk and lays him low. There is an inimitable quality to Dane's acting which can raise the humor average of any picture.

Chief White Horse plays the friendly Arapohoe chieftain and established a most sympathetic character. Altogether, "War Paint" presents a vivid and human glimpse of the American Indian, his life and his ideas. Col. Tim McCoy deserves much credit for this fact as well as W. S. Van Dyke, who directed the picture.

There is a Jack Laughlin prologue preceding the film which used Indian atmosphere and entertainment.

TITLES THEM ALL

Walter Anthony, Universal's chief title writer, is now titling Edward Laemmle's latest directorial effort, as yet unnamed. Significantly every feature picture produced by Carl Laemmle the year has been titled by this journalist.

Engage Fenton as Juvenile in 'Son-Daughter'

Leslie Fenton, now appearing in "What Price Glory?" has been engaged for the leading juvenile role in "The Son-Daughter," scheduled to follow "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," at the Belasco Theater, according to an announcement made by Fred Butler last night.

Fenton will be remembered for his work in "The Goose Hangs High," which was presented at the Playhouse several seasons ago.

Negotiations are also under way, it is said, whereby Brandon Hurst may play the role of Sun-Sha, the heavy. This character, as played by Harry Mestayer, former Coast favorite, was said to be the outstanding hit scored in the New York production.

As yet no actress has been engaged to play the role created by Lenore Ulric in New York.

"The Son-Daughter" will probably open shortly before the New Year, with December 27th mentioned as a probable opening date.

LENORE COFFEE FILM PLEASES IN PREVIEW

A fitting climax for this year's work has been written by Lenore J. Coffee, Cecil B. De Mille scenarist, whose latest effort, "The Night of Love," was accorded a most successful preview last night in Glendale.

Approximately three months ago, not content with having been acclaimed by Hollywood producers as one of the three foremost scenarists in the industry by virtue of her screen version of "The Volga Boatman," Miss Coffee consented to write an original story for Samuel Goldwyn, permission having been secured by the later from De Mille, to whom Miss Coffee is under contract.

With this agreement fulfilled, she was persuaded to write the adaptation and continuity. Last night, aided and abetted by the two principals in this picture Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky, Miss Coffee's effort received spontaneous applause.

RAYMOND HITCHCOCK WILL BE WITH REVUE

Raymond Hitchcock, one of the best known musical comedy stars of the country, will be master of ceremonies at the midnight show of the Hollywood Music Box Revue tonight.

Thanksgiving evening a new edition to the revue opened with Lupino Lane, Ted Doner, and other luminaries added to the cast of principles. Doris Eaton, Florence Oberle, Bobby Higgins, and Doris Whitney compose the feminine contingent of featured players.

The "Serpentine" number, as well as the "Gates of Love" have been retained as chorus features.

IN FLIRTATIOUS MOOD

Carmel Myers, who has become famous as a portrayer of vampish screen roles, has effected a new characterization in "The Demi Bride," starring Norma Shearer with Lew Cody. In the role of the Viennese stepmother Miss Myers has laid aside her languor and seductiveness in favor of a lighter flirtatious mood equally as dangerous and even more alluring.

FLORENCE VIDOR OFT-MARRIED LADY

"The Popular Sin" is Interesting Marital Comedy Now at Metropolitan

BY MARQUIS BUSBY

In case you thought the popular sin was imbibing what comes in cases marked "Books—Breakable," a disillusionment is in store. It isn't that at all. No sir-ee, it's that green-eyed monster, jealousy. At least this is the high point gleaned from "The Popular Sin," an interesting picture with French farce-comedy trimmings at the Metropolitan this week. Lovely Florence Vidor is the star.

What a delightfully frivolous picture it is, too. Almost all members of the cast are married to each other, at least once, before the jealously inclined lady finally gets the man she wants, presumably for ever after, as the story books have it.

In fact one might almost say that the popular sin in this instance is surplus of marriages and divorces.

There isn't much of a plot, if you pick it to pieces, but what there is of it is treated in admirably deft style.

A philandering hubby sends his wife to Deauville for a week-end in order that he may carry on a little flirtation with a naughty-looking stage charmer. Apparently being in a prescribing mood, he recommends the same resort to his novelist friend. Although the wife and the novelist had never met before, they do at Deauville and often. Lots of nice scenery, two lonely people, and the sum total is a romance.

Being an agreeable sort of chap the philandering husband agrees to a divorce . . . perhaps just a little too readily to be really flattering to his wife.

So, after a decent interval for divorce, the lady marries the novelist.

And then entered the green-eyed monster . . .

The wife having had experience with one unfaithful spouse, readily suspects her husband of carrying on an affair with a most gorgeous person, La Belle Toulaise, so she again visits the divorce court . . . successfully.

The little wife looks quite ravishingly lonesome until there is another divorce, or maybe it was two, and she is able to get the novelist back.

Very complicated as far as marital relations are concerned.

Florence Vidor looks fetchingly patrician at all times as the wife in question in the becoming ni . . . er, robe de nuit, which she wears in one sequence. And there is a long succession of elaborate gowns.

Real acting honors must go to Clive Brook, the novelist, and Philip Strange, a charming newcomer, who plays philandering hubby number one. Their characterizations are on a particularly high plane with never a resort to heaviness, so deadly to the success of a farce. However, in justice to Miss Vidor, her role is more or less stereotyped.

Greta Nissen is the blond Le Belle Toulaise, and incidentally, a very good foil for the duskiness of Florence Vidor.

Monta Bell wrote the story and Malcolm St. Clair directed, which should lay at rest that old supposition that too many directors spoil the movie soup. There is delicious seasoning in "The Popular Sin."

Eddie Peabody, the smiling sultan of syncopation, is the leading figure in a well-staged presentation, "Way Down South." There are all sorts of Dixieland features, with the Vernon Club Serenaders apparently high in favor with the audiences. Lee Kent and Drury Lane also score.

"What the Barber Ordered" is the organ number played this week by Albert Hay Malotte.

Macloon Brings New York Plays for House Here

Louis O. Macloon, the Pacific Coast producer, came back to Los Angeles with a bundle of scripts, each one of which represented a New York success. He also had with him a long list of contracts with New York stars to play in forthcoming Macloon attractions.

Macloon says "Loose Ankles," the Sam Janney New York farce comedy success, as the one sister play to "Cradle Snatchers," which is now at the Playhouse. Lillian Albertson will start rehearsals on this play within the next few weeks.

Macloon has been in New York City for the past nine weeks.

VISITOR PRAISES BRITISH DECREE

Leigh Hunt Says Empire Stronger Than Ever

Conference Decision Called Outstanding

Former London Resident Guest in City

England's decision to grant independence to the outlying dominions of the British Empire is one of the most outstanding achievements in statesmanship of modern times, in the opinion of Leigh Hunt, retired capitalist and for years a resident of the Soudan, where he introduced the growing of cotton. Mr. Hunt, who makes his winter home at Las Vegas, Nev., was one of the arrivals at the Biltmore yesterday.

"This action will render Great Britain unassailable from any quarter," declared Mr. Hunt. "It will strengthen the bonds among the different units of the empire to a greater extent than any other measure could have done.

"The autonomy arrangement gives each of the dominions, except India, which is in a class by itself, all the independence it could ask for so far as its own internal affairs are concerned and at the same time maintains such union with the mother country as affords the dominion the full protection of British power. It would be unwise for any unit to sever itself from that protection. Under the new scheme, however, each dominion may go ahead and develop unhampered by interference from the mother country and at the same time may be assured of aid from the entire empire in case of foreign aggression."

Mr. Hunt, who is a close student of British politics, said the granting of this independence is a part of the program being worked out by Britain for greater development of all the members of the empire.

"British power from this time on will be a thing to be reckoned with more than ever in international politics," he said.

LIQUOR KINGS REACH DRY LAND

Experts Here on 'Round-World Trip

Hon. John Dewar and Baron Bernard de Precourt

TWO distinguished liquor experts arrived simultaneously in an arid land yesterday by a freak of chance which drew them aboard the same ship en route to the United States from around-the-world trips.

Honorable John Dewar of London, accompanied by Right Honorable Marjory Dewar and Baron Bernard de Precourt of Paris, both chanced to make the journey here from the Hawaiian Islands on the steamer City of Los Angeles. The Dewar home is known wherever the finest whisky is known while that of De Precourt is equally celebrated in connection with benedictine.

Registered simply as John Dewar, the Englishman and his wife are completing a 'round-the-world voyage and after a few weeks in America will return to London.

Baron De Precourt, equally democratically disguised on the City of Los Angeles' passenger list likewise is completing a jaunt around the world and will return to Paris after a short glimpse of the United States.

Dewar declined to discuss prohibition, either in this country or in Britain. "I suppose there is some sentiment in favor of prohibition in England and Scotland, but this has always existed and I am not aware that it is any more powerful now than at any previous time," he commented.

Mrs. Chaplin Arrives Home From Honolulu

Although not expected back from her recent trip to Hawaii for two weeks, Mrs. Lita Grey Chaplin, wife of the film comedian, returned home yesterday on the steamer City of Los Angeles. She stated that she expects to make another Hawaiian visit in the early spring.

In the Chaplin party were Mrs. Chaplin's mother, Mrs. Lillian Spicer, her son, Charles Spencer Chaplin, Jr., and Miss Cecily Cunha, long-distance swimmer, who will spend a brief visit with the Chaplins at their Beverly Hills home.

GUESTS HEAR BRIDGE TALK

Bullock's Extends Invitations to Others Than Ticket Holders for Cards Lecture

Guest day yesterday afternoon in Bullock's current auction-bridge series under the direction of Mrs. Katherine A. Streeter met with the customary response of delighted enthusiasm. In spite of the rain an unusually large audience greeted the speaker. Much appreciation was evident of the invitation extended each ticket holder by Bullock's to bring one guest on this occasion. Reservations for the remaining four lessons in the course are available in Bullock's linen room, second floor, for which the subjects are as follows: The doubles, business and informatory; the play, maxims and absurdities, and, general review.

"In the event that one is unable to get information across the table by a bid, then the lead is the only channel left open to him to convey his holdings to his partner," said Mrs. Streeter, on the subject of leads. "Considering that every word and play conveys a definite meaning at the bridge table, the importance of the opening lead can not be minimized. The opening lead against a no-trump declaration is quite a different thing than the lead against a trump, or suit bid. When a suit has been declared, go out after tricks, otherwise they may be trumped when you play them. Against the no-trump bid the contrary is true, hold on to your trick-taking cards. Make your uncertain tricks sure before you take a chance on losing your sure ones."

CATHERINE A STREETER

HOW TO LEAD

Your partner's bid directing your play, it is customary to lead the highest of your partner's suit. But, there being no always in bridge, this is the best policy only when you have two or three small cards. If, on the other hand, in your partner's strong suit you have, Kxx, or Kxxx, Qxx or Qxxx lead low, so that you will hold a taking card over whatever the declarer may have in that suit. With Ax or Qx lead the honor. No bid having been made by partner you are to lead so that your partner may form a deduction regarding your strength. In a no-trump declaration the best lead is generally the fourth best card of your longest suit. Then your partner, by applying the rule of eleven can figure what your holdings are approximately. Do not lead aces against a no-trumper. This weakens your defense and makes it easier for your opponent. Only lead your high cards when you have a solid suit as AKQxx or AKxxxxx. Holding such strength you may be able to go right down the line. You may lead K from KQxx if you have a re-entry card in hand.

GO AFTER TRICKS

"Furthermore," Mrs. Streeter concluded, "if a suit has been declared and your lead has not been directed, go out after tricks. Lead any honor card, although it is better to lead the top of touching honors as a rule, with the following exception; when holding AK alone, lead ace, then king showing the partner you have, no more and can trump the next round. However, when holding AKxx lead K then A, showing you have others and permitting partner to locate the thirteen cards which he can then do. Lead K from KQ. The lead of K shows that it is accompanied by A or Q. Lead Q and you have indicated, Q, J, 10 or Q, J, 9; lead Jack from, Q, J, 10, or J, 10, 9; lead 10 from K, 10, 9, 8, or Q, 10, 9, 8—fulfilling the admonition to lead the top from touching cards. "Short suit leads, from a singleton or a doubleton, instead of establishing an opportunity to trump later, usually aid in setting up that suit for the opponents. In rare cases the bidding may have shown you a way to profit by a short suit lead, which should only be indulged in under these circumstances."

Dietand Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

AGE AND WEIGHT

"I am small-framed, and only five feet, two inches tall. A year and a half ago, I weighed 180, but now, through Peterizing, am down to a mere 120! Of course, my friends aren't used to seeing me weigh so little out I tell them I shall never return to the fat stage again to please anyone. One thinks I've reduced too much for my age (49.) but I feel so wonderful that I know I haven't, and I'm as happy as a lark. I love you. —Mrs. P.

Wouldn't it give you happiness to get such a love letter?

No, you haven't reduced too much, Mrs. P., or you wouldn't feel so well. And we do not allow for increased weight with increased age after maturity. In fact it is considered wiser to be a little under the average weight than over, for best health. According to the rule for adult weight of 110 pounds for five feet in height (in stocking feet) and five and a half pounds for each inch over that, you are about normal; but one can vary 5 per cent over, or under, and still be normal, this depending upon the framework, and as you say you are small-framed, you could probably weigh a little less and not be considered underweight.

It is strange how your friends who have become used to you a certain way, will cling to the idea that they like you better that way, but the taste of your friends and relatives in the matter of your looks, has to be disregarded, for your health is of much more importance. There can't be much doubt that you look better, too, Mrs. P.! It is certainly impossible for a small-framed woman weighing 180 pounds to look well, or be well, for long.

Those who are in need of the instructions Mrs. P. went by, may have our booklet on the subject by sending 10 cents in stamps and a self-addressed, stamped envelope with request.

ABNORMAL DISCHARGES

Mrs. L. The genital tract, including the uterus, is lined with mucous membrane and in any congestion of the mucous membrane there may be an excess of mucus secretions. This excess is known as leucorrhea, when it is not due to any special infection. Slow ordinary infections of any sort, injury or abnormal positions of the organs, sometimes heavy colds, and anything else which causes extra congestion, will cause leucorrhea. An extra secretion is normal preceding and following menstruation. If there is a constant leucorrhea, it indicates that there is some chronic irritation, the cause of which must be investigated.

As you know (or should know,) all of the organs of the body are affected by poorly balanced diets and other unhygienic habits, so an essential part of the home treatment should be to correct these if they are wrong. Until you can see your physician about the discharge, you might take some very hot douches, four to eight quarts of water with a little antiseptic in it. (It is really the heat that is beneficial.) You can use a teaspoonful of lysol to the quart of water, or a tablespoonful of boracic acid crystals or powder, or some permanganate of potash crystals, about one teaspoonful to two quarts of water. In order to be effective, these douches should be taken lying down and they should be taken very slowly.

You should see your physician to have him determine the cause of your condition, Mrs. L.

Mrs. J.: Send for our article on the Menopause. (Inclose only a self-addressed, stamped envelope with request.)

My dear followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose 10 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible if they are of general interest. Don't forget the stamped, self-addressed envelope if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

HOUSEMAID PAL, ASSERTS WIFE

Woman Requesting Divorce Charges Mate Took Out Servant

Paul H. Oban, said to be a well-to-do lumberman, spoiled the housemaid by making advances to her and taking her to the beach, according to a suit for divorce filed yesterday by Leila B. Orban.

He also fell in love with one May Haney, whom Mrs. Orban named as co-respondent, the wife declared.

SAYS MOERS SLANDERED SLAIN WIFE

Witness in Civil Suit Tells of Remarks Made After Killing by Kid McCoy

Testimony that Albert A. Moers had attacked the memory of his dead wife, Mrs. Theresa Moers, for whose death Norman Selby (Kid McCoy) is serving a sentence in San Quentin, was given by Paul Robinson, undertaker, yesterday in Judge Keeler's court where Moers is defending a claim to his wife's estate. Robinson declared Moers made the offending remark at the time arrangements were being made for the dead woman's burial.

Bernard Abrams also swore on the stand that Mrs. Moers told him the day before her death that she would be "the happiest woman in the world" when she and Moers were separated and their property affairs settled. His testimony and that of Robinson was offered by attorneys for Mrs. Clara Weinstein, who asserts she is the mother of Mrs. Moers and is seeking possession of the estate, to show continued discord between Moers and his wife.

Moers denied the statements and also repudiated testimony by Mrs. Regina Weiss of New oYrk to the effect that Moers had offered her money to sign an affidavit that Mrs. Weinstein had smuggled her children into this country as the children of her sister.

With the conclusion of Moers's testimony, arguments were begun and it is expected the case will be concluded Monday.

AUTOIST TAKEN AS HIT-AND-RUN DRIVER

Jesus Sias, 4449 Michigan street, was locked up last night as a hit-and-run driver after Officer Hanes chased him from Main and Daly streets to Workman street and Mission Road. At the first-named intersection, according to the officer, the car driven by Sias struck Mrs. Marie Lamartine, 44 years of age, of 1708 North Mission Road. She was hurt only slightly, but Sias is said to have kept on going.

WRITER'S WIFE WINS DECREE

Mrs. Belle Rogers Weadock obtained a divorce decree yesterday against Louis T. Weadock, a fiction writer, in the court of Judge Summerfield. She asserted Weadock drinks to excess. She was represented by Attorney W. H. Dehm.

NEW ROW OVER DEAD FILM STAR

Pola Negri Airs Views on Valentino "Spirit Messages"

RUDOLPH VALENTINO, dead, seems to be the subject of as much controversy as he was while living. Now there is a dispute as to his occupation in the Great Beyond. Winifred Hudnut, professionally known as Natacha Rambova, who divorced him in Paris, says she has spirit messages from him, while Pola Negri, who announced her engagement to him shortly before he died, is inclined to doubt it and besides is shocked that anyone should use the dead star's name for publicity purposes.

Miss Negri yesterday threw figurative cold water on the "messages," and intimated that somebody, unnamed, was publicizing the matter in a way that was "profane and commercial." Miss Negri said this at her bungalow at the Ambassador:

"Spiritualism is a very great and a very serious thing. A message from the other world would be a beautiful and comforting thing to the sorrowing ones left behind to mourn their dear ones.

"However, it seems to me to be a profanation of the memory of Rudolph Valentino to make public statements like those I have read. I am deeply shocked.

"In this instance, in regard to my own recent loss, I feel the subject is altogether too sacred to be commercialized and I cannot help thinking that this publicity we have been reading is unworthy of the grand dignity of the great beyond."

Miss Hudnut arrived in New York on Thursday with George B. Wehner, through the mediumship of Wehner, several messages from the dead actor. She declared she had received, She stated Valentino is now a citizen of the astral plane and is there associating with several former great stars of the legitimate stage. She also announced she intends to write a book, which will be offered to the public, on the subject of the messages.

DOOM OF EAST FIFTH FEARED

Court Takes Under Submission Cosloff's Plea to Open Shop When Attorney for City Opposes Adding More Second-Hand Stores

"Oh, my name is Solomon Levi,
"My store's on Salem street,
"And there I'll fit you out with coats
"And vests so very neat."

And now, whether or not the Solomon Levis of Los Angeles have a Salem street is at issue and under the consideration of the Superior Court of the State of California in and for the county of Los Angeles.

No less a question than this is raised in the matter of Cosloff vs. the Board of Police Commissioners. Deputy City Attorney Mohr solemnly assured Judge Shaw yesterday, whereupon Judge Shaw took the affair under submission, so that he may read the heavy tomes of the law to which Counsellor Mohr referred him.

Irvin Cosloff, the pleadings show, aspires to cater to the sartorial demand of the East Side from a shop at 233 East Fifth street. Pursuant to the statutes made and provided, he therefore applied to the Board of Police Commissioners for a permit to conduct a second-hand store there. Commissioner Birnbaum, it is related, vetoed the project, because he felt that East Fifth street already had plenty of second-hand stores.

Cosloff promptly applied to the court for a writ of mandate to compel him to issue the license on the ground that Commissioner Birnbaum's opinion as to number of second-hand stores necessary to meet the East Fifth street demand was no proper basis for the exercise of discretion.

"If something is not done to limit these enterprises there will be nothing but second-hand stores on East Fifth street," declared Deputy Attorney Mohr.

Recently Cosloff obtained a court order restraining the police from interfering with his store, but Judge Shaw dissolved it yesterday and took under submission Mohr's demurrer to the application for the writ of mandate.

Gridiron Squads Will be Guests at Actors' Ball

Knute Rockne and his gridiron warriors from Notre Dame University and Coach Howard Jones and his University of Southern California squad yesterday accepted invitations to attend as guests at the stage and screen ball to be given in the Shrine Auditorium on the evening of December 4.

The elaborate program being arranged for the affair will include the presence of scores of actors and actresses from local film studios, vaudeville houses and legitimate theaters. Proceeds will be devoted toward the maintenance of the Hebrew Sheltering and Home for the Aged, which is not affiliated with the Community Chest.

TOMORROW'S MENU

Breakfast

Baked Apples and Cream
Spanish Omelet
Waffles Maple Syrup
Milk Coffee

Dinner

Avocado Relish
Salted Nuts Celery
Oyster Soup
Maryland Fried Chicken
Cauliflower Creamed Potato Rissoles
Pineapple and Cheese Salad
Parker House Rolls
Mince Pie Cheese
Assorted Nuts Raisins
Coffee

Supper

Welsh Rabbit
Apple Juice

AVOCADO RELISH

Dice one avocado, mix one tablespoonful of chutney syrup with the juice of a lemon, six drops of tobasco sauce, a teaspoonful of ketchup, the same amount of Worcestershire sauce, and a quarter saltspoonful of salt. Mix all together and serve in small glasses with a pimento olive on top of each. This is sufficient for two people and may be increased for more by following the same proportions.

OYSTER SOUP

Scald twenty-five oysters in their own liquor; when the beards curl, remove the oysters. Add to the liquor a cup of clear water. Make a thickening of one tablespoonful of butter and flour, dilute it with a little of the oyster liquor, and add it to a large cup of boiling cream. Mix this smoothly with the remaining oyster liquor, add the oysters, a half saltspoonful of pepper, the same quantity of salt and let all heat, but the soup must not boil. Wipe the inside of the tureen with a bud of garlic, turn in the soup, and serve. This will be sufficient for six people.

MARYLAND FRIED CHICKEN

Place a chicken after having it carefully jointed and cut into pieces in a large frying pan with a heaping tablespoonful of butter and one of lard and cover almost to the top of the pan with cold water. Set on the fire and allow it to cook rather slowly for about half an hour, covered tightly. When it begins to brown, turn the pieces with a fork. Serve on a hot platter garnished with toast sippets and parsley. If any of the gravy is left in the pan after the chicken has been browned add to it a cupful of milk in which a little cornstarch and flour has been rubbed smooth, and a little cream; stir carefully until the gravy is fairly thick and smooth, then serve in a hot tureen to use over the mashed potatoes.

MINCE PIE

Five cupfuls chopped cooked beef, two and one-half cupfuls chopped beef suet, seven and one-half cupfuls chopped apples, three cupfuls cider, one-half cupful vinegar, one cupful molasses, five cupfuls sugar, three-quarters of a pound of citron, finely chopped; two and one-half cupfuls whole seedless raisins, one and one-half cupfuls raisins, finely chopped, liquor in which meat was cooked, juice two lemons, juice two oranges, one tablespoonful mace, two tablespoonfuls cinnamon, two tablespoonfuls cloves, two tablespoonfuls allspice, two nutmegs, grated; two tablespoonfuls lemon extract, one teaspoonful almond extract, one cupful cider, salt.

Mix ingredients in order given, and season with salt. Reduce liquor in which meat was cooked to three cups. Add to mixture, bring to boiling point and let simmer one and one-half hours.
